

TWO PARTIES TO OPEN CAMPAIGN

Cumberland County Republicans and Democrats Hold Conventions at Carlisle

Carlisle, Pa., June 3.—Carlisle was the Cumberland county political mecca on Saturday with the county conventions of both the Republicans and Democrats held here. The former party will fight for a victory in November with the same organization, but the Democrats made some changes. Caleb S. Brinton, of Carlisle, former postmaster and a prominent attorney, was again elected county chairman and treasurer. The secretaries were re-elected and are: J. Harvey Line, of Carlisle, and George D. Frey, of Newville. It was predicted that the two Republican legislative candidates who are running on "dry" platforms will be elected by 1,000 majority. They are W. C. Bowman, of Lemoyne, and Ross Beckley, of Lower Allen. H. G. Zullinger, a Mount Holly Springs manufacturer, was elected Democratic chairman, succeeding County Treasurer Robert W. Perfer, resigned. J. J. Totton, of Carlisle, is treasurer and E. W. Shulenberger, of Newville, were elected secretaries.

Harrisburg will be represented by Edward J. Stackpole, chairman of the State Recruiting Committee; J. W. Bowman, chairman of the Harrisburg Recruiting Committee; Lavel Wright, secretary of the Harrisburg Committee, and Ross A. Hickok and Robert B. Reeves, members of the local committee.

O'Neil Committee Spent $21,064.10

Charles W. Kiser, of Wilkensburg, treasurer of the J. This expenditure is separate from what was collected at the State Capitol and in various counties for use of local committees.

Mr. O'Neil was the largest contributor, giving $7,500, while Gifford Pinchot gave $2,000; Attorney General Brown, $1,650.90; George Huggins, $200; William H. Ball and C. L. Huston, $100; members of the O'Neil family, $700; T. G. Crownover, Huntingdon, $100; A. Nevin Detrich, who was also an attaché of the headquarters and drew a salary, $200; D. F. Lefean, $250; C. Camp Hill Masons Go to Elizabethtown For Service

Camp Hill, Pa., June 3.—Members of the West Shore Masonic Lodge, No. 681, had charge of the weekly religious exercises at the Masonic Home, at Elizabethtown, yesterday. The program consisted of the usual services, with a sermon by the Rev. George M. Lauffer, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Steelton. Carl K. Deen, chairman of the committee of arrangements, planned the trip. Walter Mumma, worshipful master of the West Shore lodge, was in charge of the services. About 1,500 men and women, representing the local organization, went to Elizabethtown by automobile. Thirty cars were used in taking local residents there. This lodge, although in its infancy, is growing rapidly and from present indications will be one of the largest on the West Shore in a short time. Some of Harrisburg's widely-known businessmen, who are residents of this borough, are active members in the organization.

FUNDS CONTINUE FOR RED CROSS WORKERS

Although the Second Red Cross war fund campaign has been finished, donations are still being poured in daily to Red Cross headquarters in the basement of the Public Library. "The good result, aside from the monetary end of the campaign," a Red Cross worker commented this morning, "is the fact that a permanent interest in Red Cross work has been created in many people. These contributions show that people are much interested and that they will have a permanent interest." A contribution of $13.47 was also received from the members of St. George's Roumanian Greek Orthodox Church of Harrisburg. The money is also coming into line, giving money as well as work. The Lutheran auxiliary has given a check for $125, and the Paxians auxiliary has pledged a monthly contribution of $25.

Many Entries Received For the First Annual Rose Show to Open Here Friday

Entray cards for the First Annual Rose Show to be held in Central Y. M. C. A. rooms on Friday and Saturday of this week are pouring in on the committee in charge of this event. The exhibition is to be held under the auspices of the Woman's Advisory Board of the Y. M. C. A. Tickets of admission will be sold for 25 cents with the proceeds being used in the war work of the Y. M. C. A.

The early spring with its warm sun and gentle showers which is causing the roses to bloom much earlier this year, accounts for the earliness of the event. Originally it had been scheduled for June 21 and 22. Mrs. W. P. Starke, front and Keller streets, chairman of the committee on arrangements, is still busy distributing entry cards and disseminating information concerning the event. She reiterated, to-day, the announcement that this rose show is for amateurs only and that the show may be made such. Exhibitions of florists, nurserymen or their employees will absolutely be barred.

Awards will be made for the following exhibits: Best general display of roses, best individual specimen blooms, tea, hybrid tea, or hybrid perpetual roses, best roses of climbing variety, three red roses, three white roses and three pink roses.

LINEMAN KILLED

Lykens, Pa., June 3.—Benjamin Jones, a lineman of Wilkensburg, was instantly killed on Saturday afternoon when he came in contact with a feed wire of the Lykens Valley Light and Power Company, while repairing another wire. He was 30 years old and is survived by his wife and two children.

