

GREINER COMES OUT FOR STATE STREET BRIDGE

Designer of Walnut Street Viaduct Says Only Thing to Do Is Join With State

J. E. Greiner, the noted bridge designer, who made the plans for the proposed bridge over the railroad at North street, yesterday heartily endorsed the plan for a monumental structure to be built jointly by the state and the city at State street, extending from the Capitol extension to a point at or very near Thirtieth street, thus carrying the Capitol Park boulevard, eighty feet wide, over the railroad to the very doors of the people on the Hill.

Mr. Greiner's announcement came after he had gone carefully over the whole situation in company with George A. Shreiner, Superintendent of Public Grounds and Buildings, and Arnold W. Brunner, architect in charge of the Capitol extension development.

Very Enthusiastic When Mr. Greiner drew his plans for a commercial bridge at North street the proposed monumental structure at State street was not in prospect. But he would not give his recommendation for a change of location without a visit to the city, and yesterday he and Mr. Brunner came here for this special purpose. After going over the situation very carefully, he decided that it would be both wise and economical for the city to join with the state for the bigger bridge, which will serve all the purposes of the proposed structure at North street and will be much better in many respects, besides being in full keeping with the Capitol Park development, in which he believes all Harrisburgers should co-operate.

Mr. Brunner himself was more delighted than ever with the State street proposal and Mr. Greiner was engaged immediately to prepare tentative plans for the State street structure. This will be done as soon as possible in order that the Board of Public Grounds and Buildings will have ample opportunity to study them and get ready to have the Legislature appropriate the necessary money, which there is little question that it will do.

Food Administration Shows Much Accomplished in Year

A tabulated report of the results obtained by the first year's activities of the National Food Administration was made public yesterday by the County Food Administrator, this morning. Since July 1, 1917, 120,000,000 bushels of wheat have been exported. The normal surplus for that period would be 20,000,000 bushels. One hundred millions bushels were therefore saved by conservation. Beef was exported at the rate of 77,000,000 pounds monthly. The normal amount exported is 2,000,000 pounds monthly. The results of the national conservation program. Pork was exported at the rate of 200,000,000 pounds monthly. The ordinary rate is 50,000,000 pounds monthly. Prices have also been affected. Flour was reduced from the price of $10.75 per barrel (Minneapolis), which prevailed a year ago, to the present price of $9.50 per barrel. The price margin one year ago between the farmer's wheat and the flour made from it was $5.65. To-day it is sixty-four cents, according to the report.

STEELTON NEWS ITEMS

THREE GROUNDS ARE NOW OPEN

Annual Playground Activities Began Yesterday; Two Plots Open Today

The playground season opened officially in Steelton yesterday with the beginning of out-door activities at the Fothergill schoolbuilding grounds. The Hygienic and Major Bent grounds opened to-day. The steel company lawn in North Front street will open in a few days and the West Side plot will be opened on Monday.

Supervisor Confer, who comes from Blairtown, N. J., had charge of the opening of all three grounds. Miss Jennie Green, who last year had charge of the West Side grounds, is in charge at Fothergill. Miss Adella Fisher has charge of the Hygienic and Miss Irene Downes is instructor at the Major Bent grounds. Instructors for the other grounds have not yet been announced.

The East End grounds, which were not opened last year, will remain closed this summer. Prof. Davis, chairman of the Commission, said this morning. The Cottage Hill grounds will not be opened this year because of the baseball activities of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation League.

The new supervisor has plans for inaugurating some new and interesting activities at the grounds. No improvements to equipment for the various plots are contemplated, a member said, as everything is in splendid shape.
