deprive such user or handler of the right to buy additional sugar during the balance of the year 1918 and possibly, under some circumstances, for the remaining period of the war. The fact that a user or handler has sugar on hand sufficient to meet his present requirements not only does not relieve him from this obligation, but failure to make the statement lays him liable to the penalties for hoarding under the law.

All sugar in excess of three months' supply at the rate of consumption allowed to each concern will be taken over by the food administrator and redistributed at once. Any sugar in excess of thrty days' needs must be held subject to the food administrator's order for distribution if necessary.

Any attempt to accumulate sugar between now and July 1 will be interpreted as hoarding, which is punishable by fine and imprisonment.

FREE TO Pile Sufferers

to Hold Short Lines

Washington, June 27. — Congress is planning to tie the hands of Director General McAdoo of the Railroad Administration to prohibit him from casting the "short line" railroads aside. Legislation is to be enacted to prevent the President, on the suggestion of Mr. McAdoo, from relinquishing these roads after July 1, the time limit fixed for holding them under the present arrangement. The proposition is to extend the time from July 1 to January 1, 1919.

The Senate and House committees on interstate commerce have agreed on a joint resolution to amend the railroad act of March 21, 1918, to compel the Government to take over the independent "short lines." The Proposition will be considered before Congress recesses.
