

WANT DRY PLANK IN THE PLATFORM

Dry Federation Gets Started Again on the Campaign For the Amendment

A determined effort will be made by the combined dry forces of the state to induce the Republican and Democratic parties to include planks in their platforms favoring the ratification of the national prohibition amendment.

In connection with this announcement Dr. Harris stated that the "drys" captured the house in the recent primary election and have more than a fighting chance to have the national amendment ratified by the Senate.

"The dry forces," said Dr. Harris yesterday, "will be on hand at the meetings of the Republican and Democratic state committees to insist that planks pledging these parties to the ratification of the national prohibition amendment be inserted in their platforms."

"A careful analysis of the nominees of the Republican and Democratic parties for the lower house plainly shows that more than half the required number have been nominated in districts where such nominations are equivalent to election."

"With regard to senatorial nominations the result is not quite so certain. Taking the holdover 'dry' senators, those nominated who are certain of election and those nominated who have a good chance of election, we are inclined to the view that ratification will win in the Senate."

"We propose to center our strength behind all dry senatorial candidates who have a chance of election, and who have a chance for election."

"With the nomination of a Republican candidate for governor, Mr. Sproul, and the nomination of a Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, Mr. Logue, both of whom are on record as favorable to ratification, together with the legislative results, I have outlined, the situation is indeed a most encouraging one and we feel assured that at last Pennsylvania is to be taken from the wet column."

"A great many members of the two state committees are in sympathy with the dry movement and others are being won over almost daily. We are hopeful that both committees contain a majority favorable to the ratification of the national amendment."
