The Plotters

A New Serial of East and West By Virginia Terhune Van de Water

As soon as Elizabeth Wade had uttered her thoughtless remark, she knew she had made a mistake.

Perhaps she felt the form at her side start slightly. Perhaps his silence warned her that something was amiss.

"What had she said? Oh, yes, that she had no sister!

An awful thought struck her. Did the real Lizzie Moore have a sister, and, if so, did Clifford Chapin know it?

Then she recalled with a throb of relief that he had spoken several times of knowing nothing of his Pennsylvania relatives. Yet he had also said that he remembered seeing little Lizzie Moore when she was a small girl with pig-tails.

Elizabeth tried to quiet the beating of her heart by the reflection that no harm could have been done. She must have imagined that her retort had not made any unusual impression upon Clifford Chapin. If it had he would have replied to it.

To test him she asked idly: "Did you ever wish you had a sister?"

"No," he replied promptly, and his manner was so natural that she felt immediately reassured. "I never wished for either a brother or a sister. I like the parental spotlight to be turned full upon me all the time. Don't I, mother?"

Mrs. Chapin leaned forward as he repeated his question. As usual she smiled at what she considered her son's witticism.

"Now, Clifford, dear," she said, "you always talk as if you was Elizabeth, but you're not—a mite."

Then she began to regale Elizabeth with a description of some of her boy's unselfish acts, and the girl, pretending to listen, smiled sympathetically.

The subject of these eulogiums had "I Feel Like a Live Wire" Says Wagner

"I was so near down and out that it took all of my will power to keep it my work," says John Wagner, of Oberlin, Pa. "I was being dragged down fast by indigestion and rheumatism."

"I knew if I didn't do something quick I'd go down and out. I read a lot about Tanlac in the papers, so I made up my mind to try it and see what it would do."

"It fixed me up O. K. in no time at all and now I feel like a live wire again. Plenty of ambish, plenty of pep, altogether in fine shape."

Tanlac is now being introduced here at Gorgas' Drug Store.

MAKING THE MOST OF OUR CHILDREN

A Series of Plain Talks to Parents

By Ray C. Beery, A.B., M.A. President of the Parents Association.

THE old adage "Spare the Rod and Spoil the Child" was easy to follow. It made child training easy to many parents a generation ago.

To-day there is no such simple rule for bringing up children. Many parents are bewildered by the conflict between several varying theories of education that are "in the air."

Not all methods are good, and certainly a combination of all methods, a sort of pot-pourri of educational methods, is anything but good.

Imagine, for instance, a mother's saying that in her attempt to cure her boy of lying she had tried scolding the boy, reasoning with him, denying him privileges, being kind to him, threatening him and even whipping him—all to no avail.

"I have a boy of ten," writes one mother, "who cannot speak the truth. He will take things and with the most innocent look tell you he knows nothing about it."

Corporal punishment is used rather freely in most of these "Homes."

The boys, who are not always super-vised in the way that they should be, get into mischief and in order to avoid the usual consequences, they very naturally falsify.

To overcome this habit, it is necessary to map out a positive course

Corn on the Cob

"Corn on the cob" is a welcome phrase to most of us. Yet there are other delightful ways of preparing it.

Baked Corn—1 cup cooked corn cut from cob, 1 beaten egg, 1 cup milk, salt and pepper, 1 chopped green pepper.

Corn Soup—3 ears cooked corn, 2 cups thin white sauce, 3 cups cold water, slice of onion, 1 egg, 1/2 teaspoonful salt, a little celery or celery salt.

Corn Oysters—Grate raw corn from cob. To one cup pulp add one well-beaten egg, one-fourth cup corn flour, and season highly with salt and pepper. Drop by spoonfuls and cook on spoon, leaving hulls on the cob. Set

Perfect Health Is Yours If the Blood Is Kept Pure

Almost Every Human Ailment Is Directly Traceable to Impurities in the Blood.

You cannot overestimate the importance of keeping the blood free of impurities. When you realize that the heart is constantly pumping this vital fluid to all parts of the body, you can easily see that any impurity in the blood will cause serious complications.

Any slight disorder or impurity that creeps into the blood is a source of danger, for every vital organ of the body depends upon the blood supply to properly perform its functions.

