

STATE TO PASS ON MATERIALS

State Highway Department Will Consider Bituminous Supplies For Districts.

All requirements of counties, cities and boroughs in Pennsylvania for bituminous materials for road construction or repair will be passed upon by the State Highway Department hereafter before recommendations are made to the Federal administration in charge of such supply regulation.

The state itself has been severely handicapped in much of its road repair work and construction by the shortage of materials, due in a measure to transportation difficulties, and as practically all municipal divisions are in touch with the development their wants will be reviewed.

Commission Meets.—The State Water Supply Commission is holding its semi-monthly meeting and considering water company charter applications.

Sanders to Attend.—Steps to arrange for prohibition of importation into Pennsylvania of plants and shrubbery which contain germs in the roots, such as rhododendrons, azaleas and other flowering varieties because of difficulties of inspection will be taken at Washington in the next few days, when a conference of national and state officials will be held.

Discuss New Camp.—President F. Sparks, of State College, was here consulting with Adjutant General Beary and state officials regarding the plan of the Federal authorities to establish a training camp for United States Guard officers at the college. The camp will begin after the college term and will occupy the site of that now being held. Dr. Sparks said that the college planned for extensive training work during the summer and would be able to show a notable record for training of its students this year.

Bureau Helping.—The State Bureau of Markets is helping out in the work of securing good seed stock and commissary of the brigade and expects extensive planting next month.

In the Second Infantry these appointments were made: First Lieutenant, Robert R. Harvey, Company F, Wilkes-Barre, to be captain and adjutant; Robert D. Raeder, Wilkes-Barre, to be second lieutenant and battalion quartermaster; Second Lieutenant Herbert W. Bay, to be first lieutenant, Company F, and Private Charles A. Trein to be second lieutenant.

Commission Won't Act.—The Public Service Commission has enunciated a policy of declining to make findings in complaints against abolition of passenger trains by railroads because of the war conditions, in an opinion handed down today in a case of residents of Allison Park, Allegheny county, against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, which had annulled two passenger trains. The decision says that the testimony shows the railroad much congested between Allison Park and Pittsburgh and another track would be a heavy expense. "On account of the demands made on response and by the Government, the Commission, without reaching any conclusion as to the merits of the complaint, will decline to make findings at this time," says the decision. "The facilities of the respondent should be utilized in the present crisis to the full extent thereof in assisting the Government in carrying on the war." Leave is given to renew the complaint when the war ends.

Increases Filed.—The Indiana County Street Railway has filed notice of increase of fares from 5 to 8 cents and the Mercer County, Heat and Power Company, notice of changes in schedules.

Rulings on Hospital.—The State Board of Public Charities has been informed in an opinion from the Attorney General's Department that a superintendent of erection may be employed for the new western hospital for the insane at Blairsville, but that the commission may operate as a hospital even to relieve overcrowded buildings which have been remodeled for temporary use.

Port Improves.—Reports received here today were to the effect that there had been a gradual improvement in the condition of State Fire Marshal Port, who is ill at his home in Huntingdon.

Kane Case Up.—The Public Service Commission today heard the complaint of the borough of Kane against the water company supplying that town and it is probable that a big valuation case will result.

To Pay For Properties.—Checks for the payment of the final purchase in Capitol Park extension zone will be turned over to owners of properties to-morrow by the Attorney General's Department. Demolition of buildings starts at once.

New Tracks.—Application was made today by the Reading Railway for approval of a series of additional tracks along its line between Hummelstown and Womelsdorf, designed to facilitate freight movements. The new tracks will be added to those placed a few years ago and are all east of Rutherford yards.

SUBSCRIBING TO RED CROSS

Contributions Continue Pouring Into Local Banks Although Quota Is Tripled

Support of patriotic organizations and residents of the district was responsible for putting this borough three times "over the top" in the Second Red Cross War Fund. Although the campaign closed officially yesterday with a total contribution of $60,601.14, subscriptions continued to come into the local banks this morning.

W. W. Leck is credited with being responsible for T. J. Nelley's team finishing first in the drive. Mr. Nelley this morning declared that this team member collected at least $10,000 of the total amount of subscriptions. Mr. Leck has the reputation of being a "live wire" in drives among steelworkers. Team No. 4, of which Mr. Nelley was captain, finished first with a total of $17,487.95 subscriptions. Other members of this team were: R. M. Rutherford, W. W. Leck, Walter Keister, Frank A. Stees and Postmaster M. M. Cusack. Team members and their amounts follow:

Team No. 1—$10,821.95, T. T. McEntee, captain; F. A. Robbins, J. French, before whose lines there was seemingly the greatest concentration for the enemy effort. The French communications are excellent in this sector, and the probability is that reserves are speedily being sent up to the threatened points to place before the Germans a force that can effectively stop them.

Team No. 2—$11,914.19, F. E. Howland, captain; W. H. Housman, G. Long, E. F. McKear, W. F. Maginnis and R. V. McKear.

Team No. 3—$10,364.45, J. A. McCurdy, captain; Ira F. Myers, Ross J. May, B. L. Weaver, J. P. Detweiler and G. S. Bolton.

Team No. 4—$10,030.60, M. A. Cumber, captain; T. L. Gruber, T. N. Heicher, O. C. Bishop, Allen Eilenberger, Mark Mumma and W. H. Nell.

The appeal of the Red Cross was met by the foreign residents of the borough with liberal contributions and the congregations of foreign churches were big contributors. The patriotic and fraternal orders and the volunteer fire companies contributed to the cause in a measure that but while a canvass of the contributions from the liquor dealers, who, it was breathed, were "holding out," showed them in the 100 cent class, in this "everybody person a contributor" class were the Steelton Cigar Company's employees with a contribution of $230 and the employees of the Steelton Glove Company.

