

GENERAL MARCH IS COMMENDED

Governor Takes Pride in the Achievements of Pennsylvania and Urges Notice

Congratulations to Pennsylvania upon the fact that one of its sons, General P. C. March, chief-of-staff of the United States Army, has attained that rank and distinction that the people and newspapers generally refer to as a hero.

The statement praises the general's service and refers to the fact that his predecessor, General Tasker H. Bliss, was also a Pennsylvania native.

The Governor's statement is as follows: "Pennsylvania enjoys the proud distinction of having had as chief-of-staff of the National Army, General Tasker H. Bliss, a native of Union county, who has recently been succeeded by General Peyton C. March, who was born in Easton, graduated from Lafayette College.

"General March will return to his home city on Thursday evening, May 30, and the citizens of Easton on that evening will present to him publicly a sword as an expression of their affection and respect for a most distinguished citizen, and on the following day his alma mater, Lafayette College, will confer upon him the degree of Doctor of Laws.

"The occasion is of such unusual importance at this time that I am glad to make proclamation to the people of the Commonwealth of this important event and to suggest that wherever people assemble on that day and generally in the newspapers of Pennsylvania, reference be made to the fact that a Pennsylvania soldier, now chief-of-staff of the National Army, has returned to our Commonwealth to receive distinguished honors, and to cite his example of high-minded patriotism and constant endeavor as an inspiration to all our citizens."

Racing Goes On—People attending county fairs and agricultural exhibitions in Pennsylvania this year are not going to want for amusements, according to statements of plans of fairs which are reaching the State Department of Agriculture.

New Hearings—The State Compensation Board has awarded new hearings in the following claims: Populsky vs. Eddystone Ammunition Co., Philadelphia; Husall vs. Crucible Fuel Co., Pittsburgh; Reynolds vs. Philadelphia and Reading Railway, Philadelphia; Mastroianni vs. Turner Construction Co., Pittsburgh; Rodebeck vs. Knoxville Borough; Scott vs. McKeesport Tin Plate Co., Pittsburgh; the case of Sheridan vs. Farmers' Bank Building, Pittsburgh, and a number of others were dismissed.

Reparation Order—The Public Service Commission to-day issued an order on the New York Central railroad to make reparation to the New York and Pennsylvania Company, Lock Haven, $9,245.29, as reparation for overcharges for movement of coal from Munson and Hawk Run districts to Bald Eagle Junction. The order is the result of litigation before the commission in which it was claimed that the charges were too high. The sum covers claims in the year ending August 24, last.

Foust's Warning—Housewives of Pennsylvania are warned to beware of the so-called "canning compounds" which contain boric acid and other preservatives in a statement issued to-day by Dairy and Food Commissioner James Foust. The commissioner has brought a number of suits in the last few years against sellers of such preparations and says that as the canning and preserving season will soon begin people should be on their guard against compounds which contain boric acid and other chemicals forbidden by state laws.

"Surely no housewife wants to use a preparation that is prohibited in scientifically conducted food establishments," says Mr. Foust. "Fake compounds are sold under various trade names and may be the cause of sickness among children months after they have been put into cans or jars. Chemical preparations are not necessary in canning operations."

More Smallpox—Increase of smallpox cases has been so general in vicinity of labor camps and in country districts where strict quarantine was not carried out that inspectors of the State Health Department have been urging physicians to use the greatest care in diagnosing chickenpox and smallpox. Some cases have been reported which were called chickenpox, but which turned out to be quite the opposite. There has been more smallpox in Pennsylvania this spring than for years.

German Dead and Wounded Piled Eight and Nine Deep

London, April 27.—In a letter received this week, a lieutenant in a London regiment says: "To give you some idea of the last seven days we were gassed and shelled and attacked every night and morning. Although we suffered casualties I am proud to say we never gave an inch and the casualties we inflicted on the enemy were enormous. In parts of our front they lie eight and nine deep of wounded and dead. I've seen more fighting during the last month than during the rest of my previous fifteen months' actual experience in the

Agriculturist of State Chamber Goes Into Govt. Service

The Committee of Public Safety of Pennsylvania has arranged for the services of F. R. Stevens, agriculturist director of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce, as assistant state director, United States Public Service Reserve of Pennsylvania, in charge of the Agricultural Labor Division representing the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce.

