

FIVE BRAKEMEN CHARGED WITH ROBBING CARS

Much Alleged Booty of Marysville Thefts Recovered by Police

After a series of thefts lasting over a period of two years with the intensity of them greatly increased within the past several weeks, five brakemen in the preference freight yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad in Marysville were arrested yesterday by railroad police. A number of more men are said to have been implicated. The men arrested yesterday were: Ralph E. Shaeffer, who has a home here at 236 Charles alley and also at Marysville; Harper D. Collier, Linden avenue, Marysville; Charles C. Poffenberger, Valley street, Marysville; Charles Hummel, Maple avenue, Marysville, and A. M. Barnholder, Harrisburg. All are members of the eastbound hump crew, working from midnight to 8 a. m. in the Marysville yards. Poffenberger was the second baseman of the Marysville Dauphin-Perry League baseball team during the 1916 and 1917 seasons. During the past several weeks these men are charged with having stolen much goods, most of which was recovered at trial homes of Shaeffer in both Harrisburg and Marysville, of Poffenberger and Hummel, included among the articles recovered were nearly one hundred pair of shoes, 500 pounds of sugar, underwear, bolts of silk, and sundry other articles. The arrests were made by railroad policemen including Captain Barclay, of the Harrisburg district of railroad police; Captain Darcy, Lieutenant Russell and Detectives Gear and Ready. They took the men to Harrisburg where they are confined to the Dauphin county jail to face the United States District Court.

U. S. TO BEGIN PRODUCTION OF FIGHTING PLANE

Single-Seated British Machine Preferred by Aces For Offensive Work

Washington, June 21.—Such steady progress is being made with the production of airplanes of the bombing type that plans have about been completed for the construction in this country of the fastest type of fighting scout machine now flying in Europe. America's aces at the battlefronts in France and Italy are compelled for the present to fly French and Italian machines, and there has been a sort of tacit understanding with the Allies that they would continue to furnish the swift little single-seated planes which do nearly all of the effective fighting, while the United States would devote its resources to the quantity production of the heavier and more easily standardized machines for bombing and long reconnaissance work.

But it is virtually certain now that the French and Italian planes will not be able to turn out the scout machines fast enough to keep their own and American aviators supplied.

Model For Production Chosen
The fighting plane decided upon for production here is a late model of a British single-seater which made its appearance on the western front just about this time last year. It is a wasplike little biplane which can do every air "stunt" known to the arts of war flying. It gave the British fighters a decided advantage over the best of the German machines, including even the brilliant "Red Devils" of Captain Baron von Richt- hof's famous "flying circus." It could climb to an altitude of 10,000 feet in a little more than seven minutes and dive with the speed of a falling arrow.

Captain Arthur Ball, who at 19 years of age was the greatest flier England had produced, was one of the first pilots to test the new model when he returned to France in the spring of last year, after a winter of rest at his home in Nottingham. In two weeks he had added fourteen accredited victories to his long record of German machines actually "crashed" and then one day while flying north of Lens he met his fate.

Major W. A. Bishop, Victoria Cross, the young Canadian pilot who in four months won virtually all of the honors King George could confer upon him, also was among the first to be supplied with the new British machine, which was known in the service only by two letters and a numeral, which for the moment may not be divulged here. When Major Bishop was given a respite from active work "over the line" last autumn, he had amassed a total of forty-seven officially accredited victories and stands to-day at the top of the list of living aviators.

Advocated Fighting Scouts
Major Bishop spent two months in this country last winter conferring with the American aviation officials, and at that time he advocated with all his might the production of fighting scouts in this country. He told men in New York just before he sailed again for England that he was deeply disappointed as to the airplane production in this country, and forecast many of the mistakes which have since come to light.

Outdoor Work For the Reserve Corps

Major Henry M. Stine, commandant of the Harrisburg Reserves, has ordered an outdoor drill for tonight, and members will report at the Armory at 7.15 in uniform, those owning motorcars to report with them. The place of drill will be announced at 7.30 and the cars will immediately proceed.

Benjamin Strouse presided at a meeting of the directors of the Reserves last night, at which several activities were reported on, new members elected and the committee of officers authorized to procure certain equipment.

Jeannette Minister Is 101 Years Old

Jeannette, Pa. — Surrounded by relatives and a few close friends, the Rev. Albert Vogel celebrated his one hundred and first birthday anniversary at the home of his son, Albert Vogel, Jr., 417 Clay avenue, this city.

Hale and hearty, despite his 101 years, Mr. Vogel arose early to meet persons who came to greet him on his birthday. He is still active and is able to make extended trips without aid.

