New Cumberland.

To do this, there will be some big hills to remove but, it is belief, that these changes will give the required facilities for the government. The vehicle roadway, it is said, will be fenced in, and will run under the tracks at Marsh Run. Official plans will not be announced for at least two weeks, according to reports.

of the most important trips of the year. He covered the entire main line from Altoona to Philadelphia, including the low grade line, and that part of the Philadelphia division between Lemoyne and Wago Junction.

It is reported that under the direction of the United States government an important change will be made in the Northern Central tracks, between Lemoyne and Mtd-dletown Ferry. It has long been understood that only improvements necessary to aid in taking care of war traffic will be permitted. This fact, it is said, means that the proposed changes across the river will be rushed.

The purpose, according to an unofficial report, is to provide facilities for taking care of traffic to and from the Quartermaster's Depot, now under construction at Marsh Run. One deficiency at present is a suitable roadway for heavy traffic. The plans, according to reports, are creight cars to supplement the 30, 000 contracted for several days ago, were placed yesterday by the federal railroad administration with fifteen car-building concerns.

The aggregate cost is from $170, 000,000 to $210,000,000, and the average profit to builders is about five per cent.

The contracts were let on the same basis as recent awards.

Together with orders already placed, the contracts awarded yesterday make up a railroad rolling stock building program, which will shortly be under way, of $325,000, including $60,000,000 for 1,025 locomotives ordered two days ago.

The carse of the crews are of standard design recently arranged by the railroad administration.

An Additional Track