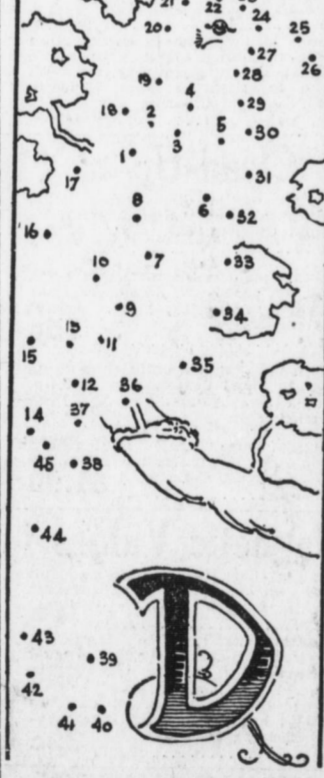

Many painful and dangerous diseases are the direct result of a bad condition of the blood. Among the most serious are Rheumatism, with its torturing pains; Catarrh, often a forerunner of dread consumptions; Scrofula, Eczema, Tetter, Erysipelas and other disfiguring skin diseases; Malaria, which makes the strongest men helpless, and many other diseases are the direct result of impure blood.

You can easily avoid all of these diseases, and rid the system of them, by the use of S. S. S., the wonderful blood remedy that has been in constant use for more than fifty years. S. S. S. cleanses the blood thoroughly, and routs every vestige of impurity. It is sold by druggists everywhere.

Daily Dot Puzzle

"D" is for dove. There's nothing to do. For a bird whose one note is a soft tender coo.

Draw one to two and so on to the end.

Sugar Honor

Sugar and the war have combined forces to put the non-combatant Americans to a big test. They are going to reveal those who are without honor.

This is America's war, and America's wars are not won alone by the soldiers in the field. They are won by every American standing firmly and honorably behind the men at the front.

The grocer does not think you are dishonest when he asks you to sign a certificate saying that you will use your sugar for canning purposes, any more than the public thinks a government official disloyal when it asks him to sign and oath of office.

Sugar must be saved, and each one of us is honor bound to save it to the utmost.

Advice to the Lovelorn BY BEATRICE FAIRFAX

NO GREAT DIFFERENCE IN AGE DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I am married to a man 44 years old and am 24, and he is a very good man; but every time I happen to meet any of my friends they all tell me that I have made a very bad mistake by marrying a man so much older.

The people you refer to are making comments on the difference between your age and your husband's ages are not friends, but meddling busybodies who are, doubtless, jealous that you are both so happy.

The difference you mention is not too great. Some of the happiest marriages in the world are where there is even a greater difference.

Luncheon For Busy Monday

When the kitchen is all in a turmoil with other kinds of work, the noon day meal is difficult to prepare and is quite often slighted.

One dish that can be put in the oven out of the way and that will serve several when ready is a boon to the housekeeper. The United States Food Administration suggests the following simple menu:

Menu—Creamed fish, corn bread, honey, Lemonade.

Creamed fish—1 cup white sauce, bit of Bay Leaf, sprig of parsley, 1/4 slice onion, 1 1/2 cups cold flaked fish, salt and pepper, cracker crumbs, butter or butter substitute.

Scald the milk for making the white sauce with Bay Leaf, parsley and onion. Cover the bottom of an oiled baking dish with 1/4 of the fish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and pour over one half the sauce. Repeat. Cover with the cracker crumbs and dots of butter or butter substitute.

"It's Up To You Whether You Suffer With Kidney and Stomach Trouble," Says John Parmer.

"I had kidney and stomach trouble so bad that I had to give up my position at the Lancaster foundry," says John Parmer, of New Holland, Route 1, Lancaster Co., Pa., "and so to the country. The suffering I went through was terrible indeed. The pains I had at times were most terrifying. Tonall was recommended to me so highly that I thought as a last resort I would try it. I am working now every day on a farm and the pains in my back have left me. I am gaining in strength and feel like a different man. My appetite is good and I enjoy my meals and am gaining in weight. I feel it is my duty to recommend Tonall for it has done wonders for me."

The above testimonial was given June 14, 1918.

Tonall is for sale at Gorgas' Drug Store, Harrisburg, and Hershey's Drug Store, Hershey.
