GIRL TAKES PLACE LEFT BY BROTHER WHO ENTERS ARMY

Miss Margaret Wilson Becomes Secretary and Treasurer of Quarry to Release Fighting Man For Uncle Sam; Worked For Red Cross

Anxious to give her efforts to aid in bringing to justice the power-mad H. Zollner clan, Miss Margaret Wilson, 21 South Twenty-first street, replacing her brother who is now in military service, has entered on the arduous duties connected with the secretary-treasurership of Hoffman Brothers and Wilson, quarrymen who are supplying most of their product to war industries.

MISS MARGARET WILSON

Miss Wilson is exceedingly modest when she speaks about her efforts. "Anyone could do what I am doing," she says. "But the money is not so abundant as it is in the Red Cross."

Miss Wilson had been engaged as stenographer at the offices of the Harrisburg Chapter, American Red Cross, when her brother called her into service. That her position at the headquarters could be more easily filled than could the quarry position, she quickly discovered.

Lawless Gangs Rob London as 22,000 Constables, Entire Police Force, Go on Strike

London, Aug. 31.—Considerable lawlessness marked the first night passed by London without police protection. During the earlier hours of the morning there were some harmless demonstrations, but later on the thieves became active and daylight found a number of windows of jewellers' shops and other places of business broken and considerable property stolen.

This was particularly true in such centers as the Strand, Aldgate and other busy streets, which usually are so well guarded that shopkeepers leave their goods on view during the night. Some of these places were entirely without civilian police protection. At least 22,000 constables having joined the strikers.

There were a few military police about, including Americans, but they devoted their attention entirely to their own men, and even if they had tried, would not have been able to cope with the thieves, who generally worked in squads.
