

CLEANUP IS A STATE SLOGAN

State Health Authorities Urge That Matters Be Taken Up by Communities

All boards of health in Pennsylvania have been called upon by Dr. B. Franklin Royer, that state's acting commissioner of health, to undertake cleaning up work so that there shall be a greater observance of "clean-up week," recently proclaimed by the Governor, than ever. In addition to appeal to boards of health the state authorities are asking the aid of every citizen and all public health and municipal agencies, charitable and philanthropic organizations and the like, suggesting community efforts. Attention is called to the importance of working now to head off the house fly and the letter to boards says that "if every community in Pennsylvania does its part now in the conservation of child life and infant life, much may be done to offset the tremendous loss of man power of this state as its contribution to making the world safe for democracy." An appeal is made for prompt action and reports on what has been accomplished.

Itching Eczema Drove Him Crazy

P. R. R. Machinist Tried Remedy After Remedy in Vain Search For Relief

"If there ever was a wonderful remedy it is Tanlac," says George C. Smith, of 1947 North street, Harrisburg, Pa. "I had a sort of eczema all over my face and body and it itched so that it almost drove me crazy and I couldn't find anything that gave me the slightest relief. Doctors told me that it was caused by the oils from the machinery as I was working as a machinist in the P. R. R. shops, so I quit my job and got another on a street car, but the itching didn't get any better and I was almost insane from the torture. Then one day I decided I'd take a crack at Tanlac. Well, sir, believe me it did the work. The second dose brought relief, and it was only a matter of days until my skin was all healed up, the itching stopped and the eczema gone entirely." Tanlac, the famous reconstructive tonic, is now being introduced here at Gorgas' drugstore.

the attics and cellars of the houses, over all portions of the premises in which the dwelling stands, to stables and outbuildings, and to adjacent lots, streets and alleys, so that conditions accumulating during the winter months that are unsightly nuisances, very often fly breeding and mosquito breeding nuisances detrimental to health, may be removed. Nature is now about to place her green mantle over the scars of winter and make all of outdoors a great health laboratory. Clean up now before these things are hidden.

It is proposed to inaugurate a State-wide cleanup during the week of May 6th to 11th inclusive. Every citizen in the Commonwealth is asked to clean his house and to remove every bit of rubbish and every unsightly thing stored in any part of his house, be it inside or outside, and to completely empty his cellar of ashes and to gather every trace of garbage lying on the surface of the ground adjoining his dwelling and place it at a point convenient for collection and removal by wagon. It is proposed to correct the many insanitary conditions responsible for an appalling infant mortality, the stunting and crippling of growing children, and those conditions leading to industrial inefficiency due to insanitary evils.

The Nation plans to save a hundred thousand lives of children under five years of age. This means the saving of nearly ten thousand in Pennsylvania alone. We must leave no stone unturned to do our part and by planning and carrying out a state-wide "Clean-up Week," the first great forward step may be taken.

The common fly is the greatest menace to infant life, dangerous because born in filth, living in filth, and emerging from filth to contaminate food supplies. During "Clean-up Week" all collections of garbage, rubbish, ashes, and unsightly things should be removed, all accumulations of stable manure should be removed from populous centers and plowed under. A plan may readily be followed for removing all stable manure to farmsteads and plowing it under, without becoming the usual fly breeding menace to the lives and health of Pennsylvania's babies. Stagnant water, cess pools, garbage cans, badly supervised dumps and vacant lots are common breeding places of mosquitoes. Clean them up now before breeding is well started.

DRAFTED MEN TO START PROMPTLY

Sales of Liquor to Them Will Be Followed by Federal Action, Says Murdock

Reports reaching the State Draft headquarters indicate that the local draft boards throughout Pennsylvania are rapidly preparing their men for the movements to the three camps to which the Keystone state contributes which will start Friday. Very few inquiries have come here regarding the orders for calling the men or about the train schedules and it is believed that there will be very few shortages when the time comes.

Plans are being made whereby Army officers will be with some of the trains when they start out over the state to gather up the men and the draft officers in many places will ask that their "boys" be kept together. Sales of liquor to drafted men on the way to camps will be reported to federal authorities for action, according to what has been learned here.

State draft headquarters to-day made public the schedule for moving the 1,670 men called from counties tributary to Camp Lee who are ordered by the supplemental call to go to Fort Thomas, Ky., for special training. These men are part of the call which embraced 2,106 men called from Camp Meade territory to go to Columbus barracks. The latter will move from May 10 to 14, while the Fort Thomas contingent goes on May 1 to 4, inclusive. These movements are separate from the movements to Camps Lee, Meade and Sherman, which start Friday.

Major W. G. Murdock, the chief registration officer, said to-day that he proposed to break up sales of liquor to drafted men about to enter or on route for camp. The sale of liquor to drafted men must be stopped and it will be made cause for action by federal authorities if it occurs at any entraining or stopping point," said he. "The scenes which were witnessed here some time ago will not be tolerated."

LIBERTY-DAY HOURS
The main post office and Hill and Maclay stations will be closed from 1 to 4 p. m., Friday, which has been appointed by the President of the United States as Liberty Day. The 4 p. m. delivery and collection will be omitted. All other collections and deliveries will be made on this date.

SCHOOL BOARDS GIVEN WARNING

May Work Injustice to Teachers if They Drop Them Before Pension System

Members of the board of school directors in Pennsylvania are being asked by Dr. H. H. Balsh, secretary of the State Teachers' Retirement Board to avoid dropping teachers who may be near the retirement age under the impression that when the teachers are pensioned it will mean an additional tax upon the district. Dr. Balsh is sending out 2,600 of the letters.

"When the question of election of teachers and other school employes for the next term is under consideration it is important that there should be no misunderstanding in reference to the provisions of the retirement act," he writes. "The employment of teachers who are nearing the retirement age does not in any way affect the amount of the contribution which a local school district will make to the retirement fund. This contribution is based upon the amount contributed by the teachers employed in that district and is not affected by the number of employes retired while in the service of the district. The amount contributed to the retirement fund by the local district is approximately one-half of the amount contributed by the teachers of the district. It is a mistake to avoid the employment of teachers who are near the retirement age if they are qualified to teach. Such teachers will be retired when eligible for retirement and no school district in the state will contribute more or less to the retirement fund because of their retirement. All contributions to the retirement fund are based upon the salaries of teachers who are in active service and not upon the number who are retired."
