

U-BOAT BASE ADMIRAL OUT AT ZEEBRUGGE

Taken by Surprise in British Raid, Schroeder Gets Dismissal, Is Report

Amsterdam, April 25.—Vice Admiral Schroeder, the commander at Zeebrugge, according to reports reaching here, will be deprived of his command for being taken by surprise by the British Tuesday.

German newspapers in commenting on the raid at Zeebrugge, generally take the hint given in the official reports of Berlin and represent the enterprise as having been a failure. Some, however, admit that the attack was made with great boldness.

"The cement-laden ships which were sunk close to the coast will not hinder the exits and entrances of the German naval forces," the Koelnische Zeitung says.

Germans Admit Blockade

The Lokal Anzeiger says the raiders succeeded in blocking the waterway to a great extent but the U-boats still are able to leave their harbor as a narrow passage remains. The Weser Zeitung regards the British version as a fantastic substitution of the wish for the deed and adds:

"It is a success of which we Germans may boast."

The Koelnische Zeitung sees in the attack evidence that the existence of a submarine base at Zeebrugge is making "life intolerable for England."

Combing Won't Rid Hair Of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon, apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this to-night, and by morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

Grandmother's old fashioned mustard plaster did the work alright, but it blistered the skin and was a mighty unclean remedy.

Mustarine is the original mustard prescription that has made Grandmother's mustard plaster but a relic of bygone days.

It's ten times better, cleaner and won't blister; it is made of the honest yellow mustard combined with other well known destroyers of pain

ZEMBO TEMPLE INSPIRES $1,100 FOR RED CROSS

Harrisburg Opens Heart Anew at Celebration in Chestnut Street Hall

Harrisburg got together last night at the Zembo celebration in Chestnut Street Hall; whooped up things with magnificent spirit and cleared $1,100 for the local Red Cross chapter which was most ably represented by one of its hard workers and officials, Mrs. Lew R. Palmer. She practically was the only speaker and she had a message. With two Harrisburg boys killed at the front the Capital City is beginning to understand something of actual war and Mrs. Palmer told the immense audience about the "front line packet."

You have not heard of the "packet?" Well, it is so consequential an item that the German Empire has promised to stop shelling the allied hospitals if we eliminate this valuable aid to the injured. But Uncle Sam cannot entertain any such offer. The "packet" is a complete outfit used immediately on a wounded man being brought to the rest hospital, right on the firing line. It is estimated that if it can be used within four hours after injury 90 per cent of our boys can be saved. The Germans know this and dread its happy effects. Mrs. Palmer told how Harrisburg has been chosen as one of the few chapters, so efficient as to be nation-wide famous that it is asked to provide 6,500 of these "packets" a month. The money taken in last night will be devoted to this great, humane work.

Zembo Temple, Mystic Shrine, forever ennobled itself in the history of Harrisburg with this demonstration. Discarding the familiar Turkish raiment in which its members are wont to frisk, the ranks last night wore the uniforms of America and her allies. While the parade was turning the big hall rang with community singing, led by Mrs. Wilbur F. Harris, and an octette. Soloists were Mrs. Arthur H. Hull, Gwilym Watkins, Douglas R. Dismukes, whose father is a high notability in the United States Navy, and Charles S. Jackson. The Zembo Patrol and Band, under command of Captain Francis H. Hoy, Jr., marching in had its ovation with the chorus of "Keep the Home Fires Burning." The marshals leading the procession were, very properly, Mercer B. Tate and Colonel Charles E. Covert. Captains Ira F. Myers and Charles Aldinger figured in the

Zeebrugge Mole, Blown Up by British Under Admiral Tyrwhitt

This mole, which juts out into the North Sea more than a mile and a half from Zeebrugge, thus forming the harbor for the town, because there is no natural bay to receive ships, was the scene of the desperate battle between the British raiders under Admiral Sir R. Y. Tyrwhitt and Germans Monday night. The admiral led his men in cruisers to the mole and boarded it. After a fight the Germans ran and much property was destroyed by the British. Two old submarines loaded with explosives were sent against the sides to blow up the mole.

