seven hundred students transferred to other Indian schools.

The Carlisle Indian Training School was established in 1879 by Lieutenant R. H. Clark, now General Clark, of Denver. The school has since been very successful and has graduated a total of approximately 4,000 students.

Fifty Buildings. Approximately fifty buildings are located on the property of the institution. The total valuation is approximately $250,000.

The Carlisle Indian School has gained a wide reputation by the charter of the students sent out from it. It has been successful from the first. Its athletic teams always made enviable showings.

During the Revolution substantial buildings were erected at Carlisle by the Hessians prisoners captured at Trenton and it was there that it was occupied as a military post, being the headquarters for cavalry until 1872, at which time the troops were transferred to St. Louis.

KIWANIS CLUB TO AID Y. M. C. A.

GET SECRETARIES TO BE OPENED

Committee Named to Assist Big Organization in Stupendous War Work

At a routing meeting of the Kiwanis Club, held at noon today in the assembly room of the Central Y. M. C. A. building, it was unanimously decided that the organization will assist the Harrisburg campaign committee in securing candidates for enlistment as Y. M. C. A. secretaries and messengers.

The committee, consisting of Al. K. Thomson, chairman, Charles R. Beckley, Frank Williams, William P. Miller and T. H. Hamilton, was appointed to assist the main recruiting committee and the members of the club pledged themselves to help in every way. It is probable that some of the Kiwanians will do the "Y" uniform as a direct result of today's meeting.

The Kiwanis club is the first organization of the city that has been approached by the committee. It is also the first Harrisburg organization that has unanimously pledged its aid to the campaign.

Former Mayor J. William Bowman and E. J. Claster, Harrisburg, were present at the meeting. Mr. Bowman, chairman of the Harrisburg recruiting committee, and Mr. Stockpole, chairman of the state recruiting committee, Mr. Bowman emphasized the need of men to volunteer as Y. M. C. A. secretaries for war work in France.

"General Pershing has stated that he would rather have 500 men who have been under the influence of the Y. M. C. A. than 1,000 men who have not been under the 'Y' influence," he declared. "The Y. M. C. A. is a great factor in strengthening the morals of the boys." He outlined some of the openings for men and said the kind needed are those who are willing to serve.

E. J. Stackpole, chairman of the state recruiting committee, followed with a strong plea for recruits. "The Y. M. C. A. is a reblooded organization," he declared, speaking from a changed viewpoint which he declared was brought about by the war. "The cream of the business community is enlisting for Y. M. C. A. war work in France," he asserted, and asked the aid of the club in recruiting the workers so badly needed.

Plans for the club picnic to be held at the home of H. C. Claster, Summerdale, were discussed. Committees were appointed and arrangements made for the big festivity. Members of the club will be the guests of Mr. Claster. Mr. Claster, Schmidt is in charge of the arrangements.

William H. Brown, of Brown and Company, was awarded the attendance award for some time but tonight will be run as a complete unit, turning out vast quantities of ice cream to be shipped all over Central Pennsylvania. The cream is made in full view of the public and every evening every part of the plant is washed and scrubbed.

The Hershey Company was organized in 1903 by four Hershey brothers, who have had in all about twenty years' experience in the establishment and operation of creameries throughout York, Adams, Cumberland, Dauphin and Lebanon counties. The motto of the firm is that of the Rotary Clubs of the world, "Service above self."

NEW HERSHEY CREAMERY PLANT TO BE OPENED

Conditions Bad Here

"I have noted conditions surrounding the homes of workers who do not control where they live but must go where economic conditions put them, in hundreds of American communities. I know of none in which the conditions are worse than in Harrisburg, and few nearly so bad. Our reluctance to buy close-building idea and other thoughtless tenor to grasping real estate owners to build on back lots, have put us far down the line in present broad-minded economic considerations."

"In suggesting attention, something like ten years ago, to certain eminent and public-spirited Harrisburg citizens on this important subject, I was met with the rather brutal comment that the question of housing was wholly a question of supply and demand and that if houses were wanted they would promptly be built."

"We know now that is both true and untrue. So far as the building of houses is concerned, it is true that they will be built on just as little land as will serve as stables for the animals that are to be housed. The plan is to build on just as little land as will serve as stables for the animals that are to be housed. The plan is to build on just as little land as will serve as stables for the animals that are to be housed."

"But now the demand for labor everywhere. It is a loud demand. Labor is no longer compelled to remain near any particular item of work. It is free to go where it will flow not only to the best wages but to the better living conditions."

"Other Cities Ahead" "Harrisburg has been established against her progress and population the handicap of ill-considered and utterly uncontrolled industrial housing relations. Meanwhile, Williamsport has gone ahead and built a creditable district which is successfully competing for people who ought to be in Harrisburg. The great ship building works, which is located in Bristol, Pennsylvania, is responsible for a model residence in which is so much better than any other in the city of Harrisburg available to the average workman, that there will be no doubt about the ability of this town to take away its residents to live and work in Harrisburg. Sibley town is a mighty poor competitor against the fine industrial community which has been created just outside of Camden, only a few miles away from us."

"When asked concerning what action he sought to be taken to put Harrisburg on a par with other cities in competition for working industrial population, Mr. McFarland replied: "We need first of all a broad and comprehensive zoning plan. It is abundant and favorable opportunity for our own City Planning Commission to create if it is so minded. It is the duty of the city's borders in such fashion as to practically enforce modern ideals instead of the ancient methods yet prevalent among us."

"We need also to enter and act upon the zoning and districting scheme, not at all understood in Harrisburg, but by which values can be assured."

"Zoning implies the establishment of particular zones in which there are no other zones, in which business only, of which residential only, of which industrial establishments may be located. The place in which it is located is not to be used for any other purpose. Such work has already bound itself to a definite zoning and districting plan. New York city is completely up-to-date, before finally settling upon plans Mr. Hershey traveled all over the East examining ice cream plants and studying creameries. He has tried to combine in his own plant all the best ideas of all others and experts who have inspected it say he has done most remarkably. More than fifty men are required to keep the local plant in operation."

Eli N. Hershey, treasurer and manager, is a brother of I. N. Hershey, of Elizabethtown, the president, and is one of the best known businessmen of the city. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, president of a parent-teacher association, member of the Y. M. C. A. and president of the Rotary Club. He has traveled widely in Europe and elsewhere and is a thorough student of his business.

The big plant will be open to the public to-morrow evening, the Stevens Memorial orchestra will play and ice cream will be served to those who attend.
