

CHANGE WHEAT RAISING PLAN

State Expert Advocates New Rotation in Fields Which Have Not Raised Wheat

Some interesting suggestions have been made by Dr. John H. Rosenberger, one of the experts of the State Department of Agriculture, regarding the raising of wheat, and urges that serious thought be given to grain at once. "There are thousands of acres of land farmed under a three-year rotation of corn, oats and clover. Much of this land could be turned to a four-year rotation, having wheat follow the oat crop and then to grass, says he. "So long as farms can operate the former rotation with more profit they are not likely to change to a four-year rotation unless wheat pays pretty well on these less favorable wheat soils. The biggest problem before us is to make a price high enough, so that men operating these less favorable soils may do so without undue risk of loss. "Pennsylvania has her share of these less favorable wheat soils throughout the northern counties. The writer just returned from an extended tour through these counties. While not much wheat is grown here and there could be observed a fine field of wheat. These fields show what might be done by growing wheat in these counties if proper care be given to acclimated varieties and early seeding on good seed beds. Our big problem right now is to find acclimated seed. "These farmers, assisted by use of farm tractors, with preparation of good seed beds for early seeding, locating good northern ground acclimated varieties of seed, and testing same with the State Bureau of Markets, are bound to increase production in Pennsylvania the coming year."

Gustav Kobbe Killed by Sea Plane Aviator

New York, July 20.—Gustav Kobbe, author and musical critic of the New York Herald, was killed while sailing a small boat on the Great South Bay, by a student aviator in a seaplane. The plane had dropped on the surface of the bay a few hundred feet from Mr. Kobbe's boat, and when the aviator tried to rise in the face of the wind, he was driven against Mr. Kobbe's boat, and he was killed by the impact. The plane was flying at a height of about 200 feet. The aviator, a student pilot, was flying over the bay and was attempting to land. The plane struck the boat and Mr. Kobbe was killed. The plane was damaged and the aviator was uninjured. The body was recovered and is being kept in a morgue. The cause of the accident is being investigated.

Armed Police Stand Guard in Riot Zone

Philadelphia, July 30.—The disturbed section in South Philadelphia where frequent riots broke out in the last two days between whites and blacks with the result that several persons were killed and more than two score injured, was today still under a heavy armed guard of police, home defense reserves and detachments of sailors and marines from the Navy Yard. "There have been no disorders in the affected zone since last night when a crowd attempted to burn a house occupied by a negro family. Little damage was done."

COMEDY BILL AT MAJESTIC

Knute Erickson and Charlie Ahern Are Best Laugh Producers on Program

Comedy rules on the Majestic bill for the first three of the week, with Knute Erickson and Charlie Ahern getting the best results. The entire program is a good one, including an acrobatic turn, two songsters and a comedy sketch. "House of Hate."—Regular patrons are showing increased interest in the first three nights of the first program, scores of late arrivals stayed to see the pictures, an unusual occurrence. The episode shown this week is only a repetition of the usual revolver duels and other melodramatic scenes. "Melville and Hamilton."—Many people coming to see the second show failed to see the entire opening offering in this act, because of the large crowd who left the theater after the picture. In the evening a delay of a minute or two after the film is shown, which would help the situation. "Dorothy Toye and Sister."—The song program by this pair is an enjoyable one. Some of the numbers are: "One For All and All For One," "Loving Eyes," and "The Misers," from Verda's "Il Trovatore." The dual voice numbers are both unusual and entertaining. "Millyou, Kough and Company."—The sketch is good and seems to please the audience. Last night, however, it was a bit draggy. A little more ginger would put the audience on edge and entertain. "Knute Erickson."—Knute needed no introduction last evening. His appearance before the audience brought him his applause, and as he continued his comic ramblings and foolish ditties he made his new admirers. He is assisted by Flavia Arcaro. "Charlie Ahern."—Tramp comedian Ahern's act is a good one. This one is no exception, carrying the audience away in a storm of hilarity. His act is well timed and has some original ideas to make the folks laugh, and there isn't a lisp unspelled orchestra start at the closing number. MAX ROBERTSON.

Bogus Major Said to Have Passed Bad Checks

The toils are closing tighter on the alleged major of infantry, artillery, cavalry, and every other service, who goes by any name he sees fit, according to Lieutenant Lesher of the Harrisburg recruiting station, and issues ten-day furloughs to himself whenever the money runs out, and signs his name to checks, "just because he has the money," he says. He admits he has nothing in the bank. "Authorities from Washington are expected to take the man into custody within twenty-four hours." He was arrested by State Police near Lancaster last week, and claimed to be a major. The authorities at Fort Monro, where he claims he is stationed, reported in answer to Lieutenant Lesher's telegram that they know nothing of the man. A doctor he referred to as his uncle, living in Virginia, also telegraphed that he does not know the man. He has admitted cashing several bogus checks, and is known to have used four or five aliases.

They were taken to the Columbia Hospital and it is stated that authorities were requested not to reveal the identity of the fliers.

PANTANG PARK THEATER Vaudeville Specialties.

