DISTRICT AWAKE TO DU'RY, BUYS BONDS

149; he is being given a last chance to-day to get in line. The subscriptions totaled in the local committee's report do not include those the employees made in their home towns.

How About That Twelfth? The question was asked at Liberty Loan headquarters this morning: "What sum of money should I put in Liberty Bonds if I want to class myself as a simon-pure patriot?"

The answer was this: The income of the United States is $20,000,000,000 a year. The cost for the Third Liberty Loan is $3,000,000,000—or one-twelfth the income of the country.

Buttons Ready Soon There's a remarkable delay in getting Liberty Loan buttons to Harrisburg; and trying to wait the local committee Monday morning will send a messenger to Philadelphia to bring buttons home with him.

Plants Break Record Advances from Philadelphia at noon today were the first to be made where in the country has an average subscription been reported which will equal those of the Central Iron and Steel Company.

Other Towns Do Well

Reports from Gratz to-day were to the effect that the district is well up to its $26,000 bond allotment. Pillow bought no bonds in the second loan.

First get-together of the Sites campaigners will be held Tuesday noon in Board of Trade Auditorium, where lunch will be served the workers.

The home drive committee will work on what remains of a list of 35,000 wage-earners after those who have bought Liberty Bonds in their effort to filter it from the list.

Methodist Sunday School Drive Plans Big Day

To-morrow will be an important day in the Methodist school drive now on in the Methodist schools of this city and county.

Sunday school teachers are responding to this call and challenge. One school has enrolled thirty-two out of thirty-eight members of the teaching force already and promises 100 per cent enrollment.

Another school has twenty-seven teachers and eighty-five per cent have been secured for another school has fifty-seven teachers in the Sunday school faculty and the pastor says "You can count on my people coming right along in this matter. I expect much of our teachers may regular class which I have been meeting to study the Sunday school lesson, to take up this course."

In this program there will also be a leadership training course at the Sunday school hour for the young people's group from 18-24 years of age. This group will have the chance to elect their courses of study and many will join this class. This will be the beginning of a three years' course in the special line of study as outlined by the curriculum committee of the Board of Sunday Schools of the Methodist Episcopal Church. At the end of this course graduates will receive diplomas.

300 Huns Taken by Belgian Patrol of Ten

New York, April 20.—How a Belgian patrol of ten men held off for an hour, until reinforcements arrived, an attacking force of 300 German soldiers near Reigersvliet, was described in a message from the Flanders front received here yesterday by Senator Henri La Fontaine, head of the American fund for gifts for Belgian soldiers.

With remarkable courage Major Brenz with nine men and one machine gun held out against attacks of 300 of the enemy with twelve machine guns, said the message. "It was only at the end of an hour and by the purest luck that another Belgian patrol, which had heard the fire from another point, came to the rescue of these Belgian heroes. This reinforced the garrison took the offensive, taking back the lost trenches and many prisoners and guns."

"King Albert telegraphed his congratulations to these troops, who had once more given proof of their bravery and the high morale of the Belgian army."

AUTO-DOING ITS 'BIT' FOR NATION

Plays Big Part in Nation's Patriotic Labors, Says Willys

"In the patriotic activities of the nation the automobile has filled an invaluable place," says John N. Willys, president of Willys-Overland, Inc. "We Americans recently sold five billion dollars' worth of government bonds to nine million people within a period of thirty days. A fair estimate is that a half million automobiles were recently employed in making this achievement possible."

"Naturally, we saved time and promoted efficiency by using automobiles in this work, a few hundreds of thousands of them at least. We have just built a group of great cantonment cities completely equipped, and with room enough to house a million men. It would have taken six to nine months longer without the automobile."

"But what of the doctor who is called out in the night? What of the farmer who must hurry to town for his seeder or his harrower; the businessman who must catch a train? These, too, are emergency uses. In fact, they call out every day probably more automobiles than you ever call into play for any concerted national emergency."

"For there are some 4,000,000 of these passenger cars in this country. They are traveling at an average of 15,000 miles around the earth. Their estimated annual mileage is 60,000,000,000, against 35,000,000,000 for our railroads. Think what this means in transportation. Do you realize that our passenger automobiles could move 20,000,000 people seated—a hundred miles in a day with staggering, not only because of the colossal size but because of the flexibility of this huge transportation machine."

