

Chenoweth Says He's Not the Only "Dope" Agent When Held For Court

That there are a dozen wide-open dope-selling agencies operating in defiance of the Harrison act in Harrisburg was alleged by Robert Chenoweth, who was held under $1,500 bail for United States District Court by United States Commissioner Leroy Wolfe after a hearing in the Calder Building last evening.

Chenoweth, was released under $100 bail. Chenoweth was to have left for camp Monday morning as a draft registrant. Some one else will fill his place in the quota.

DAUPHIN ASKS GROUSE SAFETY

Joins in Movement For Closing of Counties For Two-Year Period Planned

Dauphin has joined counties of Pennsylvania which have filed petitions with the State Game Commission for the closing of their districts to the hunting of the ruffed grouse for two years and nine of the eleven counties which have not filed have sent word that they will have their papers in the office of the commission before the stated meeting on July 9.

The time for closing petitions expires within a short time as due advertisements of the time of hearing must be given. The commission will sit on July 9, but it is not expected that there will be any difficulties in the way of their being filed. No remonstrances have been filed and there appears to be a general realization of the fairness of the proposition to close all of the counties possible so that the splendid game bird will not be exterminated. This movement started in Pittsburgh about a year ago and has extended to every county as it is a fact that the killing of the grouse has been at a rate that nothing would stand and weather conditions have been unfavorable.

The severity of the last winter has caused a movement to be started in a number of counties in behalf of the pheasant and the quail and probably thirty counties will petition for closing of hunting for these birds together with deer and wild turkey. Most of these counties are now closed and the spirit of conservation of the wild life is spreading fast. In one county where there is good hunting some men wanted to close the county for fear that the size of the kill last fall would attract so many hunters that the deer would be cleaned out.

STATE TO FIGHT SEXUAL DISEASE

Drastic Steps Taken Today by the State Advisory Board For National Safety

Persons in Pennsylvania suffering from venereal diseases who fail to carry out regulations approved today by the advisory board of the State Department of Health will be declared menaces to public health and placed under quarantine. This step, which is probably the most drastic ever taken by any state in this country for control of such diseases, is the result of a study of the situation which has been under way for months. The regulations are to be put into force immediately having been approved by the following members of the advisory board in consultation with Dr. B. F. Royer, acting state-commissioner of health: Mrs. Charles E. Penrose, Adolph Koenig, Edgar M. Green and Joseph S. Neff and Lee Masterson, of Johnstown.

Three diseases of this character are declared infectious diseases, highly dangerous to the public health and a special menace to the military organizations of the United States in time of war. It is declared the duty of the State Department of Health and all public health authorities to "adopt and enforce every precaution consistent with existing laws to prevent the spread of the infection therefrom." Physicians are required to present to every person coming under their care or notice regulations, while public notices will be posted giving advice and warning of danger. Free treatment will be provided by the state at genitourinary dispensaries of the Department of Health or other free dispensary.
