

GETTYSBURG TANKS TO TREAT WEST END ROUGH; HARRISBURG RIFLEMEN IN BIG MATCH

STEELTON FACES A BUSY WEEK

Two Games With the League Leaders, One With Bethlehem; Fore River Loses

FIRST BASEMAN KAUFMAN

The three Steel League games on Saturday drew tremendous crowds and such is the gathering of talent to the Schwab plants that quite as much general interest was manifested in the outcome of these battles as those of the big leagues. Steelton trimmed Fore River 6-2, with Eddie Plank in the box all the way, and that too, though his opponent was "Dutch" Leonard, former Red Sox star. Plank has been conscientiously working out every day at Cottage Hill and his careful training shows now in his success. Men on bases do not worry him, that's when he pitches his cleverest.

Manager Cockill again shifted his line-up, following his policy of getting a squad that can hit, run bases and show fast team work. He used young Al Kaufman, who recently came from the South, at first base in his regular position, and in his first game with Steelton, Kaufman made good by rapping out a clean single, which scored the always industrious Hunter who now leads the batting order. This Hunter is playing the finest ball of a long career. A quiet man, he delivers the goods, opening the run fest on Saturday with a hard wallop for two bases. This is the kind of a punch to have in a company which is constantly getting faster. Cockill's team looked good all over in this game. The box score shows how general was the hitting. Steelton has a great chance to crawl up further in the standing by taking two from Wilmington on July 4. If this should happen the team in Saturday's game and was particularly responsible for losing to Sparrows Point.

At Lebanon, Bill Ritter sang his swan song in the league by beating "Big Jeff" Terseu, of Bethlehem. The local leaguers not only have two games on the Fourth with Wilmington, but immediately following, on July 6, they encounter the swift Bethlehem team. Saturday's score:

TRAP, GUN and ROD

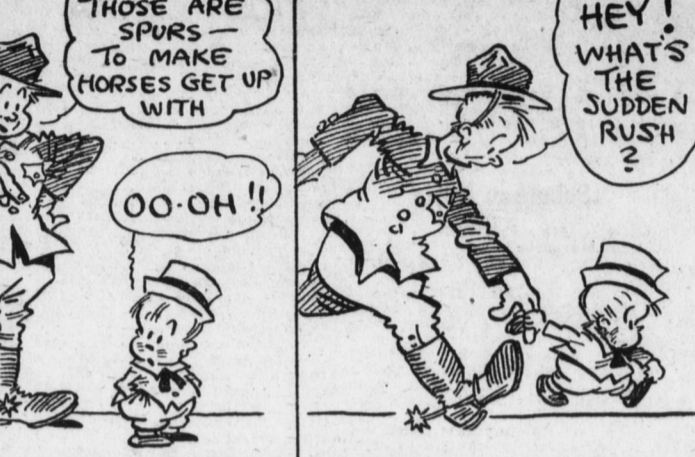

by Tom Marshall

Attention Americans! Politically we scrap. When a foreign foe assails us we are a unit and put up a solid front for the protection of our beloved country and flag against a common enemy. We stand by Uncle Sam and endorse our president, until the crack of doom, unless victory perches upon our banner prior to that time. We are into a real war, where no favors are shown, having resolved itself into the "survival of the fittest."

Is America a nation of skilled marksmen, emphatically yes, not only marksmen, but fight at the drop of the hat soldiers. The pioneer element of our country both male and female, were conversant with the use and handling of firearms, in the pursuit of game and securing of meat, which meant family sustenance. In every home in the outside districts of America, there is now standing in the corner a gun, which was in former days the family meal ticket. It may be an old Kentucky rifle with hammered barrel and a stock extending the full length of the barrel. A cow horn powder receptacle, scraped to a paper thickness and bent to conform to the body. Bullets run by hand, the patching having done duty as the tail of a shirt. A carefully adjusted flint fitted above the flash pan, with no guarantee that an explosion would occur when desired or the trigger pulled. The unwritten code of just enough powder to cover the bullet was the accepted law. The rifle was the family pride and dignity. It was the spinning wheel as a utility factor, both were family necessities. In those days all Americans were accredited marksmen, every man a made-to-order soldier ready to report any fight because he was able to accurately shoot, a requisite then or now. Pioneers in quest of game were continuously on the hike, their muscles became hardened, lungs taught to pump up the proper amount of ozone to fill his carburetor, speeding up his accelerator without evidence of exhaustion. They were ever trained soldiers. In offices and homes of the present generation a very different condition has prevailed. In the mad hustle, bustle and desire to acquire and spend money, the enjoyment of life in the open has been disregarded. Many phases of life in the present age has supplanted them in locating the ball on the green. The shooting spirit of 1776 has been a neglected art, eliminated by the passing of our pioneer relatives. Wake up, Americans, and again become a nation of skilled marksmen. This applies to both men and women and should be started at once, while a sufficient number of the "old guard" remain to teach and direct the rising generation along the proper lines. Citizens, regardless of sex, should be

Rifle Match on Saturday Best Ever Staged Here

Harrisburg and Keystone Clubs Aim to Turn Out Hundreds of Sharpshooters Who Will Help to Vanquish the Hun

The Conodoguinet range of the Harrisburg Rifle Club was the scene last Saturday, June 29, of possibly the most exciting rifle match ever held in the vicinity of the city of Harrisburg. During the season of 1917 the Harrisburg Rifle Club trimmed the P. R. R. Keystone Rifle Club three times in succession, each time with a ten-man team shooting from each club. This year the Keystone Club evened the score by decisively defeating the Harrisburg club on the Conewago range by a team total of sixteen points.