Born in Werdt am Rheln, Bavaria, Germany, on June 19, 1817, Mr. Vogel came to this country with his parents in 1829, his parents taking up a residence in Washington, D. C.

Since the entrance of the United States into the war he has made hundreds of addresses in various parts of the country urging German-Americans to be loyal to the home of their adoption and to support the United States in every way in her fight against autocracy.

Deaf Mute in Court Held Fast to Beer

Philadelphia.—When James Carey was arraigned before Magistrate Baker in the Seventh and Carpenter streets police station it was discovered that he was deaf and dumb, and his examination was conducted through the medium of a slate and pencil.

Carey was arrested by Patrolman Lawless of the Seventh and Carpenter streets station when he made no intelligible response to the patrolman's questioning about a case of beer he was carrying on his shoulder. The reason for his silence was apparent when arraigned in court.

"You are discharged," Magistrate Baker wrote on the slate. "Thank you," Carey wrote, adding: "What about the beer?"

RUSSELLS FOUND GUILTY

New York, June 21.—Joseph F. Rutherford and seven other defendants, followers of the late "Pastor" Russell, were found guilty of conspiring to violate the espionage law by a jury in federal court at 10.30 o'clock last night.

AMERICAN FLYER MISSING

Paris, June 21.—First Lieut. Frank L. Baylies, an American member of the French flying corps, has been missing since June 17, when his machine fell in flames six miles within the German lines. Baylies' home was in New Bedford, Mass.

British Night Raiders Take Huns and Guns and Drive Foe Back

London, June 21.—Further extensive raiding and patrol operations were carried out by British troops last night in the Arras region and on the front to the south, towards Albert. Attempts by the Germans to regain the ground won yesterday by the British near Merris, on the Flanders front, were repulsed, to-day's war office announcement states.

The statement reads: "During the night we captured a few prisoners and machine guns and inflicted many casualties upon the enemy in raids and patrol encounters in Aveluy wood, in the neighborhood of Hebuterne and Boyelles, and on both banks of the Scarpe."

"Several hostile attempts to recapture the ground gained by us yesterday morning northwest of Merris were repulsed with loss to the enemy."

Wilson Holding Back War Declaration on Turks and Bulgars

Washington, June 21.—Pending complete investigation by the State Department into the Tabris incident, President Wilson has laid a restraining hand on Congress, in which body there is growing demand for an immediate declaration of war against both Turkey and Bulgaria. In the house, Representative Kelly, of Pennsylvania, offered a resolution declaring war on these countries. It was referred to a committee.

Through Secretary of State Lansing, who appeared before the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, the President is said to have conveyed "vital reasons" why the government should not act in precipitate fashion.

As to what these reasons were, there was much secrecy observed, although several members of the committee who have been most urgent in support of a war declaration insisted that they were not altogether satisfied that the government should delay.

President Moves to Form Slavic Legion to Serve in Siberia

Washington, June 21.—A first move in the direction of armed intervention in Siberia and Eastern Russia by the United States is recognized in the significant adoption yesterday by the military affairs committee of the Senate, of an army appropriation bill amendment approved by the President, authorizing the organization of a Slavic Legion for service abroad.

The President is empowered to send the Slavic Legion, which may number eventually 500,000 men, to any "field of action" against "the common enemy." The amendment was intentionally phrased so as to permit the dispatch of the Slavic Legion to Siberia as a part of the American forces which will be sent across the Pacific, if Mr. Wilson yields to the appeals for intervention to drive the Germans out of Russia.

Sentiment is growing rapidly in Congress in favor of allied interven-

U-Boats Have Failed, Says German Naval Expert

London, June 21.—The German U-boats are unequal to the warfare against them, is the virtual admission of Captain Persius, the naval critic of the Berliner Tageblatt, says a Rotterdam dispatch to the Daily Telegraph. Captain Persius writes: "Every layman knows that U-boats losses are unavoidable owing to the continually increasing sharpness and effectiveness of the defense measures of the enemy; which, perhaps, will further increase as the war progresses."

"It is scarcely to be denied that our enemies are both carrying on the war and living and that it will be possible for them to defend themselves against tonnage needs for a long time at any rate. From the beginning of the U-boat war it was a mistake, often committed among us, to underestimate the resources of our enemy."

LEMON JUICE TAKES OFF TAN

Girls! Make bleaching lotion if skin is sunburned, tanned or freckled

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle, sunburn and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of Orchard White for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles, sunburn, windburn and tan disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.
