BONNIWELL HAS A MEETING PLAN

If State Committee Is Not Right He Will Speak at Courthouse

In the event that Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell and his friends in the "wet" faction of the Pennsylvania Democracy find the Palmer-McCormick crowd, who have espoused the "dry" cause in a sort of way, are able to control the meeting of the Democratic state committee when it meets on Wednesday afternoon, they will have some meetings of their own. The judge intends to get his side of the row before the Democratic voters no matter how the machine works against him.

The plan is for a round up of the advance details of the Bonniwell faction to be held here to-morrow morning. About that time it is believed that enough information will be in sight to tell whether the Bonniwell faction has control of the state committee. In case it is demonstrated that the Palmer-McCormick crowd has the control, the Bonniwell faction will have its friends assemble in force at the mass meeting proposed at the courthouse at 8 o'clock where he will make his oratorical speech and read his platform. Judge J. W. Westcott, who presented the name of Woodrow Wilson, at Baltimore and Chicago, will be the orator. With his side thus thrown before the people the judge will claim that the bosses are thwarting the popular will and go into the state committee prepared to gain whatever he can.

Judge Has Platform The Philadelphia Record says: "Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell, Democratic candidate for Governor, is writing his own platform and it will be presented at the courthouse reception to be given in his honor on Tuesday night in Harrisburg, on the eve of the state convention. Ex-Judge John W. Westcott, who twice nonated Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, will be the principal speaker at the reception. Judge Bonniwell's announcement that the platform upon which he will stand is not being constructed and that it will be ready for the public on the eve of the state committee meeting is interpreted to mean that the nominees should be permitted to bungle his campaign. No intimation was made as to what doctrines the platform contains, but it is known that it is built along old-time Democratic lines and will be acceptable to the rank and file in the state. It is believed that the near-leaders, who are attempting to hamstring Judge Bonniwell in the conduct of his campaign, will be courted enough to permit the choice of Pennsylvania Democrats for Governor to present his own issues before the people."

Threaten Reprisals The Philadelphia Ledger takes this view of Saturday's events: "Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, yesterday served notice upon the Palmer-McCormick leadership that he would not be chairman friendly to him is chosen at Harrisburg next Wednesday he will immediately set about the work of reorganizing the party in every county of the state. George H. McLean, the candidate picked by the Palmer-McCormick leaders for state chairman, is not acceptable to Judge Bonniwell. He will insist upon naming his own chairmen, both of the state and city committees. Furthermore, he will present his platform, with a "wet" plank, to the state committee, and unless it is accepted he will make his campaign without the assistance of the existing organization, but will put forth every effort to effect a more united and stronger organization all through the state."

Arrangements Being Made Judge Bonniwell is being made by Howard O. Holstein defeated running mate with Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell of Philadelphia, in the primaries who announced last night that the reception will be held for the Democratic nominee for the Governorship to-morrow night in the courthouse at 8 o'clock.

Judge Bonniwell is scheduled to attend a meeting of the Six Counties' Firemen's Convention at Shamokin

Red Cross Announces Rules For Sending Money to Prisoners of War

New instructions have been received by the Harrisburg chapter, American Red Cross, relative to sending money, letters and parcels to American and allied prisoners in Germany and Austria. To send money, it is necessary to make the check payable to the American Red Cross, and send it to the Bureau of Prisoner's Relief of the American Red Cross, Washington, D. C. The full name and address of the prisoner and also of the sender must be plainly written. The Red Cross will assume no responsibility for the money sent. Letters should be addressed directly to prisoners of war, and not through the Red Cross. They should be limited to two pages and should be written on one side only. On the front of the envelope should be written the prisoner's name, and in case he is a military prisoner, give his rank and unit, and on the line below the word, "American Prisoner of War." The name and location of the camp should be given with the German word for "Prisoner of War Camp," which is "Kriegesgefangenenlager." On the part of the envelope where the stamp usually is placed, the words, "Prisoner of War Mail—No Postage—Via New York" should be written. On the back should be written the full name and address of the sender and there should be no reference to the war or to governmental matters. Parcels, according to the ruling,
