CLASSIC RELAY WEEK'S LEADER

Penn's Twenty-fourth Annual Carnival Promises Big Things

Philadelphia, April 22.—The twenty-fourth annual renewal of the Pennsylvania Relay Carnival, which will be held on Franklin Field next Friday and Saturday afternoons, will bring together the greatest gathering of athletic teams that have ever participated in the relay carnival. Four hundred teams, representing various schools, colleges, and army and navy camps throughout the country, have entered for the two-day events, making an individual competitive list of more than 2,000.

The game was first instituted in 1895, as a result of an idea originating with Frank R. Ellis of Pennsylvania. In the inaugural about twelve colleges and twenty schools participated, and the meet at that time was considered a big affair. It continued to grow with each succeeding year, until three years ago the management was forced to discard the one-day program and arrange the meet over two days. No who officials are burdened with work arranging the event, so that it can be completed in the space of two days.

World's Records Hug Up
The greatest interest is expected to center in the opening day of the carnival. This has been termed Army and Navy Day and a most promising program has been arranged. Seven military and naval events are down for decision and in these the entries have been large. Some of the greatest athletes of the country are among those entered, and they will show their abilities at wall scaling, squad drills, bugle competition, rescue race, bayonet charge race one-half mile relay race in light marching order, and a medley relay race. Some of the enlisted stars who will be seen are Howard Berry, former all-around college champion; Andy Kelly, 200-yard record holder; William Anderson, Frank De Kay, and Willie Gordon of the Eastern camps, and Wyatt, Niedorn, Renwick, Dazgy, and others, who are being sent on by Camp Funston, Kan.

Friday's Program
Included in Friday's competition, also will be the pentathlon, in which some trials will be held for the sixteen athletes who have entered for the title. This collection of events includes nominations from Notre Dame, Kansas, Illinois, Michigan, South, Rutgers, Dartmouth, Penn State, Lafayette, and Swarthmore. In addition there will be college relay championship races, and a number of scholastic relays mostly for Philadelphia district competitors.

The regular relays for the colleges and preparatory schools and high schools will occupy the greater part of Saturday afternoon, but the special events for the college champions of Saturday are the one, two and four mile relay races, the freshman championship, the high school championship, preparatory school championships, and the title races of the Southern Intercollegiate A. A. and Middle States Conference A. A. also promise to keep the enthusiasm of the spectators at a high pitch.

Some time in the near future when all forces at the Ordnance Depot, Middletown, are fully organized, there will be something doing in athletic sports. Plans are already under way for the organization of a ball team. D. W. Bell, chief of police, and John M. G. Grab, lieutenant of police, are star players. Their forces include good material. When fully organized this team will challenge any bluecoat team in the state.

Lancaster High is out with a strong track team and a good schedule. These athletes are not listed for Harrisburg. With scarcely a month off until the date for the annual high school track meet, no plans have been taken up for this classic meet. There have been some rumors that the meet would be called off this year. A general opinion prevails that there is no reason for this action.

If it is possible, event at a later date, there should be a school meet. High school athletes are anxious to get together. The Harrisburg Track Athletic Committee has been trying to start some activity, but there appears to be little interest. Grammar school boys are busy and their June meet promises real competition.

Jess Willard is showing little concern about the criticisms regarding his bout with Fred Fulton. Willard is getting plenty of free advertisement. There is some method in his madness. Jess is in the circus business. The advertising he is getting is a big help. However, it is a poor rule that does not work both ways. The public is getting wise.

Central Grammar School Five of Steelton Win Dauphin County Championship

Under the leadership and coaching of G. W. Henry, principal, the Central grammar school, of Steelton, had another big season. This team won the grammar school championship of the city and county.

All the players are in the Eighth grade of the Central grammar school and their average age is 14 1/2 years, with an average weight of 121 pounds. The scholarship test is applied and their class attendance record is almost perfect for the entire term. School spirit in sports and literary work runs high in Central grammar and lays a lasting foundation for leaders in the Steelton schools.

