Mostly Women and Children

"They are mostly women and children who have been fortunate in making their way to Japan and getting transportation to the United States. They represent a class who lost everything through the war, and have relatives here. They are a good class of people, and will be found industrious once they get settled.

"Quite a number of these foreigners have a little money after reaching here. It is not often that many get east of Chicago just now. Western people are taking them on various kinds of work. You will find in the west many women working on farms this year. They will be as valuable as the men in this kind of work. Many have had experience in their country in tilling soil. With the scarcity of farm help and the need for workers in other branches, these immigrants will prove valuable citizens."

Plans have been completed for a lively Red Cross drive at the Penn-mittee will be announced to-day and work start at once. Famine Stalks in Petrograd; No Food in Market or Shops

London, May 21.-A dispatch to the R London, May 21.—A dispatch to the London Times, dated Petrograd, April 30, says:

The famine in Petrograd is becoming positively alarming. There is practically no food in the markets or in the shops. Two-thirds, if not more, of the latter are permanently closed for want of goods of all kinds, besides foodstuffs. There is no flour, no sugar, no potatoes, cheese or milk, no grain or groats, and very little meat. The principal necessaries of life have to be got, when possible, through friends and chance agreement of the content Accursions

"Tonall Did For Me What Other Medicines Failed to Do"

Says Mr. J. R. Cumberland. Well Known Chain-Worker

When I sarred to take Ionah I was nearly a physical wreck," says Mr. J. R. Cumberland, of 257 East Prospect Street, York, Pa. "I was so weak and nervous I could hardly do a day's work. I had no appetite so weak and nervous I could nardly do a day's work. I had no appetite and was so constipated that I had to take a laxative every day. I was becoming weaker and was losing weight right along. I could not sleep, only just doze off for a few minutes at a time. I read so much about Tonall and the many difference herbs, roots and barks it contains and the small amount of alcohol, that I though I would try it and now I am glad I did. The results I have obtained from its use have been most wonderful indeed! I have gained strength and weight; my appetite is good, I sleep soundly, my bowels are in fine shape and I feel better in every respect than I have for years. My work is a pleasure instead of a task, and I was only too glad to recommend Tonall."

Tonall is sold at Gorgas' Drug Store, Harrisburg, where its merits will be explained by the Tonall chemist, also at Hershey's Drug Store, Hershey, Pa.
