FRENCH HIT ENEMY A HARD BLOW

which lies seven miles southwest of Antheuil.

Develop Successes Further to the southeast along the line, the French continued to develop successes yesterday, gaining additional ground yesterday, Marne front, east of the Metz forest, by forcing the Germans back further in the vicinity of the Charleville front.

On the British front there were no raiding operations. The Germans, however, apparently are attempting a counter-attack to regain the positions recently taken by the Australians, with American assistance, in the Amiens area south of the Somme. The German guns opened fire actively on the British lines in this region.

Report Activity The French war office reports considerable artillery activity to the west and north of Charleville on the Marne front, where the Americans are holding several miles of the line.

French troops again have been successful in a resumption of the "nibbling" tactics which the allied command has followed while the Germans prepare for a new blow. The fighting activity on the western front, however, still is much localized. From the enemy lines come no indications that the Germans are about to strike.

Important positions on a front of two miles to a depth of two-thirds of a mile and 350 prisoners were taken by the French in their latest effort in the region of Longpont, northeast of Villers-Cotterets. The sector on which the gain was made is just south of where the French last week made important local gains in the region of St. Pie d'Aigle and northward for six miles toward the Aisne. No counterattacks have been made by the enemy, nor has he struck back at the Australians in their new position astride the Somme.

Huns Dilled For Drive For several weeks the Germans have been drilling and instructing special attacking divisions behind the German lines, leaving the front positions to be manned by reserve troops. German aerial activity has decreased in the past few days and it is probable the airmen also are making ready for the next onslaught. The German air force has increased to above normal only on certain sectors.

It is not unlikely the enemy will depend on the element of surprise in the impending blow against the British. The British and the attack against the Chemin-des-Dames.

Bomb German Cities While the Germans have been spreading reports of an attack against the British, it now is known they have not constructed defense works on the front between Soissons and Rheims. The usual interval between enemy offensive movements has about expired.

Entente armies are keeping up an active bombardment of the area behind the German lines. British forces again have invaded German, dropping bombs on Kaiserlautern, Metz, and on Luxembourg. In aerial fighting British and French airmen have accounted for twenty-five German machines.

Patrol activity and local operations are increasing in number on the Italian mountain front. On the lower Piave the Austrians, it is estimated, lost 20,000 men killed, wounded and prisoner in the action last week in which they were driven back across the river, relieving somewhat the pressure against Venice.

In Western Albania French and Italian troops are withstanding strong counterattacks by the Austrians. All positions have been maintained on the heights of Bolnia and slight progress made elsewhere.

Various reports of happenings in Russia in connection with the murder of German Ambassador Von Mirbach lack official confirmation. Germany, apparently, has not yet acted. An advance toward Moscow has been reported, although the Germans have had large forces of troops near Smolensk, 250 miles west of Moscow.

JOBLESS SCURRY FOR SOME WAR WORK TO DO

Streets Cleared of Loiterers For First Time in Years When the Work-Weary Are Faced With Jail Sentences or Army as Alternatives.

A careful scrutiny this morning of the favorite corners where the city's idlers and loafers congregated, failed to show a single jobless son of Rest, Captain Thompson, of the police department, made a round of the various habitats of the loafers and reported the complete absence from the streets of any loafers.

The patrolmen meanwhile are keeping a sharp lookout on their beats, and will nab this type of loafer and hand them before the Mayor. Men who work a few hours around a hotel, railroad station, livery stable or garage a day will be told by police to get real jobs.

The practice of loafing three days around working four days a week will not pull the wool over the eyes of the police. Men will serve steady time either at useful occupations or in jail, the police say. Panhandlers will receive short shift at the hands of the police.

It is known that hundreds of men who have been idling are scurrying around to-day looking for jobs. At the same time police are scurrying around looking for the jobless. The streets will be kept clean of loafers for the remainder of the war.

Many laborers, the police say, secure jobs with one of the contractors near the city, and work a few days in order to secure their buttons and prove they have jobs. After that they loaf on the streets. The police will nab this type of loafer and hand them before the Mayor. Men who work a few hours around a hotel, railroad station, livery stable or garage a day will be told by police to get real jobs.

Penrose Aids in Fight Against "Dry" Nation; Raises Point of Order

Washington, July 9.—As a first step in the fight against national prohibition as war measure, Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, today raised a point of order against the inclusion of the amendment prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors after January 1 next, on the grounds that it was added as a rider to the $11,000,000 emergency agricultural appropriation bill in violation of rules.

As a number of Senators desire to discuss the question, Senator Penrose announced that he would not ask a ruling at this time. The Senate then took up the further consideration of uncontested amendments.

The raising of a point of order did not prevent the bill from passing by surprise as this had been anticipated. In view of the fact that the amendment, which not only prevents the sale of distilled spirits, beer and wine after the first of next year, but prohibits the manufacture of beer and wine after November 1 next, is a substitute for the Randall prohibition amendment inserted by the House, they contended it would not be subject to a point of order.

Germans Face Meatless Week Every Month

Amsterdam, July 9.—Regulations passed by the Reichstag last week, which require that in August, according to the Berlin Tageblatt.

In the Reichstag on Saturday Deputy Matzinger, a member of the Centre party, moved against the further supplies of grain being sent to Austria.

Deputy Wila, a Socialist, asserted that further reduction in rations was unbearable. Many persons, he said, had died of hunger. Unemployment was increasing in Berlin and wages were insufficient to procure the necessary food. To terminate the war, the speaker added, would be a greater economic gain than the conquest of a province would be.
