Nothing Is So Uncertain as Life

Everyone learns, sooner or later, the truth of the old saying that nothing is so certain as the uncertainty of life. Just when things seem to be going smoothest a sudden death may upset every arrangement and unless provision has been made beforehand may entail hardship and suffering on those least able to endure them.

A carefully drawn Will and the appointing of this Company as Executor will safeguard against dangers of this kind. Our Officers make it a matter of personal duty to see that every duty laid upon the Company is faithfully carried out.
