ROTARY IS READY TO BOOST THRIFT STAMPS AT SHOW

Well-Known Men From All Walks of Life Take Part; Receipts For Stamps

The curtain will go up at 8 o'clock nstead of 8.15 for the Rotary Club's Phrift Stamp Minstrel show at the Orpheum theater to-morrow even-

Orpheum theater to-morrow evening.

That's because the audience is going to be given the full worth of its money—and thea some.

The whole house, with the exception of a few seats on the gallery, is sold, but if you want to go and haven't a ticket don't hesitate about the gallery. "Many of our best people," to use the language of the society editor, are going to see this show from the heights of the "peanut," and dress suits will be more numerous there to-morrow evening than they often are in the boxes. And the boxes—well, Governor and Mrs. Brumbaugh, Captain and Mrs. George L. Lumb, president of the club, David E. Tracy, and other well-known people will occupy them, as they are entitled to do, for they have paid as high as $830 for the privilege.

Sell Stamps in Audience

Sell Stamps in Audience
The minstrel number will be the first on the program, and will be concluded with a campiagn right down in the audience with the end men selling Thrift Stamps, so don't forget to take a bit of money with you, if you are fortunate enough to have a seat. Flavel L. Wright will be interlocutor and C. Linford Scott musical director. Well-known men from all walks of life will be "on the ends" and "in the circle." R. C. Jobe, John H. Nixon, John S. Musser and J. F. O'Neil will be the endmen and there will be specialties by I. B. Dickinson, Robert E. Cahill, J. H. Kreamer, J. F. O'Neil and R. C. Jobe.

Falls From Pier to Death
Only one life was known to have been lost, that of Frank E. Darnell, a retired manufacturer of this city, who was drowned when he fell off a pier at Santa Monica, a beach resort near here. Hundreds of pleasure seekers on the pier made a wild dash for solid ground when the shock came at 3.33 p. m. and Darnell was swept from his feet. Persons in scores of theaters and motion picture houses in this vicinity were frightened and many suffered slight injuries in their rush to the exits.

When night fell over the partly ruined towns of Hemet and San Jacinto order was restored and organizations of home guards patrolled the streets. Four block of the business district of San Jacinto were wrecked. Three distinct shocks were felt there. The first threw $t_0$ the ground a number of persons and horses. At the second shock all the buildings on the south side of the main street began to collapse and the third shock brought down those on the north side.

Musical comedies and dramas are being presented in most all the theaters every day, so that the public's define Magician sire for a radical change of amusement diet will be gratified by the appearance of Thurston, the famous magician, at the Orpheum next Friday night and Saturday, matinee and night. Thurston is popular for many reasons. In the first place he is master of his profession—a deft trickster, alert, ready to seize the opportune moment; indefatigable in his quest for new material and liberal to the verge of prodigality in organizing his company. Moreover he has a vein of company. Moreover he has a vein of company. Moreover he has a vein of company that goes far to bring him and his appeal something that makes him unique among stage folk.

This season Thurston brings a new program of sensational features, all of which are presented in a fashion at once mystifying and entertaining. He has a varied performance. There is constant change, and everything goes with speed and dexterity. His clever stunts follow along so quickly that the gasp of amazement at one, is swallowed by the sigh of wonder at the next.

Conceded to be one of the most dramatic photoplays ever produced, "The Whispering Chorus," a Cecil Chorus" at the B. DeMille production for Artcraft, will be shown at the Regent Theater to-day, to-morrow and Wednesday.

The theme of the picture is one of self-sacrifice and it contains all the elements that appeal successfully to the emotions. The story is that of a man, burdened by debt, who steals money from the corporation with which he is employed. To escape arrest he drops out of sight and leads the life of a hermit fisherman, leaving his wife and mother in ignorance of his whereabouts. He exchanges cloth-only convinced that he is dead, but that he was murdered.

Assuming a false name, he becomes a stevedore, and is hunted by the police as a murderer. He returns home clandestinely to see his mother and is arrested for his own murder. His wife, who had married again in the belief that she was a widow, sees him after his conviction and rather than destroy her happiness, convinces her that they had never met before, and goes to his doom smillingly. The story is said to be replete with dramatic situations that thrill.
