B. AND L. ASSNS. CAN'T BUY BONDS

Under Laws of Pennsylvania They May Not Invest in Liberty Bonds; Some Did

It is understood that an opinion will be given in a day or so to Commissioner of Banking Daniel L. Lafean, by the Attorney General's Department, to the effect that building and loan associations in Pennsylvania may not invest funds in Liberty Bonds under the laws of this state. The question is one which has been under discussion at the legal department for some time and at first it was thought that such associations could make Liberty Bond investments under the act of 1917, but it is held unofficially that the statute refers only to surplus funds which building and loan associations do not have.

The building and loan associations of Pennsylvania have been big buyers of Liberty Bonds. Angus Cameron, of Pottsville, Jefferson county, to-day received a letter informing him that his services as a trustee of the Pottsville Building and Loan Association, which is the office of the guides at the State Capitol and that he should retire August 15. He places plus $1,020 and it is understood that the retirement of Cameron was ordered by the Governor's office to make room for a man named McHenry, of Pottsville, who is said to be protégé of Representative Lex N. Mitchell of Jefferson county. Cameron to-day asked Superintendent George A. Shreiner reasons for his abrupt dismissal, soldiers are protesting the Central Y. M. C. A. almost every day. The placards in the stations extend a hearty invitation to all soldiers and sailors, and every convenience and privilege of the entire association is extended to these men.

Senator S. J. Miller, of Clearfield, was at the State Capitol. The State Forestry Commission will have its monthly meeting to-morrow. Application for the merger of a number of electric companies chartered for center and adjoining counties into the State-Center Electric Company was made at the Public Services Commission to-day. The Wilkes-Barre City Lighting contract was submitted for approval at the Capitol to-day, no protests being made.

Employees of the state whose salaries are fixed by statute cannot be given increases by heads of departments or boards in the state government, according to an opinion rendered to-day by Deputy Attorney General J. L. Kun to Frank R. Shattuck, chairman of the State Board of Censors, who forwarded a petition signed by employees of the board asking for advances in pay. The board has no authority to increase any of the salaries, says Mr. Kun, who adds that while there is authority to appoint such additional employees as the work of the board requires and the board may increase the pay of such additional employees it would be unfair to the others who hold places provided by statute with salaries designated.

Bids were opened at State Highway Department for construction of sections of roads in Chester, Delaware, Montgomery, Elk, Beaver, Kean, Northampton, Somerset and Westmoreland counties and for a bridge in Fayette county. Construction Company, of Harrisburg, bid on the Chester and Delaware county work. Mayor E. W. The Commission notified the company of the com-

Soldiers of Jewish Faith to Be Entertained Here

Plans for the entertainment on Sunday of soldiers of Jewish faith, stationed at Camp Colt, Gettysburg, and at the aviation depot at Middletown, are being made on an extensive scale by the Harrisburg branch of the Jewish Welfare Board. Arrangements were made last evening at a meeting in the rooms of the Y. M. H. A.

A committee is now making preparations for the serving of a toothsome dinner—measured, however, by all war regulations—to the men at the Board of Trade hall. After completing the luncheon they will be conducted on a sightseeing tour by automobile to points of interest in this section. At the conclusion of this they will be taken to the bungalow of H. C. Claster, chairman of the board, at his cottage at Summerdale, where supper will be furnished to them. A program containing numerous social features, has been arranged. Music will be furnished by the Goldstein Orchestra.

Soldiers Make Good Use of Y. M. C. A. Hospitality

As a direct result of a sign of invitation on the walls of the Pennsylvania and Reading Railway stations, soldiers are protesting the Central Y. M. C. A. almost every day. The placards in the stations extend a hearty invitation to all soldiers and sailors, and every convenience and privilege of the entire association is extended to these men. During the past week more than a hundred enlisted and drafted men have been guests of the local association. Among these was a contingent of draftees from Johnsburg, a party of soldiers from Gettysburg and various parties from other camps.

Cool Weather Brings Out Extra Coverlets

After the intense heat of last week, Harrisburg is this week having a decidedly cool time. August was ushered in with the coolest weather prevalent for some weeks. Harrisburgers woke up this morning with more covering on their beds than they have had for a month. The cool weather set in yesterday, and practically everybody was prepared for a cool evening. The mercury dropped as low as 63. The highest temperature was 70. The mean temperature of 68 was four below the normal temperature for this time of year. But conditions will not remain this way. While it will continue cool to-day and to-night, with the lowest temperature 60 degrees for to-night, warmer weather is scheduled for to-morrow.

Harrisburg in Mind of Corporal in Letter

Although the censor has deleted a great deal of his letter, Corporal Alberts, of Company B, 103rd Ammunition Train, One Hundred and Third Regiment Train, "Somewhere in France," tells many interesting things about Harrisburg boys in a letter to David Hershey, of the Hershey House. The letter follows:

"Friend Dave:—Just a line or two to let you know that I am well and getting nearer the 'big scrap' every day. I expect that by the time you receive this letter I will have another one on the way telling you about the real thing. Of course, you know we are not allowed to say very much in our letters, so you will have to wait until I come back and I will tell you of some of the finest sights I have ever seen. There are Red Cross women in these strange French towns, ready for us with coffee, chocolate, cigars, etc. They certainly deserve credit, and even here, where I am writing, Miss Watta, who had that little store next to the Orpheum Theater, Believe me, I will tell you of some of the finest sights I have ever seen. You know he is chaplain of our regiment, and, honestly, Dave, he is one of the finest and best men I have ever seen. Captain Baldwin is also with us, but in the Second Battalion. Outside of the Second Battalion, Harrisburg is not very strong in the Ammunition Train, but we make ourselves known whenever we get the chance. The Y. M. C. A. and the Red Cross are doing a wonderful lot of good for the boys, and you see them everywhere you go, and there is always a cheery welcome there for you."

Brown & Co., 1217-1219 N. Third St. The Big Uptown Home Furnishers August Furniture Sale. In view of the present general shortage in nearly all lines of manufactured goods, it was really a serious question for some time, whether or not we should this year, hold our usual August Furniture Sale; not for the reason that we do not have a good stock of goods in our store at the present time, as we fortunately have one of the best and largest stocks we ever had, but with the prospects in the very near future of being subjected to a decreased production and further advances in prices in all our lines, it looked as though it would be the best judgment as well as probably conforming to Government methods for us not to push for the regular August Furniture business as in former years. On the other hand we as though our customers' interests also deserved our best consideration along these same lines, thereby helping them to aid the Government by a proper conservation of their own resources in a saving on their purchases. We did not want to disappoint them. Taking everything into serious consideration we finally decided that it was only proper and right that our August Sale should be held as in former years. In a few words we say, Come Here This Month for Your Home Furnishings and expect to see a first class stock of goods, priced at the most liberal reductions from our regular selling prices which cannot help but mean big savings over goods bought later in the fall season. Especially is this true when you realize that all goods coming in from now on must necessarily take higher prices than present regular prices. One more word, Buy as Early in the Month as Possible.
