GRATZ PLEDGES NEW FEALTY TO NATION'S HEAD

Fight Today Is to Keep White Men Free, Speaker Tells Five Hundred

"The Civil War was fought to make the black men free. We are fighting to-day to keep the white man free," said Jesse E. B. Cunningham, of Harrisburg, last evening, to the five hundred people of the public square at Gratz to reaffirm their loyalty to the United States.

"Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States: We greet you as from the homes of the fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters of the boys you have and will call, and which we give. We would do more, we would be heartier you. Having given our best, we now understand the awful responsibility and burden you as our leader must carry. Facing that supreme test our message is: That you do not spare or halt, but that you strike and strike hard.

"We, citizens of Gratz and Lykens township, resolve to reconsecrate ourselves, men, women and children, to God, our country, and whatever service is needed.

"With uplifted hands we invoke the blessing of God upon our President and his counselors, and with all Americans rejoice that official Washington radiates the nobleness and high ideals of our great first President and his continentals, and in like measure of the great heart of Lincoln, never doubting or doubted by the people.

"We lovingly give our soldiers to the nation and never question the issue when our boys are needed. We always fight for a worthy cause—the foundation stone—Democracy.

TOP OF DEATH GROWS IN PLANT OF OAKDALE CO.

Explosion Thought to Have Occurred in Tank of Tuolol; Pitiful Scenes

By Associated Press. Pittsburgh, May 20.—Up to last night 171 of the 450 employees of the Aetna Chemical Company had registered at the temporary headquarters established for the purpose. Fifty-six men are known to be dead, ninety-nine injured and thirty-one missing as a result of the nine explosion that on Saturday wrecked the Aetna company's explosive-manufacturing plant at Oakdale, sixteen miles from this city.

The cause of the explosion has not been determined by the many officials and explosives experts seeking to solve the cause, although it was stated that H. Wollenberg, general manager of the company, who arrived from New York, probably would make a statement after a conference with the various officers representing the state, city and borough governments.

Coroner Jamison questioned W. L. Sanderson, assistant superintendent of the plant, but Sanderson was unable to account for the explosion. He said he thought it occurred in a tank of tuolol. He said some men were working in the tank on Saturday when the blast came and that the men were all killed. Night Superintendent Keller also was unable to account for the explosion and said there were between 200,000 and 300,000 pounds of high explosives in the plant at the time.

Among the identified dead are John K. Lawson, 15 years old, of Everett, Pa.; Henry Plenty, negro, of Scottsburg, Va.; Patrick McManus, Fitchburg, Mass.; George Ross, Steubenville, Ohio; J. A. Todd, Alliance, Ohio; Marshall Anderson, China Grove, N. C.; George Christopher, Reynolds, Ga.; H. E. Brillinger, York, Pa.; J. R. Lane, Meadville, Pa.

Miss Meryl Anselman, the graduate nurse from St. John's Hospital, who was caught in one of the explosions while doing rescue work Saturday, was reported to-day to be in a fair way to recovery, despite the loss of one leg that was blown off.

All of yesterday a blue-brown smoke continued to hang over the ruins, considerably impeding the work of the searchers. Its deadly fumes are feared by the residents of the community, and only when the wind blows from the east would searchers be able to get close to various piles of debris.

WILSON'S RECORD IS PEACE REPLY TO THE ENEMY

Secret Overtures Proved to Be Insincere in Basis After Investigation

Washington, May 20.—President Wilson's speech in New York last night is hailed in diplomatic circles here as the most timely and significant statement of the status of democracy's present position toward Germany made by any leader since the German collapse of Russia. The salient features of the President's address—win the war, save Russia—epitomize it is the present war aims of all the coalition powers against Germany.

There is a general feeling here that the President has spoken straight from the shoulder on all matters where frankness was possible, but there is an intimation that in one of his addresses the President was giving the world the benefit of his conclusions without, however, being at liberty to direct the information in which he based these conclusions.

This opinion is entertained in some quarters, with particular reference to the President's reference to Germany's insincere peace propaganda. It is particularly noted that the President said with a clear conscience that he has tested these intimations (peace intimations) and have found them to be insincere.

"I now recognize them for what they are—an opportunity to have a free hand in Europe, and to carry out purposes of conquest and exploitation. Every proposal regarding accommodation in the West involves the Central Powers in the East. Now, so far as I am concerned, I intend to stand by Russia as well as France."

The President's address is perhaps the answer. It may be assumed that the President has been fully aware of what has been said with that he regards the whole intrigue as out of all consideration.

It is very likely, it is explained, that the President has been at liberty to disclose the information he has received from German secret peace intrigues because this information may belong to the public domain and may have been communicated to him in confidence.

Party means a complete rout of the Vore-Smith combine. Philadelphia will give Sprout for governor the largest majority ever recorded for a candidate for that office at a Republican primary. His admirers confidently expect that he will carry every ward in the city.

Philadelphia is the crux of the fight over the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor. Senator Beidleman says he will carry that city and go to the city line with a majority. Senator Penrose says Beidleman will win, and Chairman G. W. Coles, of the Town Meeting committee, says that the Senator will go to Philadelphia with 70,000 majority. Senator Vore says Scott will win by 100,000.

The contest between Secretary of Internal Affairs Paul W. Houck and Representative James F. Woodward for the nomination for secretary has attracted no more attention than the race for Congressman-at-Large.

The Democratic row centers on governor and lieutenant governor. Guffey claims his whole slate will win, and Bonniwell talks of carrying all the big counties. Dauphin included. The national administration has lined up its people for Guffey.