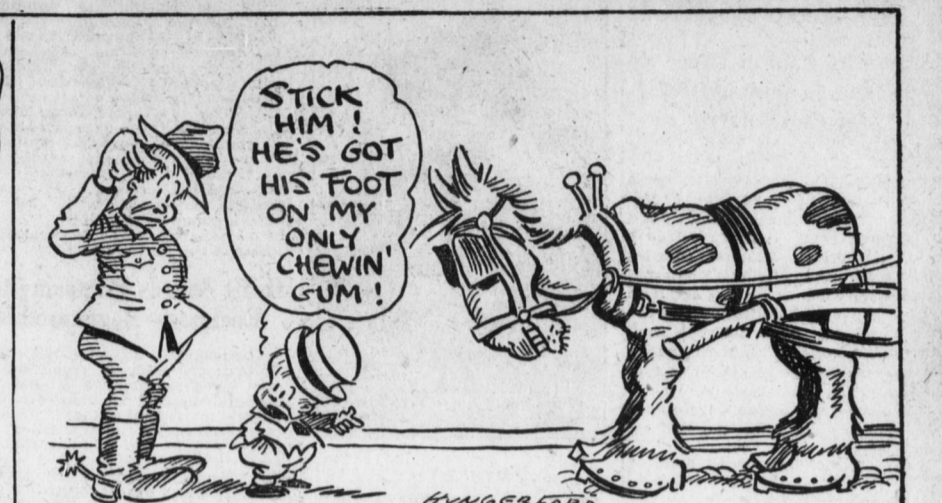

Saturday's match was the second of the three interclub matches for the year and was the most hotly contested match in the series, or in the history of either club. At the end of the 300-yard shoot, the Harrisburg club led by a scant total of three points, but at the longer range the Harrisburg club came across with a whirlwind finish and put on the most excellent team average of 90 8-10 per cent., or a total of 227 out of 250 points at 500 yards, and winning the match by a close total 13 points to 12.

Because of the fact that most of the players in the Allison Hill League will participate in various events on the Fourth of July, there will be no contest at Seventeenth and Chestnut streets on that evening. The regular game between Galahad and Reading will be played Friday night. "Bill" Hoerner is now playing the option for the Hick-A-Thrift team. He batted over .400 for Rosewood up until two weeks ago. Because of leaving the city Rosewood filled his place with another player. In the meantime "Bill" returned for the summer and was signed by the "Hickie" management. With the season well underway, being over half played, three teams are still in the running for the pennant. While the "Hickies" have one of the best teams in the league, Galahad seems to have lost its equilibrium since "Bill" left the team to enter the service. While the team is still in the running for first place, the aggregation has not held together as well since "Big Bill" left. Whenever Reading plays, Captain McCurdy entertains the fans after the contest with quotations from Shakespeare. Mack has quite a memory for poetry. Fans are of the opinion that there is better talent in the league than ever before. The best amateurs in the city are signed in the league. Four members of the Swartz clan play with the Reading nine. They are brothers and cousins. The Euker brothers are also with Reading. Rosewood has its Killingers, Earl and "Os" Waltz are another pair of brothers, but the former plays with Reading and the latter with Rosewood. Earl Waltz will likely twirl tonight against Hick-A-Thrift, while the latter team will be represented by either Eweler or Alcorn.

New York, July 1.—The claim that Handley Page, the British airplane constructor, could turn out 10,000 "super dreadnaughts" in the United States by April 1, 1919, was made in a formal statement by W. H. Workman, special representative in this country of Handley Page, Limited. These planes, Mr. Workman declared, could be landed in France, under their own power, with enough guns, bombs and aviators "to defeat the Germans within thirty to sixty days, if not sooner." After announcing that he had acquainted the War Department and the aircraft board with this proposition, Mr. Workman said he believed none of the 10,000 planes would be lost in transatlantic flights, and that with a British and an American aviator he would be willing to make the first flight, proceeding from New Foundland to France, via the Azores and Portugal. Asserting that he considers this route the best, he explained that a 7,000-foot volcano in the Azores would serve as one guide and suggested that "at least ten destroyers in a state of absolute readiness could be stretched out to act as lightships so that pilots of the airplanes would never be out of sight of a destroyer, together with their compasses and wireless." "Once this is started," he said, "there will be a continuous chain of airplanes connecting the United States with the continent of Europe, from early morning until late at night, one machine leaving every ten minutes every day." Mr. Workman said Mr. Page could hire here a staff of expert designers and turn out the machines in factories in Cleveland, Buffalo, Detroit and Grand Rapids, deliveries to start December 1, 1918. He added that in three days these planes could be flown from the Middle West to France, saving many tons of shipping. These 10,000 airplanes, he declared, could drop 35,000 tons of explosives on and behind the German lines each night, or the equivalent of 35,000 shells from "the biggest guns yet constructed."

