

BRITISH FLYING ACE, BISHOP, HAS DOWNED 72 HUNS

Remarkable Record Causes Transfer of Airman From Front to London Office

London, June 29.—With seventy-two German airplanes brought down to his credit, the greatest number of enemy machines destroyed by any Entente airman so far, Major William A. Bishop has been transferred from the Canadian active force at the front to a position on the staff of the British chief of the air staff.

centage were Canadians. The squadron was equipped with the latest and best British fighting airplanes, and in the short time they have been at the front they have accounted for an extraordinary number of enemy machines.

Major Bishop's record of German airplanes brought down in aerial combat, if reckoned on the same basis as was that of the late Baron von Richtofen, the champion German airman, who counted a double-seated machine as two victories, would be well over the century mark.

WAR BOOKS LIDS CLOSE ON YEAR'S BIG EXPENDITURE

In Financial History Fiscal Period of Outlay One Hardly Dreamed Of

Washington, June 29.—The government to-day closed its books for the fiscal year just ending—the first full fiscal year in the war—and Monday will open its annual records. Cabinet members and other heads of departments will make reports to President Wilson, covering their stewardships of funds and responsibilities for the year closing to-day, or technically to-morrow.

In government financial history, the year will go down as a period of expense hardly dreamed of a decade ago. More than $12,500,000,000 is the actual outlay since July 1, 1917, to meet the multitude of big bills run up for the Army and Navy, the shipbuilding program, airplane construction, coast defense requirements, other government activities, and the needs of the allies for American loans to finance purchases of war materials in this country.

With the addition of the $1,200,000,000 which the government spent in the three months of war preceding this fiscal year, the war's cost in money to date has been $13,500,000,000.

War activities are now draining about $50,000,000 a day from the nation's public treasury, and in June the running expenses were greater than ever before, although loans to the allies dropped to less than in any month since April, 1917, when the United States became a belligerent.

Including estimates for the last two days of the month, not yet recorded, expenditures for June were about $1,500,000,000, or approximately the same as the record figure of May. Ordinary expenses for the month amount to about $1,250,000,000, a new high record, and payments to allies were approximately $236,000,000, less than half the $500,000,000 which the Treasury usually has figured as necessary to finance the allied purchases in the United States every month.

Receipts from taxes and other minor sources of revenue, receipts are expected to amount to more than $250,000,000. Payments on Liberty Bonds and certificates of indebtedness have yielded nearly $1,400,000,000.

Straining to the Last Point!

Anything can be overdone! 5c does not begin to pay for the cost of operating the cars; yet the street car service is going along.

A two-ton truck will carry more than two tons, perhaps three, perhaps more than three. But a little more than that will cause a breakdown.

A chain will hold until its weakest link is broken. The public wants and needs the street car service. It's an institution here to stay.

A business will run at a loss for a time; but the time is limited. Some link in the chain must soon break. Less cars must be used or more funds must be acquired to maintain equipment with which to operate.

Increasing operating expenses will weigh heavily on the back of the street car business—and the last straw will break the camel's back. We do not want less cars for Uncle Sam needs all the street cars kept running. Harrisburg is producing much war material and the people must get to and from work.

That's the history of business! It is far more advantageous to all the people in this community to pay enough carfare to cover the loss of running the cars than it is to cut down on the service.

We don't want to put a crimp in the street car service—neither does the public want that crimp put into it!

We know the public realizes the abnormal and burdensome conditions under which the street car business is done to-day.