It's a mighty good thing Charlie Ahern, the comedy feature of the Majestic bill, is closing the week at the Pantang Park. The "Cost Life Cabaret" incorporates about everything there is in vaudeville, from the itinerant circus to the graceful art of tightrope, and it even touches slightly on the spectacular. There are acrobats, dancers and dwarfs and musicians, athletes and bicyclists, all devoting with a view to exciting hilarious laughter, in which it is eminently successful throughout. As a warm weather offering the could be none more appropriate, as one is certain to forget the torrid atmosphere in the city when one goes to see this show, which pervades it from beginning to end. The old Orpheum favorite, Knute Erickson, also on hand with a brand-new act, his fairly sparkling wit, the brightest witticisms and unexpended antics calculated to create a good-humored feeling. He is supported by the well-known musical comedy artist, Flavia Arcaro. She is of appealing personality and melodious voice. Dorothy Toye and Sister present a dainty little classic of artistic distinction that lends a touch of elegance to the program. Millyou, Kough and Company, in a pungent political satire, and McGraw and Hamilton, in an athletic novelty, round out an unusually attractive program.

The beautiful Broadway star, Alice Brady, will be shown at the Colonial Theater for the last time this week in "The Whirlpool." The story is a beautiful girl decoy of gamblers, and she justifies her conduct through heroic sacrifice. Miss Brady is said to be one of the best pieces of acting in her career, and whereas another actress less gifted than she might overdo the part and make it fall flat, Brady has herself well in hand and endows the leading role with an abundance of grace and charm. Wednesday and Thursday, "Good Night, Paul," will be the attraction, featuring charming Constance Talmadge, an adaptation from the musical comedy success.

Pleasant audiences saw "Shark Monroe," yesterday, and others will see it today and to-morrow. Telling tale in "Shark Monroe" life in the North Hart portrays the role of a notorious skipper of a sealing schooner plying between Seattle and Alaskan ports. It is on one of these trips that he meets the woman who holds the power to melt and change a notoriously hard character, and this makes the story so interesting and the scenes give added thrill.

Scene after scene of intensified interest held the great crowds at the Victoria Theater yesterday when Dorothy Phillips in "A Soul for Sale" yesterday during the showing of the famous motion picture drama, featuring Dorothy Phillips in "A Soul for Sale." The story has to do with the manner in which a thoughtless mother offers her daughter in the marriage market so as to insure her own life in the home comforts and luxuries she has always been accustomed to, but now denied since the death of the girl's father. The scene shows a raging fire, while another thriller comes in the form of racing automobiles speeding toward a high cliff, a plunge from which means instant death. For to-morrow Taylor Holmes, in "Uneasy Money," will be the attraction.

The vaudeville bill at the Pantang Park Theater, this week, is a show well calculated to follow the musical comedies of the past. The park audiences have been accustomed to for the past five weeks. Every act of the bill is a strong card and the show kept the park audience either applauding or laughing from the time the curtain went up on Prevost and Goulet, in their clever knockabout acrobatic comedy, until the finale curtain fell on Perrilli's Circus, with his wonderfully trained dogs. The feature of the park bill is rightfully belongs to them. Other acts on the park bill worthy of special mention are Gilbert Loses, the man with the triple voice, and Lantia and Randall, in a sensational dancing and singing offering.

Y. M. C. A. Recruiting Committee Sends Over Two Representatives William E. Jackson, recently accepted for Y. M. C. A. service in France, leaves today to take up his new duties. Mr. Jackson is a resident of New Buffalo and for some time has been professor of French and German at the Harrisburg Academy. His departure was reported to the Harrisburg Recruiting Committee, through whom his application was made, at its meeting in the Y. M. C. A. building today.

The committee received urgent request from headquarters to enlist skilled automobile mechanics for service overseas. Practical men in this line are sorely needed—more indeed than are secretaries. The Y. M. C. A. war committee also has need for a large number of men for work in the camps of this country.

State Commerce Chamber Names Committee to Study National Tax Legislation

Alba B. Johnson, president of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce, has announced the appointment of the following special committee on national tax legislation to make a comparative study of the revenue bill now being prepared by the House committee on Ways and Means with existing tax legislation: Louis T. McFadden, chairman; H. D. Shute, East Pittsburgh; Fayette R. Plumb, Philadelphia; Paul Littlefield, secretary, Harrisburg. Mr. McFadden is a member of Congress from the Fourteenth Pennsylvania District, a prominent minority member of the House Banking and Currency committee, and an expert on banking, currency and federal taxation. Mr. Shute is at present vice-president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company and was for a number of years its treasurer. Fayette R. Plumb is president of the Fayette R. Plumb Inc. Co., and is well informed on corporation tax problems. A member of this committee attended many of the public hearings of the House Ways and Means committee held in Washington during June and as Pennsylvania contains about 27,000 manufacturing plants and a great many commercial houses which will be vitally affected by new war revenue legislation the committee hopes to be in a position to inform the members of the chamber and the public of the salient features of the new revenue bill.

Stepladder, an Excited Woman and an Electric Fan Too Much For One Man

An eight-foot stepladder, an excited woman, an electric fan and a man figured in a "near tragedy" at the Kresge Five and Ten Cent store this morning. Alton E. Anderson, assistant manager of the store, came through the aisles with the big ladder, his purpose being to arrange a display in the big show-windows of the store. As he neared the front of the building his attention was drawn by a shopper who asked him for some information. At this moment the stepladder became tangled with the revolving fan and for a few moments the air was thick with candy, ribbon, hats and icecream cones, with a few other incidents on the floors and ceilings. Bewildered by the sudden turn of events, Anderson let go the stepladder and a shopper felt a rush of air on her cheek as the ladder fell, grazing her shoulder.
