BILLION BUSHEL WHEAT CROP IS HOPE FOR 1918

Year's Spring Harvest May Prove Second Largest in History of Nation

Washington, June 8.—A bumper wheat crop this year, which before harvest may develop into a production of a billion bushels, was forecast yesterday by the Department of Agriculture in its June crop report, giving the first indication of the size of this year's spring wheat output.

Basing its estimate on June 1 conditions, the department forecast a total wheat production of 931,000,000 bushels, which would place this year's harvest as the second largest in the history of the country. Experts of the government, aiming for a billion-bushel crop to help in feeding the armies and civilian population of the allies, pointed to the development of the record crop of 1915 to substantiate their hopes for a crop equal to that.

In June of 1915 a total wheat production of 950,000,000 bushels was forecast, and the quantity gradually crept upward until the final figures for the year showed the crop to be 1,025,800,000.

Average Is Larger The acreage to spring wheat this year is larger by 2,000,000 acres than ever sown before and 21.5 per cent larger than last year's, aggregating 22,439,000 acres. The condition of the crop on June 1 was 95.2 per cent of a normal, or 1.5 per cent better than the 10-year average. A production of 244,000,000 bushels was forecast. That is 111,000,000 bushels more than harvested last year, and only about 7,000,000 bushels short of the record spring wheat harvest of 1915.

Winter wheat, growing on the second largest acreage ever planted, under a condition 3 per cent better than the 10-year average, with 82.8 per cent of a normal. A production of 587,000,000 bushels was forecast, being 22,439,000 bushels more than forecast from conditions existing May 1. Such a crop would be the third in size grown in this country. Production of oats was forecast at 1,500,000,000 bushels, the acreage 44,475,000, and the condition 93.2; barley production, 235,000,000 bushels, acreage 9,108,000, and condition 92.5; rye production, 203,000,000 bushels, and condition 83.6.

Hay production, 107,000,000 tons, condition 89.0; pastures condition 82.5; apples, 203,000,000 bushels, condition 69.8; peach production, 42,900,000 bushels, condition 52.0.

Winter wheat condition and production forecasts by principal states: Ohio, condition, 87; production 35,816,000 bushels; Indiana, 97 and 31,000 bushels; Illinois, 95 and 51,553,000; Missouri 95 and 20,000 bushels; Kansas, 78 and 43,045,000; Oklahoma, 74 and 22,267,000.

Not All At Once! When it is remembered that the street cars must be ready to carry crowds, the stranger in town and the occasional rider—

When it is noted that the street cars must be able to transport the people to the centers of business activities at a uniform time in the morning—

When it is borne in mind that the street cars must be ready to meet the heavy travel at noon and supper time—

When it is worth while for the great majority of people to pay more for the street car fare because a certain percentage of the people use the jitneys?

And while everything has gone up in price and continues to rise the same old nickel is the same old street car fare, but it DOESN'T pay for it. It costs more than a nickel to operate a street car ride—and it is just a matter of time and future conditions that will see how long it can last. A certain percentage of the people use the jitneys. The jitneys take in a certain amount of money. That amount could help to keep the street car fare at five cents longer! Is it worth while for the great majority of people to pay more for the street car fare because a certain percentage of the people use the jitneys? A street car ride is far better than a jitney ride at any and all times. Harrisburg Railways Company
