Investigation in the coal mining industry reveals in the opinion of the commission that despite Government price fixing large margins of profit have been made. Ranges in the cost of production in a field having the same maximum prices has caused some operators to make small margins of profit and others large margins, the bulk of the production enjoying the large margin.

Profits Are Large

In the oil industry large profits are now being made in fuel oil and gasoline, the industry being one where the law of supply and demand still operates. The operation of this law is held to be in part responsible for the heavy profits, but a portion of the blame is laid to the spreading of false reports regarding supplies.

Steel companies made abnormal profits before the Government fixed
