Stirring Event in Technical High School Friday Even-

plebian and patrician can rub elbows without concern as to social rank.

The out-of-town speaker accepted the invitation to address the meeting last Saturday, in these words: "I shall be at Technical High School in good time, and at your service until I have to leave for Ohio, where I speak for several days after that. I am anticipating a pleasant time at your gathering, and only hope that I can measure up to what you wish. I am not coming for money, but to give any help I can to the W. C. T. U. in the success of their prize essay award meeting. Thanking you for the invitation, I remain, for a saloonless nation and a stainless flag, very sincerely yours, J. H. Dickason."

Dr. Charles Scanlon, LL. D., of the National Dry Federation, of which organization William Jennings Bryan is president, wrote regarding Professor Dickason, "He has been for more than twenty years a member of the faculty of Wooster College, Wooster.

Some people—many ladies in particlar—will not wear eye glasses, even when they know they need them, because they think they are not becoming. It is a serious mistake to refuse to wear glesses on account of vanity. In the first place, a skillful optometrist will be careful to recommend and make up glasses that are becoming. Then again people who refuse to wear glasses under such circumstances are apt to bring about a much worse condition so far as looks are concerned. Defective vision almost invariably causes squinting and contraction of the evebrows, bringing about wrinkles and a drawn, agonized facial expression. When eyeache, headache, nervous and stomach troubles are the result of defective eyes there is often a serious impairment of health—sometimes a break-down. Surely a nice pair of glasses made up to harmonize with your features are preferable to wrinkles or an unhealthy appearance.
