

BERRY ANSWERS EYRE'S SUIT FOR $50,000 DAMAGE

Former State Treasurer in Court at West Chester Defending His Utterances

West Chester, May 21.—The case of State Senator T. Larry Eyre against William H. Berry, Collector of the Port of Philadelphia, for $50,000 damages for alleged slanderous remarks uttered during Eyre's campaign for Senator in 1916 was called for trial here yesterday.

KNIFE ON CORNS CAUSES LOCKJAW

Tells how to loosen a tender corn so it lifts out without pain.

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood-poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freeze-one, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn, the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out with the fingers.

It is a sticky substance which dries the moment it is applied and is said to simply shrivel the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of freeze-one will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You are further warned that cutting at a corn is a suicidal habit.

tor Eyre was head and shoulders in the Capitol graft and the originator of the foot-and-rule measurements, which had cost the state heavy loss, and of asserting that Senator Eyre would have been punished the same as others had for the crime had he not pleaded the statute of limitations.

In closing Colonel Holding said: "Senator Eyre has been damned, his children have been damned and his children to come have been damned and in view of this we ask the jury on hearing the evidence we will produce to render a verdict in his favor."

Opening Eyre testified during examination by former Judge Gordon: "I am the plaintiff in this case and am the one against whom Mr. Berry made his slanderous remarks. I was born in Delaware county and have resided in West Chester since 1871. I was Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds at Harrisburg from 1899 to 1902. My predecessor was John C. Delaney, while James Shumaker succeeded me. I was never the originator of the foot-and-yard schedule and that statement is false."

"Where you," asked Mr. Gordon, "the machinery operated the $7,000,000 Capitol steel?" "I was not," replied Mr. Eyre. "I had nothing to do with it. I never drew a penny from the state. The statute of limitations nor did I ever receive a penny directly or indirectly of the money taken."

Opening for the defense, Attorney James Scarlett said: "William H. Berry had a perfect privilege to make the remarks he did and he did so without the slightest idea of making, acting for the interest of the voters of Chester county as he did not believe it right to send as Senator to Harrisburg a man who had made so many investigations he had made was implicated in the Harrisburg graft. He was told to follow the trail to Room 900, Arcade building, and he did, and that room was occupied by Larry Eyre. John C. Delaney told him this and John C. Delaney knew."

"Mr. Berry was sworn and admitted to the legislature and referred to which resulted in the action. He said that while Treasurer of Pennsylvania he had started the investigation over certain bills and then, by questioning various persons, had found that the name of Mr. Eyre was linked in the Capitol cases in several instances. The witness testified to several checks having been paid by various banks in Philadelphia for large amounts to Burd Cassell of the Pennsylvania Construction Company, which had been awarded the furniture contracts, and that these checks bore the signature of T. Larry Eyre."

Collector Berry said he had been told by John C. Delaney to watch Mr. Eyre's office in the Arcade building, and he had seen Mr. Cassell enter with a bunch of money as big as his "leg," while former State Treasurer Matthews had come out with as large a "bunch" of money.

Toward the end of the afternoon session Attorney Scarlett asked the witness if he had ever read the alleged "confession" of the late John Sanderson relating to Harrisburg Capitol graft, and Mr. Berry replied that he had many times and that from it he had learned much of the details of the case.

value to him in his investigation of the Capitol expenditures. It is expected that the second day of the trial will bring the "confession" into court, and there promises to be a battle royal over its admission.

THOUSAND ACTIVE WORKERS IN CANVASS [Continued from First Page.] because a large majority of the men who passed them found themselves very busy looking at newspapers or envelopes when the solicitors drew near.

Industrials Doing Well The members of the committees which are touring the various industries of the city are doing very good in their soliciting. They turned over $2,000 this morning. Indications are that the Central Iron and Steel mill will contribute $4,000 and that the Pipe Bending employees contribution will be not less than $5,000.

Can't Accept Stamps Numerous contingencies have resulted in the announcement that the Red Cross will be unable to receive War Savings Stamps or Liberty Bonds during the present campaign, but Liberty Bonds are donatable.

HALF-MILE RIVER PARK STRIP GIVEN [Continued from First Page.] when the time comes for the building of the new highway from the river to Camp Hill to relieve the congestion that is making the Carlisle Pike busier than the average city street. This subway idea is the thought of the members of the City Planning Commission and their engineer, and is in line with the policy of the Commission which is to take advantage of every opportunity to provide for the proper development of the community within its jurisdiction.

Will Solicit Others In order to protect the river front for West Shore people for all time, the members of the Planning Commission will approach the owners of other property along the river and are very hopeful of procuring their consent to the dedication of the bank for park purposes, which it is believed will greatly enhance the value of all property lying along the west side of the river road on the Cumberland county side by insuring purchasers or builders of a free and unobstructed river view. The difference between property values where the view is obstructed and where it is unobstructed is shown in Harrisburg, where land in the Hardscrabble district on the east side of Front street has sold for a price which is being realized where land fronts on the city park area along the river.

HARRISBURG BELIEVES IN THE RED CROSS By William T. Hildrup, Jr., General Chairman, Red Cross Campaign

The people of Harrisburg believe in the Red Cross. They will show their belief again by their gifts. It does us no good to give, and the nobler the cause the greater the blessing.

What work can be nobler than that of the Red Cross? It is the work of helping and healing, of binding up wounds and making alive in a time of destruction.

Its work is solely constructive. When many factories are being destroyed, it exists only to save.

It is a work in which all sorts and conditions of men can unite because it is a work for humanity.

It is the work of the Good Samaritan written large. We all need to have a share in such a work. It saves from the degradation which war has brought upon us. It keeps the mind sane and the heart sweet.

The size of our Red Cross contributions is a index of our character. It is the money we give and the cause for which we give it which declare what manner of people we are.

Men pay taxes because they must and they may buy Liberty Bonds because they are a profitable form of investment, but when men give money for the relief of the destitute and desolate they do it not of necessity or for reasons of prudence, but under the constraint of a gentle and generous heart.

In our gifts to the Red Cross the soul of America stands most clearly and gloriously revealed.
