

ARMY OF W. S. S. WORKERS IN DRIVE

[Continued from First Page.] committees of the size of a small army are aiding in the work in the smaller towns. Sites in Charge Frank C. Sites, chairman of the work in the county, who is largely responsible for the efficient corps of workers in the field to-day, believes that Harrisburg and the county will easily subscribe and over-subscribe its quota before the end of 1918 rolls around. Purchases and pledges already secured are fairly encouraging. "Harrisburg has been found ready to perform her duty in every patriotic campaign to date, and she will be there with the substance when this campaign ends," prominent workers say. Throughout the day reports of workers are being made at the headquarters in the Technical High school and in the Steel and Shimmel buildings. Reports will not be tabulated until late and it is not believed the final report will be issued until late to-day or early to-morrow. Early to-day Chairman Sites issued this statement: "Don't hesitate to take more than one War Savings Stamp. Don't think for a second that your duty halts with the purchase of one stamp or even 100 stamps. These stamps are the lines of communication established between our big Liberty Loans and any army general can tell you that the success of his armies depends on his lines of communication. "Harrisburg has never been a shirker of its duty. I don't expect her to fail to-day. To-day is the day President Wilson has set aside on which you may pledge yourselves to buy stamps. It means you shall pledge yourself to buy as many stamps as you can afford every month in the year. Don't stop with buying one stamp, pledge yourselves to buy one stamp every week or at least every month. The wealthy man is needed to back Harrisburg's unburnished record of succeeding in every patriotic effort undertaken and we depend on the wealthy man to-day to carry us over the top." "The average persons who purchased a Liberty Bond, feels that it was a wise and patriotic thing to do," the postmaster continued. "He is glad and proud that he owns that bond, and has it paid for. He is glad that he was able to do what he could to maintain our great democracy. Part Not Done "But your part has not been done when you purchased a Liberty Bond or a Thrift Stamp. Your part will only be done when this war is over and you have continued to buy Thrift Stamps with which the government can prosecute this war. "The shot that has been fired has done its work. The soldier must have the next shot to fire. His shoes are wearing out just like yours. He must have them replaced. He must have three meals a day, the same as you. He must have a comfortable bed. He must have warm clothing and the hospitals for the sick and crippled must be maintained. This cannot be done with the money that has already been expended, in equipping the boys who have gone to the front. "To-day is War Savings Stamp day all over the United States. Our boys are in Europe, fighting the battles. We are at home enjoying the comforts of home. They need comforts, but they need supplies worse and it is up to us to provide them. How can this be done? By buying War Savings Stamps. Not only buying them from now on, in such quantities that there will be no limit to the means placed in the United States Treasury for the prosecuting of this war to the limit. Buy Without Stint "This is a great national holiday. Meetings will be held in every corner of the country. You are not doing your duty when you buy a Thrift Stamp. But you will be doing your duty when you invest your money and win the war."

in War Saving Stamps just like you would invest in lands and buildings and goods which you might afterwards sell at a profit. The government is back of every dollar's worth of Stamps and the United States government is good for every obligation she makes. That is not questioned. "What you must do is buy Stamps and buy them without stint. If there is any stinting to do, begin that at home and provide the boys over there with the means to win this war and there will be plenty of time later on to enjoy some things that you can do without under present conditions. "The boys in the army have given all they have. You do not need to do that much. But you can invest your money in War Savings Stamps and win the war."

Postmaster Sites this morning emphasized the fact that citizens of the city must do their part in this campaign. He urged that every citizen of Harrisburg mail his pledge to the boys in the army. "The boys in the army have given all they have. You do not need to do that much. But you can invest your money in War Savings Stamps and win the war."

Amsterdam, June 28.—The Wolff Bureau, the semi-official German news agency, says it has learned from Russian sources that the former Russian emperor was murdered in a train while leaving Ekaterinburg immediately after that city had been captured by Czech-Slovak forces. The Wolff Bureau repeats the report that Alexis, the former Russian crown prince died a fortnight ago after a long illness.

Washington, June 28.—Further revelations by Dr. Muehlon, the director of the Krupp Company, who is in Switzerland, showing that Germany falsified stories of Russian atrocities during the early days of the war, are summarized in a dispatch from Berne. According to Dr. Muehlon, the commission of cabinet officers sent to East Prussia to investigate returned without evidence of atrocities and with a report that the population spoke in terms of praise of the conduct of the Russian soldiers. Dr. Muehlon also is quoted as saying that 13 August, 1914, high German officials boasted that Germany possessed the means of destroying Russia without a single battle.

Washington, June 28.—Ukraine newspaper reports quoted in German official wireless bulletins say the former Emperor Nicholas was killed by a Russian Red Guard in a personal quarrel. Another German bulletin stated rumors are current that the family of the Czar has been taken to Peruz. SNOW FALLS IN GERMANY; FROST DOES CROP DAMAGE London, June 28.—Snow has fallen to a depth of from one to three inches in several parts of Germany, according to a dispatch from Amsterdam to the Exchange Telegraph Company. Frost has caused havoc to the fruit trees. The cold wave, the message adds, is considered to be an economic catastrophe. Berlin and Hamburg have experienced four days of uninterrupted rain.

German Falsehood Is Laid Bare by Krupp Director
