Corn Product Being Used in Restaurants in Lieu of Restaurants in the city which have felt the sugar shortage since they have been unable, to secure unlimited amounts of sugar are rapidly adapting themselves to the use of substitutes. Corn sugar is one of the substitutes adopted in a local restaurant yesterday. The corn sugar, maple sugar or grape sugar may be purchased without sugar purchase certificates. At the food administration office it was said the corn sugar now in use has greater sweetening power than the ordining. The food administrator is in communication with the state food administrator to determine whether a fine shall be imposed on James Beck, 32 Chestnut street. Steelton, for hoarding sugar in excess of the amount allowed him. A search of his home revealed twenty-five pounds which had been bought for the purpose of canning and which was never used for that purpose. The sugar was confiscated and a fine may be imposed in addition.

The departure from Sofia of King Ferdinand, the arrivals at Amsterdam say, was due to the fact that two cases of typhoid had broken out in the royal palace.

of the line between Seringes and Clerges, this really is secondary to the outflanking of the Germans to the southward. The enemy is holding very strong positions at Roncheres and St. Gemme, where his line still is less than five miles from the Marne, and a continued advance between Nesles and Clerges would force him to fall back to escape being cut off from the rear.

With the American Army on the Alne-Marne Front, Aug 1.—The Franco-American forces on the main battle front continued yesterday the process of straightening out the line. They scored advances in this effort, the Americans pushing beyond Sergy to within two kilometers of Chamery, American and French troops launched an attack Wednesday afternoon from Seringes to Clerges, on the center of the Marne front, for the purpose of straightening the line and demolishing the barbed wire entanglements which the Germans have placed through to the hills, forests and open places.

they have not taken the opportunity to counterattack and attempt to retake important positions on the center, held by the Americans, and on the west flank in the hands of the French and British. This may bear out the opinion in some allied quarters that the Germans fully intend to retire to the Vesle, or beyond, as soon as their plans have been perfected and that the enemy efforts of the past three or four days have been wholly for the purpose of covering important movements.

As long as they remain south of a line running generally between Rheims and Soissons the Germans are subject to violent bombardments from the allied guns which can demoralize their communication system more or less. Many Prisoners Taken
A brief calm in the infantry fighting last week was broken by General Foch launching an attack across the Marne east of Dormans and this had a good effect on the situation to the west, where the Germans subsequently were forced out of the region of Fere-en-Tardenois. There are no indications, either official or unofficial, however, that any such olan now is under way.

On the whole the most significant straw seems to be the failure of the Germans to attack when they relaxed momentarily.

The purpose of the American and French attack which is in a north-easterly direction probably is for the purpose of outflanking the Meuniere wood and in cutting off the blunt edged salient in the line between Romingny and Clerges. This salient was made more acute by the American advance north from Cierges to Seringes.

Wire Torn Down

The allies brought into action their heavy artillery, their aviators and patrols having reported mileafter mile of barbed wire standing along the German lines. The heavy guns soon found the range of the entanglements. Some enemy infantry had dug in behind the wires, but the lines for the most part were manned by machine gunners.

The German artillery reply consisted chiefly of shells from the 77's and 105's. The machine guns with the heavier pieces indicated were active in an effort to prevent an allied advance.

The opening of the fifth year of the great war finds other sectors and other fronts—in France, Italy and Macedonia—relatively quiet. There have been artillery actions here and there, but except of the repulse of a war garden at Front and Union there, but except of the repulse of a command in infantry is inactive.

Unofficial reports received in Paris are to the effect that the German command has attempted to withdraw more troops from the eastern front. The German commander in Rumania is said to have declared it would be "unsafe" to take troops from that region at present.

British aviators again have bombed the Rhine cities of Stuttgart and Coblenz. A fire was started at Stuttgart. Important military objects in the Saar region, west of the Rhine, also have been attacked with good results.