The Central grammar school basketball team won 18 out of 19 games played during the season, 16 of which were with grammar schools and two with club teams. They scored a total of 798 points or an average of 42

Penn Crews Win in Opening Henley Contest

Annapolis, Md., April 22.—Over a course, the Henley distance of a mile and five-sixteenths in length, the varsity and freshman crews of the University of Pennsylvania won from the first crew and the fourth class crew of the Naval Academy in choppy waters on the Severn River Saturday. In the main race, the lead at the finish was a little over a length, and with the junior boats it approached two lengths.

The time of the varsity was 7 minutes, 56 1/2 seconds, remarkable time considering the conditions. That of the Naval Academy first crew was 8:02, the Pennsylvania freshmen 8:16 1/2, and that of the Naval Academy fourth class, 8:22.

Altoona League Players Somewhere in France

Altoona, Pa., April 22.—Forty-five ball players, who entertained the fans at the Cricket Field last season with different clubs of the Pennsylvania Railroad Baseball League, will be missing when the present season opens in May. They are "somewhere" in Uncle Sam's service.

Twelve of the diamond stars, with the railway engineers, are on duty in France. The Middle Division club, winner of the pennant in 1917, managed by William Crawford, Middle Division brakeman, is hardest hit by the war. It has given seven players, all first string men, to the service, including Voltz and Stricker, the cream of the pitching staff.

Car Shop has lost Leasure, Wayne and Pearson, the club's mound staff. Juniata has given Evans and Yohn, winning hurlers, and Machine Shop has surrendered Bolger, the pitching sensation of last year. Kroske, also a machinist, is "over there." General Office has sent Leary and Hoover, fast right-handers, to army camps.

Reading Has New Coach; One Meet Called Off

Reading, Pa., April 22.—Under the direction of Coach Tom Burns, a former noted distance man, a volunteer instructor, the Reading High school track team is rounding into shape for the Eastern High meet at Saturday, the first event of the season. Burns in practice every afternoon. For lack of a regular coach, and because of the trouble in the High school faculty last month, when six instructors, including Coach A. L. Lightner, were suspended, the Memorial Day meet has been called off.

Middletown Tossers Win From Academy Nine

The baseball tossers from the Middletown Aero Squadron romped away with the Harrisburg Academy nine, on the latter's grounds, Saturday, score 18 to 6. The soldiers played a good game, both with the bat and in fielding. The schoolboys were in the lead until the fourth inning, when Equerro blew up and the soldiers turned the tables. Poor support on the part of the Academy team was the cause of his downfall. Stone, who relieved the Mexican, pitched better ball, but received the same kind of support. The summary follows:

Middletown 18
Academy 6

Lancaster High Athletes Ready With Strong Team

Lancaster April 22.—Candidates for the relay team to represent Lancaster High in the University of Pennsylvania carnival sprung a surprise in the trials this week on Williamson Field.

Powers, Groff, Rutter, Dougherty, Weaver, Gelenberger, Falk and Posey are showing fine form, and Coach Welles has not yet selected the four lads whom he will use next Saturday on Franklin Field. The local runners are considerably faster than last year's squad, and, despite the better classification given the Lancaster High, are in line for laurels at next Saturday's relay classic.

No letup will be permitted in track sports following the relay races, and Lancaster High will enter the big Millersville State Normal school meet on May 4 with a fast bunch of athletes. York, Columbia and Lancaster each have a leg on the cup offered by the Millersville management to the school winning the meet three times.

HELMAR TURKISH CIGARETTES

The best shooter for Harrisburg in this match was James McCann. It is none other than Harrisburg's best roundsman and terror to evildoers. Livebird shooting in those days was not as it is now. These two events were shot under Rhode Island rules, permitting the use of but one barrel. Shooters were required to hold their guns below the elbow, and they were not permitted to shoot until the bird was 20 feet in the air. Now two barrels are used and birds are shot as soon as they start to fly.
