'Farmer's Life For Me,' Says the Heavyweight Champion, Jess Willard

It was the best ride I've had for years. We went to the park and listened to the band and took the kids riding on the miniature train...

Lawrence Kida Knows Jess. In Lawrence proper Willard is a lion, a pugilist, good fellow, and a farmer...

Cuts His Way Into Shoes. 'I always try to keep out of arguments, keep cool, and just live. I might get sore, and I might want to hit some one if I argued...

Invests in Two Photographs. To a host of visitors Willard and his wife opened their eyes to the camera drop in more to see than to talk...

Jess Goes Milking. Later five pairs of tiny feet clatter down the uncarpeted stairs and the lady is started for the Willard family...

It is the usual farmer's day, with Jess ambling to the barn with his two shiny milk pails...

What Jess Thinks of Scribes. In a single breath he dismissed sporting editors who have criticized him all, too harshly.

And that was the fight as far as Willard was concerned. But when it came to farming the pugilist was enthusiastic.

'You know, I haven't been on a place like this for years. It's just like old Pottawatomie county, where I used to work Chicago's Shuckles!

Acts the Born Farmer. And then when Jess took a ramble over the pasture any one could tell that he was a farmer.

As Jess was returning the house he spoke of the pleasures of a farm after weeks and months on the farm...

LABOR PUZZLE SOLVED, STATE BOARD ASSERTS

Thirty Thousand Men Placed in War Industries Monthly. Washington, Aug. 22.—The Pennsylvania State Council of National Defense, in a report to the National Council yesterday, asserted that in co-operation with the Department of Labor, it has solved the "complex labor problems" in Pennsylvania.

Most of the places which have been named in recent cable dispatches from the western front belong to Artois, Picardy, and the Ile de France, and so possess local characteristics not common in the rest of France.

French is an unaccented language, but the rising inflection given to the last syllable of words often gives the foreign ear the illusion of accent or stress.
