

WINS A COMMISSION
C. E. Meckley, of Penbrook, Pa., has been promoted to Second Lieutenant in the Sixty-sixth Company, now stationed at Camp Gordon, Georgia. Lieutenant Meckley was home on a furlough several weeks ago, and upon his return to his regiment (the Sixth Replacement Regiment), was notified of his promotion. He is anxious to go "over there."

AUSTRIAN PREMIER RESIGNS
By Associated Press
London, June 14.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Amsterdam reports that Dr. von Seydler, the Austrian premier, tendered his resignation to Emperor Charles on Wednesday. The dispatch adds that the Emperor has not yet accepted it.

Very Effective Method for Banishing Hairs

(Modes of Today)
At very little cost any woman can rid her face of hairy growths if she will use the delatone treatment. This is made by mixing some water with a little powdered delatone. This paste is spread upon the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed, when every trace of hair will have vanished. No harm results from this treatment, but care should be used to buy real delatone.

FRANCE'S CROSSES; CHRIST'S CROSS
International Sunday School Lesson For June 16 Is "Jesus on the Cross"—Mark 15:1-47
By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Back from France and busy with the classification of information and impression gathered there, I find myself called upon to write a Sunday school lesson dealing with the Crucifixion. Straightway there march across my vision the crosses of France—the wayside crucifixes; the great floral cross in the Church of the Madeleine, Paris, on Good Friday at the hour when the German long range gun devastated a similar service in another part of the city; the crosses that cluster so thickly by the battlefields and in the graveyards; the new wooden crosses hurriedly made for a large group of American graves, after a great action; the little crosses which the peasants of Brittany offer at the foot of the wayside shrines; the outstanding red—oh, so red!—of the cross in the British flag; the red cross that is the symbol of mercy and ministry—is this not the war of the cross?

A spirit sublimely sacrificial pervades this war. There is less talk of religion than the folk at home imagine, of formal piety there is very little; soldiers have a horror of appearing their religion, or of anything that may seem like pharisaism. They often cloak their deepest feelings beneath jesting speech. The act of war are not discussed in the camps and the trenches as much as they are among the people at home. Soldiers have reached the stigmata on its hidden soul.

"Over the Top" for Others

Starting in its indifference to conventional forms and phraseology of religion, the army has none the less glimpsed the glory of the cross spirit. Men who go to death for reasons entirely outside of themselves, and for the sake of others who have no immediate personal claim upon

DR. MUDGE TELLS OF CAMP LIFE
Minister Is Principal Speaker at Annual Presbyterian Meeting

A first-hand description of camp life was presented by the Rev. Dr. Lewis Seymour Mudge, who addressed the annual meeting of the Presbyterian Association of Harrisburg in Olivet Presbyterian Church last night. For those present who have sons in the camps and trenches, he had many comforting words and in his address spoke highly of the morale of the American troops. "The boys are taken better care of in the camps than they are at home," he said. When the boys were at their homes and an order was given them by their parents, they oftentimes refused to obey it. In the camps he said, they obey the officer promptly and willingly. He told of the interior of the men's barracks and said that the dining hall is "as clean as a pin." He challenged any housewife to show a cleaner dining room than that of the camps. If the portion of the room assigned to a man, is not clean, he is sent to the guard house. The men keep their tables shining like mirrors to avoid the penalty. The officers and men in charge take every care to make the camps comfortable and homelike. Dr. Mudge denied unscrupulous reports which declared that the men were not respectfully treated. He enlarged upon the work of the Y. M. C. A. saying that the men are very grateful for its help. Telling of the huts in which the men are welcomed by the Y. M. C. A., he described the interior and said that there are signs such as "When did you write to your mother last?" hanging on the wall. He advised the members of the audience who want to visit a soldier or an officer, to notify him in advance. He said that a letter bearing a name and no address is just as likely to reach a person in Harrisburg as a man or a letter without company, regiment or camp would reach the soldier. When one of the interested hearers asked Dr. Mudge to tell about the type of Y. M. C. A. secretaries in the camps, he said they are usually men of draft age were first taken over forty years old. Inexperienced but these proved to be failures and older men with more experience are now taken.

fit to "Josh" about a Scotch soldier. The incident occurred in the Grand Central Terminal, New York, where Empey was waiting to take a train. A killed Highlander came through the waiting room and a group of boys gathered there to poke fun at his bare knees, asking if he wasn't afraid of catching cold, etc. The Highlander went on his way and made no reply, but Empey did. "You kids ought to be ashamed of yourselves," he said, "to try and kid a real man. You see that little piece of tin on his tunic? If you had gone through what that man did to get that, you'd be able to say you was a man!"

The youths were mollified by this, and Empey continued: "That's the Victoria Cross that 'Scottie' is wearing and he went right to the gates of Hell to get it." One of the youngsters then noticed a deep scar on Empey's left cheek, the result of a shell fragment tearing open his face after he had been wounded in a trench raid and had crawled into a shell crater in No Man's Land. "How did you get that?" asked the youth. "Aw, I got it sliding to second," said Empey as he went through the gates to his train. Victoria theater here for four days Victoria Theater, has decided only beginning Monday, June 17, when he appears as the star of the Viagraph production of "Over the Top." In this big, patriotic production the fighting sergeant lives over again the events which he details so graphically in his famous book. Despite the tremendous expense involved in bringing this feature film to this city, especially just at its premier, Manager George, of the Victoria Theatre, has decided only to charge twenty-five cents for adults and fifteen cents for children. This low price, considering the tremendous importance of the film and its great cost, is exceedingly low as contrasted with the high admission prices asked elsewhere.

What Are Good Clothes?

"Always Reliable"

All clothes are "good" in the advertisements, and they all look good when you first see them--Of course they do; nobody would buy them if they were not good looking.

But "good doesn't only mean the looks, style and fit--they're all parts that go to make up the perfect garment—But if clothes don't fit and "stay" fit, you don't have much style. "Good" isn't color or pattern, however good these look to you. The important part of good clothes is the part you don't see—Be sure you're on the safe side in buying clothes.

Economy and Good Clothes

Go Hand-in-Hand---it's good management to be careful and spend your money for the sort of clothes that save themselves that's why we advise our customers to buy

Hart Schaffner & Marx and Kuppenheimer Clothes

The economy is in the clothes, not in the price--we don't offer these as low priced clothes---you'll have no difficulty at all in finding suits lower priced than these—But you won't find any that are less expensive, because all-wool fabrics and fine tailoring do wear better than cheap substitutes—If you figure the costs per month, you'll see how low-priced these clothes are.
