at their boards at 10.30, the men marched around the downtown streets and then to the station, accompanied by a band. A committee of colored citizens arranged for the send-off to the departing colored lads. Thousands of their friends crowded the station at the time of the departure, striving for a last good-bye to the embryo soldiers.

Thirty-nine of the men were white, the remainder colored. All the men will begin their army service at Camp Meade late this afternoon. The train was equipped with a kitchen car, in order that the boys will not go hungry on their trip.

Of the 113 men who left this morning, Harrisburg contributed 59, and Dauphin county 54. Besides the local contingent, which boarded a special made up in the city, several hundred men from points between this city and Erie made the trip to Camp Meade. The special from the north bearing these men arrived in the city at 11.45, and was attached to the Harrisburg special.

Report at 10.30 The men were ordered by their draft boards to report at 10.30 this morning, and the quotas were on hand without any delay. Leaders and assistants from among the quotas to take charge of each quota until it reaches camp this afternoon were appointed. Each received a label bearing the number of his draft board for his coat, cap and suit case. Final papers were handed out, and all the winding up details necessary when sending a draft quota to camp were completed.

The colored men received comfort kits last night, at the dance at which they were entertained by the Emergency Aid Association in the City Grays' Armory. Many of the white men were given comfort kits by the Red Cross this morning.

'Face Facts,' Taft's Plea to Liberty Loan Group

Philadelphia, April 26.—"If we are to do what our noble allies expect of us, we must send 7,000,000 men abroad, and that quickly.

"What's this Third Liberty Loan? It's a mere bagatelle to what we'll have to raise. There will be ten or fifteen more Liberty Loans. "For God's sake face the facts! It's no use throwing out optimistic views about the war. It'll last three or four years, and we must prepare accordingly."

These statements were made in the course of a patriotic plea by former President William H. Taft before 3,000 men and women who crowded the ballroom of the Bellevue-Stratford at a Liberty Loan luncheon given by the Chamber of Commerce at noon yesterday.

RETAILERS PUT MEAT PRICE UP; BLAME FARMERS

Canvass Shows Roast Beef, Veal and Pork Advanced Five to Eight Cents

A general rise in meat prices by retailers in Harrisburg is attributed to wholesale prices, and the wholesaler in turn blames the farmers. The facts are that no one rule prevails among retailers in their rates of advance. Some charge 55 cents for the steak which a couple of weeks ago cost only 50 cents.

A canvass to-day of retail shops shows that roast beef, veal and pork have gone up from 5 to 8 cents a pound. Mutton is very scarce and the big Chicago houses have a small supply. Choice cuts of lamb have advanced from 5 to 10 cents. Pork has been 'way up for a year, but the retailers predict that it will come down shortly.

The meat situation was explained to-day by a representative of Swift and Company, which maintains that "if consumers are to pay less for beef, live stock raisers naturally will receive less for cattle" and "if farmers are paid more for live stock, consumers will necessarily pay more for meat." The representative declared: "Swift and Company's net profit on beef during 1917 was only one-fourth of a cent a pound. On all products, it was less than four cents on each dollar of sales. Complete elimination of these profits would not affect appreciably retail prices of meat or farm prices of live stock."

Need Not Fear Famine This spokesman offered cheerful predictions in regard to the situation. He said that no one need fear a meat panic for this is off-season. The grass cattle will come in July and, at any rate, there never has been any real shortage. Compared with prices abroad, the United States has not been taxed noticeably. Furthermore, the rise in meat prices is nothing to compare with those of canned goods.

"The farmer who raises stock to-day," said the Swift and Company spokesman, "is independent, and if his price for cattle is not met he refuses to sell. His own excuse is the high price of grain. This company is paying from 3 to 5 cents more for dressed meat and the same for live, so the retailer is entitled to a raise, but not an exorbitant one."

SAVE THE TIN CANS WILL BE CALL MADE TO HOUSEWIVES Washington, April 26.—Housewives are soon be called upon to save all tin cans, it was indicated to-day by the war industries board yesterday afternoon. The tin shortage is so acute, it was said, that the process of detinning, by which 17,000 tons of tin were conserved last year, will be pushed this year in an effort to save 50,000 tons.

FLEET CORPORATION TO FLIT TO NEW HOME IN TRUCKS Washington, April 26.—The Emergency Fleet Corporation will move to Philadelphia probably on motor-trucks, in one of the biggest overland truck movements ever undertaken. Traffic between the Capital and Philadelphia is taxing the capacities of the railroads and assurances have been received that there are sufficient trucks in the quartermaster corps to handle the movement expeditiously.