'The Whispering Chorus' at Regent Next Week

Special interest attaches to the presentation at the Regent Theater, next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of the great Cecil B. DeMille super-production, "The Whispering Chorus," picture-tized for Paramount by Jeanie Macpherson, because of the brilliant array of screen players which it presents.

Among these are Kathryn Williams, Raymon Hatton, Elliott Dexter, Edythe Chapman, Tully Marshall and James Neill, and others, all of whom are familiar to lovers of high-class Paramount and Artafact pictures.

The theme of the picture is one of supreme self-sacrifice, and in its development to a logical and dramatic conclusion, the highest artistry is displayed. The elements of interest and intense heart appeal are there, and it is inevitable that the grandeur of human emotions will be run. The plot revolves about a man who is convicted of his own murder, whose wife had remarried in the belief that she is a widow, and he chooses death to satisfy her happiness which the admission of his identity must inevitably encompass.

SALE OF PROPERTY Negotiations were closed yesterday covering transfer of title to property 912 North Third Street, Lancaster to Greene, to H. F. Esterbrook, proprietor of the Dayton Cycle Company, which business is located in the building.

At a meeting about the Liberty Loan. Board of Trade building at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, Andrew S. Patterson presiding, delegates from every church and organizations like the Red Cross and the Liberty Loan Association will be in attendance. Each church is entitled to a delegate for every 100 members, but not over three speakers named above will be present. The invocation above will be delivered by Rabbi Haas of Ohef Shalom congregation. A discussion in which all may take part will be a feature.

Burman is employed at the Bethlehem steel plant and was never vaccinated. He old city health officials to-day he never believed in vaccination and that none of his family has been vaccinated.

German Grip Weakens

[New York Times.] IT SEEMS to be the Germans who are doing the weaker fighting. Their attack slackens, it loses much of its force, less ground is gained, and there is more ineffectual fighting. It is the old story. An offensive after six or seven days of furious assault comes almost to a standstill. The Germans, however, in this throw their fate cannot afford to be checked and held up. They are battling for a decision, and unless they obtain it they will be in serious danger of a demoralizing reverse. Furthermore, they would not be able to extenuate disaster to a people to whom victory has been promised this year and peace with indemnities.

Chewing Gum Sales Still Mount Upward At least $1,000 will be realized for the American Red Cross by to-night, when the big sale of chewing gum donated by the American Chicle Company will close. The total of the first two days' sales was almost $1,000. To-day's sales, notwithstanding the morning's rain, will amount to $1,500, according to conservative estimates.

LOOK FOR RUNAWAY BOY The parents of Cloyd Keller, aged 14 years, have notified the police department to be on the lookout for the boy, as he disappeared from his home, 106 South Ninth street, yesterday morning. He has not been seen since. He left the house, saying he was going to school. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Keller, fear that he has gone to Lancaster to try to enlist in the Army or Navy. He showed an inclination to get into the service, but is too young to enlist.

RUSHING WORK ON PENN-HARRIS

Inside Work to Begin at Once Brick Work Is Now Complete

With every energy concentrated and every nerve taut, the men in charge of construction on the billion-dollar Penn-Harris hotel are pushing the work, and the building will be ready for the upholsterers in good time. "We're out to win," said R. E. Hawes, architectural engineer, "and we're going to beat the weather. Rain and snow doesn't annoy the workers. They're water-proof."

The exterior brickwork has been practically finished up to the tenth floor, on every side, and terra cotta is being set up to the tenth floor of the Third and Walnut street sides. Plumbers are busy installing bath tubs and pipes throughout the building. The laundry floor of the annex will be finished in the next few days. The laundry floor is the third floor of the annex. The concreting of the floor will be finished Monday, it is said. Elevator machinery is being installed and the bottoms of the cables have arrived.

Ready For Plasterers Plasterers will begin work next week on the lower floors. They were delayed in beginning this week, but will open operations Monday if supplies can be procured. Partitioning has been set as high as the seventh floor, sashes have been placed in windows up to the eighth floor and workmen are beginning on the ninth floor windows. Frames for the windows are being placed on the tenth floor. Lathers and sheet metal workers are hard at work. Glass has been placed in the windows from the second to the eighth floor, and a part of the ninth floor has been finished with glass windows.

Steam has been turned on in the steam lines which are to be used permanently. The lines will be tested Monday. Plumbing lines will also be tested. Granite is being set on the lower floors and iron stairs have been completed on all floors.

In the main building every floor has been concreted and concreting work is finished except on the annex.
