the Majestic Theater
An elephant act, a magician of unusual ability, several songsters and a vaudeville sketch that is really excellent, round out a good bill at the Majestic the latter half of this week. Fowers' elephants are the headliner. It is an animal act with a few unusual features and much of the old circus stunt.

Canaris and Cleo—A man and woman, the latter acting as assistant in an act billed as a "burlesque magic offering." The audience aids in the tricks. Startling is one in which a lemon, an egg and a canary brid are taken from an orange. The act is deserving of a better place on the bill.

Story and Clark—Better singing as often been heard here. The xylophone solo by the man is clever.

"Boing Her Bit"—A charming little war comedy with a blustery old uncle, a "henpecked" mother and in her darling daughter who turns out to be a heroine. Miss May Fowler as at the daughter plays her part realistically. Robert Lovett as the uncle and Katherine Blandon, as mother, are fine.

Cook and Savo—A pair of male comedians. With a few more jokes that the audience could appreciate the act would go big. Clownish tricks put he act over.

Towers' Elephants—The usual circus elephant stunts are given by these mastodons. They shoot a cannon, play baseball and as a feature, and elephant carrying a Red Cross flag adds a patriotic touch.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and releanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, birth, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very scheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Advertisement.