The map shows the relation of Zeebrugge and Ostend, points on the Belgian coast, which the Germans have made their submarine bases, to the coast of England and the English channel. Both points were attacked by the raiding force under Admiral Tyrwhitt. Neither town had a harbor, so small vessels and particularly submarines have entered the canals for refuge and repairs. The admiral sank three old cruisers filled with cement at the mouth of the canal leading from Zeebrugge to Bruges, so submarines will be bottled up there, and those at sea will not be able to get in. He ran two more cruisers toward the mouth of the canal at Ostend, but there was some doubt if they reached its mouth.

ADMIRAL SIR REGINALD Y. TYRWHITT.

Maneuvers of the variouniformed drillers.

Members of the women's committee of the Red Cross in charge of the affair sold ice cream cones during the evening, the ice cream having been donated. The committee comprised Mrs. C. W. Burnett, Mrs. S. F. Dunkle, Mrs. W. P. Starkey, Mrs. A. H. Bailey, Miss Anna Hershey, Mrs. G. W. Ensign, Mrs. Charles A. Alden. Credit for the affair goes to Potentate Charles E. Covert, who made it possible, and Captain Hoy, whose skill as a drillmaster made the patrol's part a great success.

POSAM EXCELS IN INTENSITY OF HEALING POWER

Poslam possesses healing energy so highly concentrated that one ounce of Poslam is worth a pound of ordinary ointments less efficient in the treatment of Eczema or any crustal condition of the skin.

Talk with those who have been healed of aggravated skin troubles, who have used all kinds of remedies AND THEN USED POSLAM, and they will say this even more emphatically.

Results come quickly. Itching stops; angry skin is soothed; uncertainty is dispelled, so little Poslam does so much.

BRITISH HAVE MUNITIONS FOR SUMMER SIEGE

Winston Churchill Tells Commons the Claim of German Capture Is Grotesque

London, April 25.—Winston Spencer Churchill introducing in the House of Commons yesterday the estimates for the Ministry of Munitions, of which he is the head, said that during the five weeks since the battle in France had opened they had been passing through the greatest strain regarding the supply of war material that had occurred in the experience of the Ministry.

Not only had the consumption and destruction of munitions of all kinds been proceeding at the greatest rate, but there also were very heavy losses by capture by the enemy.

"We lost," the Minister said, "nearly 1,000 guns by shellfire or capture; between 4,000 and 5,000 machine guns have been lost or destroyed, and the quantity of ammunition, apart from that which has been fired and that which has been lost in the dumps, amounted to something between one and three weeks' total of manufacture."

Germans' Grotesque Exaggeration

Referring to the German War Minister's claim to the capture of more than twice the number of guns than he had announced, Mr. Churchill said that the German claim was a grotesque exaggeration and untrue. But if it had been true, he believed that he would still have been able to say that the losses in guns had been made good. Not only had the machine guns been replaced, but the Munitions Ministry had placed at the disposal of the air and ground services more than twice the number of guns lost or destroyed in battle in France.

The supply of airplanes had been for some time in advance of the development of squadrons and trained pilots and this supply had enabled the Ministry to meet all the needs of the great battle and the wastage resulting therefrom, and, in addition, to carry forward the program of expansion to which the government was committed. The output of tanks had been so accelerated that the Ministry was in a position to replace every tank lost by one of new and better pattern as fast as the army could take the delivery.

Why Germany Will Be Defeated

The failure, so far, of Germany's fanatical onslaught to either cleave apart the French and British armies or to take the Channel ports ranks it as only another "bath of blood" for German arms. For, as The Globe, New York, reminds us, "It is the destruction of armies, not the loss of territory, that is vital in war." And the tremendous slaughter of men which Germany has sustained is "making her weaker relatively as well as absolutely."

"Even the German General Staff," notes the New York World, "can not continue indefinitely the policy of trading men for territory unless the territory means more than a further extension of their lines." Months may yet elapse before the decisive hour strikes and in those months "tens and hundreds of thousands of Americans can be transported to France to turn the scale in our favor." Even the Vienna Arbeiter Zeitung assures its readers that "the greatest victory by land can not impose a peace of force on America and England."
