PLAN CHANGES AT DEPOT STATIONS

Changes in plans for placing stations near the Government depots are now under consideration by Pennsylvania Railroad officials. That at Marsh Run may be moved north several hundred yards. The station at the Ordnance Depot may be located at or near White House Lane.

Material for this station was delivered some weeks ago, but was removed this week to the storage yards at Marletta, where it will be held for further orders. It is said the plan is to close up the Jednota entrance entirely, after the soldiers are in charge, and to have the main entrance at White House Lane.

New Roads at Ordnance Roads now being built on the Ordnance field indicate that this plan is likely to be carried out. Some time ago the Pennsylvania Railroad strengthened the piers of the bridge crossing the tracks at White House Lane in order that heavy loads could be hauled over the bridge.

The Government had had option on land at this point and the railroad officials say it is a more desirable place for a station, as it is in close proximity to the barracks. It is also said that a station at Jednota and one at Aviation field would make a short run between stops, and would interfere with yard shifting for the big depots.

Superintendent Johnson Makes Personal Appeal

Superintendent J. C. Johnson, of the Middle Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, has issued a personal appeal to the employees of the division, urging them to adopt the slogan "Move Cars" to help win the war. The appeal of the superintendent follows: "This notice is a personal appeal to every employee on the Middle Division to do everything possible to keep the cars moving.

"Keep in your mind that at this crucial time fifteen minutes avoidable detention to any car, loaded or empty, is a crime.

"Failure to load or unload cars promptly.

"Detention to trains.

"Failure to keep engines moving through yards and enginehouses promptly.

"Failure to move cars promptly after loaded or unloaded, and failure to repair shop cars, loaded or empty, promptly—all tend to cause detention to any car.

"Every little thing we can do helps to move cars.

"The slogan now is 'Move Cars.' Don't forget, fifteen minutes detention to any car is a crime."
