Cleaning up business affairs of the playgrounds for this season and discussion of next summer's work will be the principal activities at the meeting of the Parks and Playgrounds Commission to be held in the Council chamber on Friday evening. Members to-day would not say whether or not there would be any new equipment added next year.

Next year's activities will depend largely on the developments at the meeting, members said. Equipment at the various grounds is being collected and stored under the direction of Supervisor Confer. This work will be completed some time this week.

RAILROAD NOTES

Edwin Hess, freight brakeman on the Pennsy, was fatally injured at Sunbury. He was 33 years of age.
The huckleberry season near Hazleton has kept Reading freight men busy. To date 123 carloads were shipped to eastern points. This makes a total of 7,699,200 quarts.
Railroads have been instructed by the Railroad Administration to cut down the supply of open-top cars for stone, sand and gravel producers as a mean of increasing the cars available for coal movement. The roads were cautioned, however, against interfering with the movement of raw materials for blast furnace and foundry operations.
Owing to insurmountable difficulties there will be no effort made to combine the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Reading Railway passenger stations in Lancaster.
Philip J. Doherty, superintendent of the property protection of the United States Railroad Administration, reports that during the past year $15,000,000 worth of goods have been stolen from the railroads. The larger portion of goods were for government use.

Folk Dancing Rehearsal

at Reservoir Park A final practice for folk dancing, open to children from all playgrounds, will be held this evening at 7 o'clock at Reservoir Park.

Miss Lillian Kamsky, folk dancing teacher, will be there to-night to instruct the children at the last rehearsal before Romber Day and a small orchestra, with Harry E. Hammond as director, will furnish the music.

Members of all playgrounds are invited to come and the Reservoir playground members are urged to attend.
