Five hundred bench woodworkers or men with wood-working experience are urgently needed for aeroplane manufacture in a city in New York state according to information received by the co-operative employment system of the Bureau of Employment of the Department of Labor and Industry and State Public Safety Committee from the Federal Department of Labor.

Wages vary from forty-five cents to fifty cents per hour. Men understanding drawing and the use of the protractor will get fifty-five cents per hour based on fifty hours per week—nine hours a day for five days and five hours on Saturday—time-and-half for all over fifty hours per week.

The company is prepared to obtain accommodations for men who come from out of town and will agree to refund transportation to such men after sixty days of satisfactory service.

Girls of Labor Department Crochet Wool Afghan For Major John P. Jackson

An all-wool afghan five feet three inches long worked by four feet three inches wide, crocheted by the girls employed in the State Department of Labor and Industry, from forty hanks of yarn, purchased by the men employees of the department, will soon be shipped overseas to Major John Price Jackson, Commissioner of the Department of Labor and Industry, on leave of absence with the American forces in Europe.

One of Major Jackson's letters to the Department he told of the penetrating cold in the European countries and the members of the department immediately got busy. If Major Jackson does not desire to retain the afghan he will turn it over to some hospital where Pennsylvania boys are being treated.

The afghan is worked in the state colors blue with gold borders and gold keystone sixteen by sixteen inches in the center. In the keystone, on blue background, in letters on gold, are worked in block letters the words "Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry, U. S. A." All Brick Work Nearly Complete on Penn-Harris

"Say, what do you suppose that big structure on top of the Penn-Harris might be?"

"Search me! Let's ask Ed Johnston." That's the sort of conversation which has been held by thousands of people throughout Harrisburg and vicinity during the past few months. E. A. Johnston, superintendent of construction for the new hotel, is being besieged by inquirers who are eager to know what the big shaft is. When a Telegraph reporter asked him this morning, he said, "For heaven's sake, tell everybody that's an elevator shaft. The penthouses and fanhouses are on the roof, too. Maybe they mean those."

There have been all sorts of opinions formed about the elevator shaft. A patriotic American decided the other night it was a German radio station, but his friends opined that it was not, since a large American flag was recently raised to the top of the hotel when the last pillar was placed.

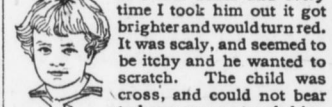

The brick work has been virtually completed. Terra cotta is being placed on the tenth floor. Granite and terra cotta is being placed on the lower floors. The bathtubs have been placed and elevators are being installed. Workmen began work to-day on metal lath placing. Plasterers began work this week.

The entire building has been concreted and penthouses and fanhouses on the roof have been finished.
