

TAKEN THIRRY WARM WELCOME

Woman Rushes From Cellar Crying Thanks For Presence of Americans

With the Americans at the Marne, July 22.—A war correspondent describes the evacuation of Chateau Thierry in this fashion: Yesterday morning, an hour after the Germans had evacuated Chateau Thierry, we marched into the city following a squadron of French dragoons and mounted American troops.

Out of a cellar she entered, came rushing a little old woman, a widow she was, we learned later, and loudly thanked God that the town had been delivered from the hands of the Germans.

She rushed up to me and kissed me on both cheeks. Then a cobbler, 95 years old, duplicated this expression of joy after asking pardon.

Just then a French artillery general arrived in an armored automobile. The aged woman kissed him and he leaned over and kissed her cheeks.

Immediately a stream of armored machines came dashing into the city carrying three-inch and machine guns. Dragoons and lancers came drawing field guns, which were soon placed in position on the heights north of Chateau Thierry.

The German infantry is falling back in an easterly direction. Americans sprang across the Marne over pontoons and steel boats provided by engineers.

Now a covering movement is under way toward the Aisne. The French and Americans are attacking astride the Oise in an easterly direction, forging ahead in a plain from the outlet through which the Germans are retreating.

Americans Wrest Fresh Victories From Foe, Taking 6,000 Men, Says Pershing

Washington, July 22.—Fresh successes for the American forces in their drive between the Aisne and the Marne were reported in General Pershing's communique for yesterday, received to-day at the War Department.

More than six thousand prisoners, over one hundred cannon and many trench mortars and machine guns have been taken by American divisions in the last few days on the Aisne-Marne front, General Pershing reported.

Section A—Between the Aisne and the Marne we took the Germans' trench lines and captured more than 6,000 prisoners, more than one hundred cannon and many trench mortars and machine guns have been taken by our divisions.

Section B—There is nothing to report in this section.

Girl Asks $5,000 Damages, Alleges Breach of Promise

Charging James Castiglia, 263 Ann street, Middletown, with failing to keep his promise to marry her, Mamie Purcell, Hershey, has brought a damage suit against him for $5,000 through counsel had a capias issued. Castiglia is now in the custody of the sheriff and if he does not furnish a $1,000 bail bond he will be sent to jail.

The girl claims that in September, 1916, Castiglia asked her to marry him, and after consulting her parents, she consented to the marriage. In 1917, he became of age, she alleges, and during that time and until late in the summer made repeated statements that he would marry her, although his parents opposed it, and if necessary, would elope with her.

YANKEE TROOPS TAKE IMPORTANT R. R. LINES

through the city itself. Progress east and north by the French and Americans continued throughout Sunday.

Huns Get Terrible Pounding The Germans north of the Marne were subjected to a terrible pounding from the allied artillery today. They responded heartily although unsuccessfully. The allied artillerymen were feeling out the German rear lines with telling effect, making the enemy's rear guard action costly.

Prisoners captured near Chateau Thierry confirmed the soundness of General Foch's plan when they declared a German retreat became imperative on account of decreased supplies. Stores of both ammunition and foodstuffs were becoming low, they said, and the officers had reported that it virtually was impossible to resist.

Supply Lines Cut Orders had been issued, the prisoners added, to retreat to a point ten miles north, but the indications to-night were that the Germans would not for long be permitted to remain that close to Marne, for the allied flanking movement is progressing steadily.

Both the railroads and the wagon roads over which the enormous stores for the German forces must pass are so menaced as to make them unusable.

Streams of prisoners were being taken to the rear all day Sunday. Since Thursday the Americans have captured German soldiers representing ten different divisions.

NAVY SEARCHES FOR HUN U-BOAT

close enough to the periscope positively to identify it as a part of a submarine.

His report placed the submarine well within the American zone. Other reports of the presence of the undersea boat also have been received but not in all cases have the boats been attacked. A feature of the attack yesterday was the fact that the submarine opened fire without warning. In all other reported cases of attack upon American coastwise boat, warning was given.

Orleans, Mass., July 22.—Efforts were made today to locate the U-boat which sank the tugboat 'Perth Amboy' off Cape Cod on July 19. A search party of the U.S. Navy is now in the area.

Yankee Hikers in Columns There are columns of Americans "hiking" along the valleys beside fast running trout streams, and up and down or around the hills with which these areas are studded. You see them off duty in all the farm yards and up all the lanes. They are wandering about on the hills, getting the lay of the land, and sometimes stepping aside to gather the poppies, blue bells, daisies and buttercups.

Large Crowd Sees Attack The attack was witnessed by large crowds of natives and summer visitors who had flocked to the Cape Cod peninsula to see the U-boat hunt. The attack occurred only a few miles from the Cape Cod peninsula.

Collier Probably Real Prey The appearance of the raider so near the Cape Cod peninsula, and the fact that it was a torpedo boat, caused a great deal of excitement among the natives of the Cape Cod peninsula.

Captain Ainslie Struck Down Captain J. H. Tapley, who was in his cabin at the time, ran out on the deck to see the U-boat. He was struck down by a shell which hit him in the chest.

Interlopers Boy Defiant When the U-boat appeared out of the fog, the interlopers, who were in the boat, were ordered to get out. One of the interlopers, a young boy, refused to get out and was shot.

BRITISH ZONE EVER WHERE IN

Yankees Scattered Behind Lines; Sound of Mouth Organ Is Heard

Headquarters American Troops with the British Forces in France, July 22.—American soldiers are now spread all over the back areas of the British zone in France. So thick are they it is impossible to miss them out of doors. If one goes to a town, one does not meet in groups on the roads, but seen sitting in circles around British non-commissioned officers listening to lectures on quick firing or doing gas mask drill in the trenches.

There are columns of Americans "hiking" along the valleys beside fast running trout streams, and up and down or around the hills with which these areas are studded. You see them off duty in all the farm yards and up all the lanes.

There are Americans in the villages buying knick-knacks, sunning themselves on the lawns, and playing ball occasionally, not often, for sporting articles are quite scarce as American tobacco here where the American Y. M. C. A. Christian Association has not yet penetrated effectively.

American airs are heard everywhere—sung, whistled or played on an instrument. The French are strange to these parts as were the bag-pipes four years ago—the mouth organ.

The pipes and the mouth organ come together frequently where the Scotch and Americans are billeted in close proximity as to facilitate an exchange of amenities. If the overseas boys haven't got time to appreciate all the beauties of the pipes, the Scotchman dances to almost any kind of music.

REGISTERED MEN TO GET TRAINING WITH RESERVES

Central Pennsylvania Counties to Follow General Crowder's Advice

Plans to give every registered man in the county an opportunity to learn military tactics before he is called under way by William Jennings, chairman of the Dauphin county public safety committee this morning.

The plans will include three nights of drill every week, when members of the Harrisburg Reserves will meet the draft eligibles on the Island Park playground and drill them in infantry military tactics. Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday nights of this week the drills will take place. To-night Mr. Jennings will make arrangements for the drills to take place on the island every Monday, Wednesday and Friday evening.

"I would suggest that every draft man, liable to military service, take advantage of the opportunity for it will do him a lot of good to secure the preliminary training in military tactics," Mr. Jennings said this morning.

Movement Grows The movement is not local. The chairman of the public safety committee, Mr. Jennings, said, is to maintain the morale of the untrained men. Mr. Jennings said, is to maintain the morale of the untrained men.