The new duties of Mr. Stevens will be to secure the utilization of all surplus labor, including unoccupied hours of businessmen, vacation periods and the reemployment of men now engaged in nonessential industries.

It is proposed to immediately call meetings of the chambers of commerce, boards of trade and business associations of the cities and boroughs of the state under the auspices of the Committee of Public Safety, to complete an organization through which this labor can be effectively placed upon the farms.

American Patrol Wins Brisk Skirmish With the Germans in No Man's Land

With the American Army in France, May 26.—An American patrol should be on their guard in the Luneville sector with a German patrol carrying light machine guns, and routed the enemy in a sharp fight. Several of the Germans were killed and their bodies were dragged back by their comrades. There were no American losses.

On the same sector a German sergeant crept into the American lines holding up his hands and shouting "kamerad." He said he had had enough of fighting for the Kaiser and von Hindenburg. He was sent to the rear.

The artillery action generally was light in the Toul and Luneville sectors. American airmen concluded several missions successfully without encountering any German machines.

Drive Nails in Kaiser's Head at Middletown

Employees at the Middletown government job to-day drove nails in the Kaiser's head amounting to $500. The nail driving contest was conducted by a party from the Harrisburg recruiting station for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Major William B. Gray, in charge of the job bid $55 for the first nail; William Randall, assistant superintendent of construction, bid $30 for the second nail, and J. C. Gillard, general foreman paid $25 for the red nail. Other birds for nails ranged from thirty to ten dollars.

The patriotic feeling of the workmen was demonstrated by an employe who backed up a woman who volunteered to drive a nail. The woman said she would pay $1 for a nail and an enthusiastic workman shouted he would give $5 if the woman drove the nail in Kaiser Bill's head. The workman paid the $5 and the woman without hesitation sunk the nail deep in the head, amid cheers of the workmen.

Past President Day at Rotary Club Luncheon

Addresses were made to-day at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club by Past Presidents William M. Robinson, John S. Mueser, William S. Eslick, Howard C. Fry and Arthur D. Bacon, the occasion being the last luncheon to be presided over by the retiring president, Captain George F. Lumb. The club has as its guests President Frank Fahnestock and Baseball Chairman Barnes, of the Kiwanis Club. The proposed Red Cross benefit baseball game between the two clubs has been called off, due to the large sum subscribed in last week's drive, leaving the chapter for the present well financed.

German Prisoner Shot as He Steps Over Dead Line

Atlanta, Ga., May 27.—Heinrich Knappke, a German prisoner interned at Fort McPherson, overstepped the line maintained inside of the wire fence surrounding the camp and failed to halt at the order of a soldier guard. He was shot, and died an hour later in the post hospital.

LETTERS ISSUED ON TWO BIG ESTATES

Letters of administration on the estate of the late Edward L. Rinkenbach, widely known uptown business man and president of the Harrisburg Jewelers' Association until his death, were granted to-day by Register Roy C. Danzer to the widow, Mrs. Minnie E. Rickenbach. The estate is valued at nearly $50,000.

After a delay of many months because of a contest in the settlement of the estate of the late E. M. Haldeman, this city letters of administration, c. t. a., were granted to-day to John Hamilton Alicks. When efforts were first made to settle the estate it was found that all of the Haldeman property had been willed to Theodore Nolte. Relative to the will, but finally an agreement was made between the parties and the contest withdrawn.

"The Live Store"

"Always Reliable"

Setting the Precedent Not Following It

Some stores prefer to "drift" with the tide, rather than breast the current — But not DOUTRICH'S — This "Live Store," Harrisburg's greatest clothing store, has attained its "leadership" and supremacy by setting the precedent and not following it — Drifting, following, imitating, may be alright for some merchants, but not for DOUTRICH'S.

Our progress has been marked by the development of new ideas, better ideas in merchandise, for the benefit and in the interest of our customers — It was DOUTRICH'S who originated the "Always Reliable" policy of selling — It was DOUTRICH'S who introduced greater stocks and better service and offered standardized merchandise of known quality and value such as

Kuppenheimer Clothes Hart Schaffner & Marx

"Manhattan Shirts" "Interwoven Hose"

The public has shown by its ever-increasing patronage their confidence in this "Live Store" and its merchandise, that we are on the right track — This is the store everybody is talking about.
