AROUND THE BASES

Never since the halcyon days of them have outgrown the class in the sport before the antibetting legislation has the running turf enjoyed greater popularity than at the present time. The meetings at Jamaica and Belmont Park have both furnished an unusually high type of thoroughbred competition, both in the stakes and overnight events. Unfortunately, there has been attracted to the Eastern field this season—perhaps because of the suspension of some of the minor circuits—a clique of "sure-thing" operators who hesitate at no unscrupulous means of taking advantage of public confidence. These may again kill the game even as the crooked handbook men were responsible for having racing legislated out of business before.

don't they slip him over to fight the Huns?

Ty Cobb is a veteran in the American League. This no doubt will cause some surprise, but in point of service he is the second oldest player in the circuit. He has been with Detroit for thirteen years, while Terry Turner, of Cleveland, has one year on him. Some folks believe that the Georgia Peach has reached his zenith and now is on the down grade. They figure he has seen his best days and now is on the Mong journey from which few ballplayers return. His batting average has fallen off this year, his eyes are troubling him and now his shoulder has gone back on him Already the fickle fans are seeking a new king to place on the baseball throne.

Already the fickle fans are seeking a new king to place on the baseball throne.

The saugger always is popular with the masses, and the boy who can slam the pellet out of the lot or knock down a couple of infielders in every combat will get the big mapority in the race for the nomination. George Ruth, the slugging southpaw of the Red Sox, is that sort of a guy. Ruth recently tied the big league record with four home runs in four successive games, and if he continues to slap the spheroid with the same intensity crowds will turn out to see him in action. "Babe" is in training to wear the headgear when dropped by Tyrus the Great, but it will be a loose fit—and that's not a knock at Ruth, either.

Although it is less than a year since the leading boxers of the country were appointed to act as boxing instructors at the various cantoments, already many of them have grown so heavy that they are no longer able to make weight. Harrisburg Druggists Are Attending Convention

Druggists from all over the state, including a number of those of Harrisburg, are in Wilkes-Barre this week, attending the meeting of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association, which is being held at the Hotel Sterling in that city.

The first report made at the meeting on Tuesday last was presented by Croli Keller, of this city, who also suggested action on the part of the association looking toward assistance in the management of drugstores whose registered proprietors may be called to the colors during the war period. He also urged prompt action by all professional men to cooperate in every way with the United States Council of National Defense in combatting venereal diseases. combatting venereal diseases.