NO MORE WILL "CENTRAL" TELL TIME OR RING ALARM

Telephone Subscribers Will Have to Supplement Their Service With a Good Alarm Clock

Mrs. Housewife, have you been accustomed to call Central to inquire the time that you may know when to start making preparations for Hubby's dinner? Have you done this rather than walk into an adjoining room? If you have, this evening when you call the "hello" girl, you will be decidedly disappointed to learn that you will be obliged to waste some of your own precious energy to walk into this room that your affinity may have his steak and coffee and whatever you choose to give him, at the usual time. No more will you weary ones be awakened by the tinkling of the telephone bell in your bedroom. No more will some obliging operator be permitted to ring your phone bell to bring to an end your gentle slumbers that you may get to the office in time to meet with the approval of the boss. You must dig down into your jeans and haul out some of the filthy rags accumulated there that you may purchase a Big Ben or some other instrument capable of producing noise at some appointed time. All these hardships, Mrs. Housewife and Mrs. Sleepy One are yours because the Bell Telephone Company in Harrisburg and in other cities have tabooed foolish and unnecessary calls. And by foolish and unnecessary calls are meant calls for time, calls for some little service such as ringing the phone to awaken the weary ones and other calls entirely irrelevant to the telephone service. The "hello" girl can no longer be pestered by you, Mr. Patron. The edict of the Bell Telephone Company goes into effect in Harrisburg as well as in a large number of cities in Pennsylvania and other states, to-day. The concern has launched a campaign to educate its patrons in the fact that the telephone has a useful service to perform and that this service is entirely different from that of disseminating information concerning matters that by the greatest stretch of the imagination cannot be constructed to be related to the telephone service. Cold-blooded statistics prove that an immense amount of the operators' time is consumed each day in answering unnecessary calls. Likewise, the same statistics prove that a large amount of the telephone equipment of the local plant is made necessary because of the foolish questions of subscribers. And this equipment is exceedingly difficult to secure at the present time. As the old equipment wears out, the company officials are unable to secure the new equipment to answer the foolish and unnecessary calls, because the government is now supplying practically the entire product of those concerns which formerly supplied telephone companies with their equipment. Copper, lead and some of the other materials essential to a telephone plant are among the necessities that have been commandeered.

Ice Soars in Price Due to Delivery Charges

Advanced price rates as announced by the United Ice and Coal Company Saturday were in effect in the city to-day. The high cost of delivery was announced by the company as causing the increase. The "jitneys" stations recently inaugurated by the company, however, are proving a popular means whereby those who have their own means of delivery can secure ice at almost half the price charged when the company delivers it. The new price rates are as follows: Fifteen pounds instead of twenty for ten cents; twenty-five pounds for twenty cents instead of for fifteen cents; fifty pounds for thirty cents instead of twenty-five cents; 100 pounds for fifty cents instead of forty-five cents; 200 to 500 pounds at forty cents a hundred; 500 to 2,000 pounds at thirty-five cents a hundred; 2,000 to 4,000 at thirty cents a hundred. The prices at the "jitney" stations are: Twenty-five pounds for ten cents; fifty pounds for fifteen cents and 100 pounds for thirty cents.

Watch Prisoner Who Saws Bars and Takes Poison

George Chapelle, held in the Dauphin county jail on the charge of robbing the jewelry store of P. H. Caplan, is being watched by jail authorities as the result of his attempt Saturday to take his life by drinking poison. The poison was pumped from his stomach. Prior to his attempt to take his life the prisoner attempted to gain his freedom by sawing through the iron bars of his cell window. A search of his cell revealed a hacksaw hidden in his mattress. Chapelle has denied the robbery, admitting however that he had received the stolen goods.

Miss Craig in Classic Recital at Irving College

Mechanicsburg, Pa., June 3.—With a delightful stage presence, which immediately won her audience, Miss Netta Craig, dramatic soprano singer, of Washington, D. C., gave a recital on Saturday evening in Columbia Hall, Irving College. She was assisted by Newell Albright, at the piano, a member of the faculty. A gifted artist, Miss Craig, whose Alma Mater is Irving College and where she received the incentive for her work, presented a strong and well-balanced program. Her voice of rare quality, is flexible and well rounded, showing exceptional training and interpretation of the compositions. For sustained, high work, her voice showed to splendid advantage in the classical group, "Come My Beloved" (Atlanta), Handel, and "On Wings of Song" (Maid of the Ganges), Mendelssohn. Simplicity of style found expression in the Irish and Scotch songs, in which she played her own accompaniments in a manner that charmed her audience. Several piano numbers were given by Mr. Albright which called for encores. Miss Craig is the soprano soloist of the Church of Covenant and of the Oratorio Section of Washington, D. C.
