Return From Annual Outing Near Loysville; 34 Scouts Were on the Trip

The eight days spent in the annual camp of Troop 7 have gone, but the memories and recollections of its pleasant times will linger in the minds of the thirty-four scouts who were privileged to enjoy it. The troop arrived home on Saturday evening from Camp Harris, about two miles west of Loysville, in good spirits.

The natural surroundings added much to the pleasure of the trip, with the beautiful country, with its many hills and scenery, on the trip to and from the camp. For the past few years it has been the pleasure of Thomas Bogar to transport the scouts to and from camp, and in his travels he always has some camp site in view for the coming year. He remembers that he was a boy who always liked to go to a new section of country, so for this reason every scout of Troop 7 has a warm heart for Mr. Bogar.

The camp this year was ideal for many reasons, the country and its surroundings, and the manner in which the boys were received and treated by the people of the locality. The "cater" of the camp was prepared by Mr. Evans, and preparations and economy were his main points.

Play Baseball

Two games of baseball were played with the big boys of the surrounding towns on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, with many roots to encourage the players.

The Rev. Mr. Taxis, pastor of the Harris Street United Evangelical Church, spent several days in camp. Mr. Schaum, former assistant scoutmaster, was welcomed by the scouts. Visitors' day on Thursday was a lively day for the scouts. The big distance did not keep them away. About eight automobiles came from Harrisburg, loaded to their full capacity. About forty-five extra meals were served to the visitors, who showed their appreciation by bringing watermelons, ice cream, lollipops and cakes. Even the campfires contained visitors, who wanted to know how the scouts spent their leisure time.

Thursday morning almost the entire troop visited the Tressler Orphan's Home. They found many interesting things about the well-managed institution.

The scouts returned by narrow-gauge railroad to Fort Robison, which was an Indian fort years ago. Friday many tests were given by the scoutmaster and his assistants. Trailing and scout pace were the most interesting.

Six second class scouts took a fourteen-mile hike to prepare for first class. The great variety of the plants and natural scenery made the trip full of interest.

All scouts are requested to be on hand to-night at 7 o'clock. Thrift Stamp honors and other important business.

RED CROSS WORK IN FRANCE WIDE WAY TO AID WAR

Special Attention Given Children With View of Decreasing Infant Mortality

The American Red Cross through the varied activities of its Civil Affairs Department in France last month reached 412,566 civilians, according to a cable report just received from Harvey D. Gibson, American Red Cross Commissioner in France. Seventeen delegates gave special relief in eleven departments of France in the war zone, and ninety-two delegates and associates rendered service to refugees in seventy departments throughout the country. The work on the medical side has been specially prominent in June. Seventeen civilian hospitals, including a new hospital for mutilated soldiers, were opened during the month with a total capacity of 1,938 beds. Sixty-one dispensaries were established where 45,028 children, tubercular or refugee were cared for. Medical direction was also supplied three institutions where 1,500 children have been assembled from the war zone, and 4,287 articles of hospital equipment and supplies were distributed.

Special attention is being given to the children of France, particularly with a view to decreasing infant mortality. As part of this work a campaign for the education of mothers in the care of infants has been inaugurated and many child welfare exhibits have been held. A baby saving exhibit at Marseilles, last month, was attended by 32,231. Red Cross medical authorities also demand it advisable to supply additional nourishment to the school children of Paris and last month 32,000 school children received supplementary food from the American Red Cross at school lunches.

The Emergency Refugee Relief Committee aided 45,000 refugees passing through Paris from May 27 to June 30.

HOW IS YOUR BOY FED AND CLOTHED?

War Department Permits Detailed Description of Army's Pastry and Wardrobe

German agents have industriously circulated stories about the feeding and clothing of America's great new army. Such stories are intended to sap our morale. It has been difficult for patriotic Americans to combat them because heretofore the real facts have never been given to the public. The War Department has been too busy working to spend much time on explanations.

Now, for the first time, the whole story is ready to be told. The country will learn just how much truth there was to last winter's skulking rumors.

Supplied with all the facts by the War Department, William Atherton du Puy is writing an article that will tell all about the feeding and clothing of our troops. It is a story that every American with friend or relative in khaki will want to read. No phase of our tremendous war preparations is more amazing than this account of the work of the quartermaster corps. It will appear exclusively in the Philadelphia Public Ledger next Sunday. The only way to be sure of obtaining your copy is to reserve it in advance from M. Forney, Harrisburg News Agency, or E. Hoffman.

June 30. To these and other refugees, as well as the needy of France, were distributed goods, as follows: 296,710 garments, 66,647 pairs of shoes, 17,222 articles of furniture, 60,078 articles of bedding and household linen, 35,989 yards of cloth and 668,672 pounds of food.
