

HOOVER EDICT ON BREWERIES ROUSES 'DRYS'

"Unthinkable," Says Organizer of Move to Have President Issue Manifesto

Washington, June 6.—Herbert C. Hoover, United States Food Administrator, in a letter written yesterday to Senator Morris Sheppard...

Mr. Hoover's statement, made after a conference at the White House, followed the line taken by President Wilson in his communication to the Senate.

"The position taken by the Food Administration was that the prohibition of the use of grains for brewing purposes would cause exhaustion of the available supply of beer...

"Relative to the discussion over the suppression of this brewery," said Mr. Hoover, "I wish to say emphatically that from a strictly food-conservation point of view I should like to see the distilleries suppressed in all...

That the House will not give up the fight so easily was made equally evident by Representative Charles H. Randall, of California...

"No matter what the Senate does with the bill, the conferees will be instructed to include either the original amendment or one with the same force when the bill is returned to the House," Mr. Randall said.

Later in the House he asserted that opposition to the amendment was developed by the brewing interests, and added that the discovery of whiskey and beer bottles in the Congressional office building recently was the result of a "plant."

"If he did make such a statement, I will surely hear from the county," Mr. Randall said. "If that is so, then the bread which he has baked for the housewives of the county is also as negligible as it is unthinkable that Hoover, who is the high priest of saving and has repeatedly asked for the rationing of bread and the thinnest slice of bacon should be saved, can have made such a statement."

HUN ADVANCE IS HELD IN CHECK

west of Soissons, they attacked along the Ailette river, northwest of that city, to straighten out their line and thus guard against a flanking operation by the allied armies. They advanced considerably into the German lines but were held after they had progressed approximately five miles. Since that time the French have held their positions, with the exception of a short line of defense, and little fighting of a significant nature has occurred in that sector.

Military experts have expected an attack on the allied line running east of Montdidier, past Noyon and thence along the Oise to the new lines formed since the German offensive on the Aisne began. It may be that the fighting reported in the French official statement marks the initial stages of an attack there.

Further south along the line running from the western suburbs of Soissons to near Thierry the lines between the French and the German thrust. The French have succeeded in improving their positions north and west of Hautebraye, a little village on the right bank of the Hoxien river, north of the Aisne.

On the rest of the front, especially at Longpont, Veully la Poterie and west of Rheims, the artillery fire has been livelier. Along the front held by the British there have been raiding operations but no fighting of a serious character.

Determined German efforts to break through the western end of the line on the eastern edge of Metz forest east of Villers Cotterets. In attempting to cross the Rhine near Montlagache, the Germans were repulsed completely. Ground was gained by the enemy troops near Longpont, east of Villers Cotterets, but the French counterattacks threw them back to their original positions. Elsewhere along the salient through Neuilly, Chateau Thierry, and along the Marne, where the American troops are in line, the Germans have been unable to advance.

The Berlin official statements on Wednesday reported only a slight advance along the Aisne Tuesday and local fighting near the Ourcq. The situation is unchanged according to the Wednesday evening announcement from German headquarters.

COUNTY TOURED BY FARMERS IN BIG AUTO PARTY

Dissemination of Useful Information Is Attained in Day's Outing

New York, June 6.—Leaders made only nominal changes, mainly upward, at the opening of today's stock market, but the first hour developed irregular tendencies. Gains of fractions to a point in equities...

Hog farms, dairy farms, peach orchards, agricultural experiment stations, etc., were visited this morning and their friends in this five-automobile party left Market Square this morning to take part in the farmers' auto tour of southern Dauphin county, Pennsylvania. Orchards, dairy farms, and other points of interest from agricultural standpoint were pointed out to the farmers who they may become better acquainted with many up-to-date methods of doing things on the farms.

Inspect Big Farms Leaving Harrisburg at 8:30 o'clock this morning the party made its first stop at Jomony farm for a half hour later, where a farm house stop was made. The model Bonnyard dairy barn with its high grade catarrh was inspected. One hundred and forty-two Jerseys and two Guernsey cattle are kept at this barn. Later on the same farm a 250-acre alfalfa field was examined. Alfalfa Polynurs explained why this afternoon, the farm manager. He declared that "alfalfa is the best and cheapest feed for cattle."

The next stop was made at the F. B. Heavely farm on a mixed hay field was inspected. Growing in this field was alfalfa, alsike and red clover. The effects of lime fertilization were noted. At the A. E. Shenk farm, fertilizer experiments on four plots of ground were observed. Of these plots, all planted to wheat, one was fertilized with ammonia and ten per cent. phosphoric acid, on the second nothing was used, on the third fourteen per cent. acid phosphate and on the fourth a solution of the phosphate and sulphur, five per cent. phosphoric acid. Experimenters said that the fourteen per cent. acid phosphate fertilizer was the cheapest for wheat fertilizer.

NEW PRINCIPAL FOR CENTRAL HIGH

maintained one year. He then was principal of the Cohoes high school, Lockport, for three years; the Lockport High School, Lockport, N. Y., for six years, and the Youngstown High School, Youngstown, Ohio, for three years. He was selected by Dr. Downes from a list of almost one hundred applicants who had been teaching in many sections of the country.

Dr. Downes will also recommend to the board of trustees the appointment of Prof. William E. Strawinski to the Technical school faculty. Professor Strawinski, until two years ago, was in charge of the English department at the school but resigned to accept a position at the Horace Mann High School, New York. After remaining there two years he held the climatic conditions in the health of his small child and he applied for reappointment here. E. A. Barnard, a graduate of the Central High School and Princeton College, and present teaching in the Trenton High school, will be recommended for appointment as a teacher at Tech.

The board will be asked to name Miss Della Simonetti, of this city, as assistant attendance officer, the office having been created recently upon the recommendation of Dr. Downes.

Other business on the calendar for the session will include action on renting the Technical High school building on June 10 for a mass meeting when an address will be given on "The Redemption of Palestine," June 20 for commencement exercises of the Trenton High School and July 22 for memorial services for the Knights of Pythias. The resignation of Miss Nora M. Koons, a teacher at the continuation of this school since it was opened a few years ago, will be presented. The directors will also hear a committee representative of the Harrisburg branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Monthly estimates from the architects on the amount of building construction work on the new Junior High schools will be presented by them.

DIVORCE GRANTED The divorce decree separating Nora M. from Roy W. McCarty signed by Judge W. Rush Gillan, Chambersburg, was filed to-day at the photostationary office. The case was heard in 1915 by Judge Gillan who was specially presiding at the time.
