

FEDERATION IS VERY CONFIDENT

Claims That the Prohibition Amendment Will Be Ratified by the Legislature

In an extended statement issued at Pittsburgh last night the Dry Federation of Pennsylvania claims that the prohibition amendment will be ratified by the next Legislature.

vote, twenty-six being needed, this number being made up of nominees who are declared to be certain of election and holdovers. The Dry Federation made public the names of 192 nominees for the House whom it claims will vote to ratify and who are asserted to be sure of election.

The House is safe for ratification and that the Senate is only slightly less so. However, it is not our intention to make too much for granted.

EICHHORN MOST RUTHLESS KIEV KAISER GENERAL

Unrelenting in Starving and Plundering Ukraine For Germany's Benefit

London, Aug. 1.—The Amsterdam correspondent of The Daily Express telegraphs: "The assassination of Field Marshal von Eichhorn, while causing widespread indignation in Germany, must have occasioned little surprise among those who knew what this most ruthless of all the Kaiser's generals had done at Kiev to starve and plunder Ukraine for the benefit of Germany."

"From the very beginning Eichhorn treated the Ukrainians as slaves whose only reason for living was to see that Germany obtained enough food from the land. His first measure was to force the peasants under the most severe penalties to cultivate the land for the Germans' benefit. His last was to fix a price for corn which would enable the Germans to obtain bread more cheaply, but which would absolutely ruin the Ukraine peasants and landowners."

"The climax was reached when he had two popular members of the first 'Ukraine' government arrested and sentenced to various terms of imprisonment for plotting against Germany. The sentence of the German field tribunal last week caused general indignation."

Journalists Sound Warning "Germany will see to it that Eichhorn's murderer is punished at once, but the matter will not rest there. German journalists who traveled through Ukraine recently all returned to Berlin sounding the note of warning that the Germans were hated there than anywhere in the world. The fact that Eichhorn's assassin is a Russian and not a Ukrainian is significant. It is probably cause Germany to seek a quarrel, not so much with the Skoropadski government at Kiev, which is German through and through, only moving at the German ambassador's beck and call, but with the Moscow government, which is unable to discover Ambassador Mirbach's murderers."

There are many who think that Germany may await the opportunity of breaking with the Bolsheviks now that their power is waning. The newspapers are full of more insistent about the punishment of Mirbach's murderers. A semi-official note published yesterday by the foreign office accused the Bolshevik envoys now visiting Berlin of the object of "completing" the Brest-Litovsk treaty of doing everything to destroy that treaty, and hinted plainly that Germany's patience was being sorely tried by the Bolsheviks.

A few days will show whether the assassination of Eichhorn will serve as a pretext for a rupture with the Bolsheviks, or whether Hindenburg and Hertling will await the assassination of the Kaiser's next envoy to Russia.
