New Orleans Backers Have Cash, Place and Opportunity For Finish Fight

If Jess Willard and Fred Fulton re really in earnest about deciding ne world's heavyweight championthe world's heavyweight championship, they can have a battle at New Orleans and be guaranteed $105,000. If they are faking and merely wish to make a pile, they may pass up the New Orleans offer and spar tenrounds somewhere else. In the latter case, boxing will be struck a heavy blow that it will hardly recover in the lifetime of the present day fans. This is the opinion of Matt Hinkel, the Cleveland sportsman. With Dominick Tortorich, the New Orleans promoter, he is willing to guarantee $105,000 for the twenty-round bout.

Col. Joe Miller is waiting final word from the Minnesota state boxing commission. If he is granted a permit for a ten-round affair, with a decision, it is thought he will stage the Willard-Fulton bout at a point half way between Minneapolis and St. Paul.

If refused a permit by the Minnesota commission, Colonel Miller will then visit Camp Grant, at Rockford, Ill., where army officers have asked for the contest.

Drafts Hit Brooklyn Hard; Fear Future Calls; Send Out Distress Call

New York, April 24 .- Manager Wil-

Fear Future Draft

If things keep on with the Dodgers, the rotund manager will soon be untile to muster nine athletes to put in the ball game. Those Brocklyn players who are already in the service of Uncle Sam are Pitchers Pfeffer, Cadore, Sherod Smith and Miljus; Infielders Ward, Maline and Fitzpatrick, while Outfielder Clarence Mitchell has been called to report with the quota from his home district on Saturday of this week, and Infielder Schmandt and Pitcher Al Mamaux have been placed in Class 1-A in the well-known draft and are expecting to be called at any time. With Hickman and Kreuger, who are to leave the club on Saturday, a total of twelve players in all will have been called away from the Dodgers through the exigencies of war when the draft has got in its final work on the ball club.

In this emergency Manager Robinson has sent out a distress call to the "old boys" who are immune from the draft, and yesterday Mike Doolan, ex-Phil shortstop and Federal Leaguer, reported to the Dodgers and worked out with the team, anouncing that he would in all probability sign a contract with Brooklyn.