Seventy-Five Graduates in Service of Country

The annual meeting of the High School Alumni Association will be held in the auditorium on Friday evening, May 31, at 8 o'clock. This meeting will be open to the public and all who can attend are urged to do so. The program is one of unusual interest. A service flag containing a star for every one of the seventy-five graduates who have taken up arms for their country will be presented to the school. The presentation address will be made by W. F. Housman, of the class of 1904, and the flag will be received by Prof. C. S. Davis, principal of the school. Another of the several features of interest will be a patriotic address by Dr. Frank H. Green, of the Western Chester State Normal school. His subject will be High School Alumni Associations and Patriotism. The music will consist of community choruses, vocal solos and selections by the High school orchestra.

PRESBYTERIAN SERVICES

Services in keeping with Memorial Day will be held in the First Presbyterian Church, Thursday morning. The Rev. C. E. Seigel, pastor of the church this morning issued the following statement: "Your President has set apart Thursday, May 30, as a day of humiliation, prayer and fasting. He has called all the people to assemble on that day in their respective places of worship. A service in accord with our President's call will be held in the First Presbyterian Church, Second and Elm streets, Thursday morning, at 10 o'clock. 'Prayer and Victory' will be the theme of the service. Such a day, (April 30, 1863) of humiliation, prayer and fasting proved the turning point in the Civil War, and was followed by successive victories for the union. Will you do your part to make this day a turning point in this world war, for a decisive victory for our arms and the arms of our allies, and for a permanent peace?"

Confer, the new supervisor. Mr. Confer who is at present at Balaustown, N. J., will arrive in the borough in the next few weeks to take up the work.

FRENCH BEAR BRUNT OF HUN ASSAULTS

along the whole Aisne front to-day, the brunt of it being borne by the French, before whose lines there was seemingly the greatest concentration for the enemy effort. The French communications are excellent in this sector, and the probability is that reserves are speedily being sent up to the threatened points to place before the Germans a force that can effectively stop them.

British Right Holds

The British when the battle started apparently were holding a line approximately twelve miles long between Berncourt, seven miles northwest of Rheims, and Craonne, across the crossing of the Aisne, the line straddling the Aisne at about midway this distance, near Berry-aux-Bac.

There is no indication that the British right flank was materially affected by the shock. The left flank, however, felt the effect of the impact upon the French front further west, where a crossing of the Aisne was forced, and the British left was obliged to fall back in conformity.

Flanders Attack a Feint

The British line to the west of Berry-aux-Bac, now wholly north of the Aisne, according to the indications in to-day's official statements. The German attack in Flanders was evidently a subsidiary affair, not even on the scale of some of the previous offensive movements there, although there was an extremely heavy concentration of troops for the limited front.

The French bore the brunt of this blow and repulsed it with the loss of scarcely any ground, the Germans succeeding only in pushing in something like a half-mile north of Dickebusch lake, about four miles southeast of Ypres.

Promising Counterattack

They morning, the British and French made a counterattack in this sector, which was progressing well at latest advices and promised to turn the whole German effort on the northern front into a complete failure which had cost the enemy heavily.

Military opinion seems to be swaying between the view that southerly attack, now being pressed by the Germans between Soissons and Rheims, is the main enemy effort in the resumption of his offensive, or whether the plan is to advance to even greater blow at the Aisne front, where his first great stroke was delivered this spring.

May Drive at Paris

In view of the persistence with which the Germans are now following up their early success in storming the Chemin-des-Dames and forcing the Aisne crossings it seems probable that the former opinion will gain strength and that a determined following up of the enemy effort, in the shape of a drive for Paris will be looked for.

General Poch's strategy is counted upon to employ the vast effective forces at his command so as to counter the Germans effectively when they have fully developed their purpose, whichever way the attack may trend.

Gains by the armies of the German crown prince on the Aisne front have been balanced in part by the sanguinary repulses of further attempts to push forward southwest of Ypres. In preparation of new line positions along the Aisne the British forces are offering strong resistance to the Germans who are pressing on to cross the river, while in Flanders the Germans recently await increased enemy attacks.

In gaining the heights north of the Aisne and the famous Chemin-des-Dames the Germans are pressing heavily. The region over which they have advanced thus far is one of the most battle-scarred in France. If the crown prince hoped to crush the French and separate them from the British at Berry-aux-Bac, he failed, as contact between the allied forces has been maintained throughout even fighting. How far the Germans advanced on the extreme ends of the new fighting front is not defined clearly, but in the center they reached the region north of Pont Ancy, a four-mile advance on the Aisne.

Along the six-mile front from Loere to Voormezele on the Flanders battle front the Germans met the enemy back with great losses and still hold tenaciously to the positions protecting the ridge running westward from Mt. Kemmel. Near Voormezele, where the French have taken over the line from the British, heavy fighting continues around Dickebusch lake, where the Germans penetrated the allied line.

Americans Win Fight

Meanwhile, there is very intense artillery fire from north of the Somme to the Avre in Picardy. The Germans have made no attacks here, except for strong raids against the allied lines, especially the American sector west of Montdidier. The Americans threw back the Germans in a counterattack after fighting in which the enemy suffered severe losses and prisoners were taken by the Americans.

Renewal of heavy fighting in Northern France is coincident with the successful Italian thrust against the Austro-Hungarian positions in the mountains of the western Trentino.

ino. In addition to gaining important height positions the Italians captured nearly 900 prisoners and much war material. Austrian attacks south of Asiago have been repulsed by the Italians. Elsewhere on the front from Stelvio to the Adriatic there has been little activity.
