Thirty Years' Experience in "You Phone Me and I'll Artificial Limbs and Braces Is the Record of Mr. Piker

Just after an operation it is necessary to take a certain amount of precaution. It is more or less desirious to use something that can easily be adjusted than it is to use bandages or the like. This is where abdominal belts prove their usefulness. They are easily adjusted and can readily be taken off or put on.

Abdominal belts are made by the Piker Artificial Limb Company at their shop in Sixth street just above Harris. They also make trusses, ankle and knee braces and all kinds of artificial limbs.

All the latest and most modern improvements are applied to this work, which is under the supervision of Mr. Piker who has been working along these same lines for the past thirty years, Satisfaction is guaranteed and all estimates are cheerfully given.

The supply of feed and grain for this time of year is about as low as it ever has been in the remembrance of the oldest feed dealers. There are a good many reasons for this, but chiefly that Uncle Sam is taking a large quantity for the Army mules and horses. Another reason is the traffic conditions on the railroads. Most dealers are sold way ahead of their supply. Some are even six weeks to two months behind on deliveries. O. S. Ebersole, the Penbrook merchant, has a certain amount of stock on hand at the present time. Mr. Ebersole handles all kinds of flour, feed, grain and corn.