MISS WYNN TALKS OF WAR SERVICE

Rotary Club Hears Charming Little Singer Just Home From War Countries

Bessie Wynn, the charming little songstress who is singing at the Majestic Theater this week, addressed the Rotary Club at its noon luncheon in the Y. M. C. A. to-day, telling of her war work in France and England, where she has been for the past three years. Miss Wynn has spent most of her time singing for countless thousands of weary or wounded soldiers, some times while the big guns were roaring in the immediate distance and again while bombing German airplanes were trying to smash a British hospital where she was giving an entertainment, and she brings to her fellow Americans a message of hope and good cheer. Having delivered it she will return to her work "over there," where she will remain until the close of the war.

Miss Wynn's recital was so dramatic and her message to the women of the country so impressive that the Rotarians invited her to address another meeting of the club Wednesday at noon, when the wives and friends of the Rotarians will be invited. The club decided to-day to give $25 toward the Fourth of July celebration and to march in the parade, following an address by ex-president Arthur D. Bacon. Arch Dinsmore asked the club to cooperate in making the annual Y. M. C. A. boys' camp near Inglenook a success and G. M. Stelmets, vice-president, who was in the chair in the absence of Eli N. Hershey, president, appointed Al K. Thomas, John S. Musser and J. William Bowman a committee to aid the association in any way possible. John Heathcote reported in favor of the organization of a War Savings Stamp Society in the club and this will be done at the meeting next Monday.

The United States government is granting another free issue of both .30 and .22 caliber ammunition to these clubs for the use of the men of the vicinity. The efficiency of the soldiers of this city will not be measured by the number of them that are in the Army, but by the number of Germans that they kill. To be of effective use in the Army anyone must be able to hit what they shoot at and there is no better, cheaper, quicker and more absolutely certain way to obtain that ability than under the instruction of expert rifle shots on the ranges of these two rifle clubs. We will be glad to see Harrisburg avail themselves of this opportunity.

Famous Athletes Drop in Last Hun Drive

London, July 1.—Many famous British sportsmen have fallen in the recent severe fighting on the western front, among them "Johnny" Bull, the celebrated boxer, well known in this country, who lies in a French hospital, seriously wounded. He visited America in 1907 and boxed all the leading lightweights. In 1909 he defeated "Jimmy" Britt in twenty rounds in London, losing a few months later to "Freddy" Welch. Captain E. C. Rice, the British Olympic sprinter, who represented the United Kingdom at Stockholm in 1912, has also been wounded. He won the United Hospital sprint on several occasions in the years 1906 to 1910.

Thousands Crowd Streams on Opening of Bass Season

Every fishin' hole noted for bass was so crowded early this morning, opening day for the delicious water game, that some of the returned Waltons had to call on first aid. The call must have incited Harrisburg's entire quota of bass fishers to judge by the mob gathered at Oyster's Dam on the Conodoguinet. "It was only 3 a. m. when I reached there," related one of the enthusiasts as he flopped back into town, water soaked and dazed, "but there must have been 150 ahead of me. It is only a small pool and, men alive, we were walking all over one another. Ten men got their lines tangled, and when I beat it the prospects were for a free-for-all battle. "Bass? Say, if a bass had wandered into that place he would have been trampled to death in five minutes. There wasn't room for the fishermen, let alone fish. The water was too muddy, anyhow, for good fishing. I counted forty automobiles collected at this one place, with more coming."

GOLF TROPHY FOR FRANK PAYNE

The rich golf trophy offered by Edward A. Herman, president of the Harrisburg Country Club, is now the property of Frank Payne, who won Saturday's tournament in a big and clever field of contestants at the club links. Payne carried a handicap of two, his gross score being 78, net score 76. Next to him came Miller and Samuel Todd finished third.

Human Fish Insures His Feet For $50,000

According to Owen Herrick, of Honolulu, Duke Kahanamoku, prior to leaving Honolulu, had his feet insured for $50,000 with Pacific Mutual. Several of the best swimmers in the world had their feet insured, but the Duke went to extremes and got his "pedals" insured. Duke learned to use his feet to advantage by watching the propellers of the steamers as they churned the water in the harbor at Honolulu. His "kick" is not so high as that of other noted swimmers, but the way he uses his feet, says Herrick, he gets every ounce of power out of them when he is racing. Several of the best swimmers in the islands have patterned their style after Hawaii's foremost merman.

NO NEED OF JURORS IN TWO STATE COUNTIES
By Associated Press
Williamsport, Pa., July 1.—There being no prisoners in the Clinton jail at Lock Haven awaiting trial, Sheriff William Rathgeber will tomorrow notify the jurors summoned for the July term of court not to appear. The same conditions exist at Danville, where the Montour county jail, reported empty at the last quarter sessions, is still without a prisoner.
