

TRACTORS TO GO ON PARADE SOON

Big Demonstration Will Be Given Near New Cumberland During the Month

What State Department of Agriculture officials declare will be the greatest demonstration of tractors ever held in Pennsylvania will be given in the interest of the "seven per cent. increase in Pennsylvania wheat acreage" on one of the United States Army quartermaster fields near New Cumberland September 19 to 22. Thirty tractors will be assembled and a 250-acre field will be plowed and sown with wheat.

The War Department officials have arranged to allow the field to remain in wheat as the tract is not needed for the construction plan for the big depot in the upper end of York county and experts from the National and State Departments of Agriculture will use it for experimental purposes. The plans for the demonstration have been worked out with assistance of men from Washington and the state authorities will have charge. The tractors will plow, disc, pulverize and drill.

The demonstration will be the first conducted by the State and National Governments.

Many Complaints.—Over a score of complaints against increases of fares by street railway companies of the state are listed for hearing during the fall by the Public Service Commission, almost every announcement of an advance being followed by complaints. The street railway litigation pending before the Commission is the most extensive since the establishment of the department and inquiries of wide extent are probable.

Get Men Ready.—Some of the local draft boards of Pennsylvania have begun to get ready their registrants of the August 24 class for the October calls before being scheduled to report for training this week have departed. Special pleas have been sent out by state draft headquarters for the speedy examination and classification of the new registrants, especially as there are calls out for over 600 men to be sent to colleges for mechanical training. Reports coming here tell of boards being prepared to handle the big registration on September 12 and that in many communities there will be suspensions of industries and business, as the occasion will be more far-reaching than that of June, 1917. The movements to Camps Dix, Sherman, Forrest, Meade and Greenleaf, comprising over 15,000 men, of whom 8,000 are going to Greenleaf, started to-day and will continue until Friday night. Every one of the 282 districts in the state is affected.

On a Vacation.—Mr. Joseph Kauffman, Secretary of the Game Commission, is on a brief vacation in the northern tier.

Spangler Named.—Charles Spangler, prominent resident of Allentown, has been appointed county superintendent of volunteer police for Lehigh. No announcement of the appointment was made at the Capitol.

Reed Bird Shooting.—Shooting of red birds has been started in eastern counties under the provisions of the game code, although there is a federal law against it. State authorities will not interfere with the shooting.

Dr. Becht Spoke.—Dr. J. George Becht, Secretary of the State Board of Education, was the orator of the day at the dedication of the handsome new school at Lehighist yesterday.

Elks Break Loose.—Residents of White Haven have sent word here that a herd of elk, supposed to be from one of the state preserves, invaded that neighborhood. Efforts to round them up are being made.

Attending Fair.—Representatives of the State Department of Agriculture have gone to Philadelphia to attend the annual fair at Byberry at which the state will present what it is doing in the way of suppression of pests.

Moyer Breaks Loose.—J. W. Moyer, a Pottsville attorney, has demanded that state highway officials be indicted because of conditions of certain road improvements in his county. There has been more or less trouble in that county for years because of the state highways and a favorite diversion in the Bigelow days seemed to be to indict the commissioner. Mr. O'Neil is now the commissioner.

More Paralysis.—Additional cases of infantile paralysis have been reported from Altoona. State inspectors are looking into the situation.

DROWNS WHEN CANOE UPSETS

Father of Five Children Dies in River; First Time in Craft

George W. Green, 253 Sasfras street, drowned about 8:30 o'clock last night in the river opposite South street, when the canoe which he had hired from Dintaman's boathouse a few minutes before, capsized in the middle of the river. Volunteer searchers found the body about 10 o'clock.

Green was employed as a brakeman in the Rutherford yards. He is the father of five children, ranging in ages from four to fourteen years. George Porter, of Shippensburg, the drowned man's brother-in-law, was with him. Each man hired a canoe, and after they had reached a point about 200 yards above the Walnut street bridge in the middle of the river, found themselves separated by about fifty feet. It was while maneuvering to bring their canoes together that Green capsized. Porter, after much difficulty, managed to reach the side of the capsized canoe, and catch Green's shirt as he arose the third time. His clutch was not strong enough, however, and Green sank again. Porter's cries attracted other canoeists, and an alarm was raised. The Hope Fire No. 2 crew responded and in ten minutes a searchlight was playing on the water. The body was rushed to the Harrisburg hospital when it was found, but it was found too late to save his life.

Both men were novices, it is said, and neither one could swim. It was the first time Greene had ever been in a canoe.

"But don't you chaps get sticking out your chests and going around thinking America is doing it all. I want to tell you here and now that what is being done by this tiny little island is wonderful. The British fleet is protecting us and supporting us and getting us to the front."

Rubber Compound
Rubber compound is an automobile tire protector. If used as directed, having been tested by a wide use, more or less upon the road, the manufacturer feels confident that a wide knowledge of its merits will largely increase its demands. The facts of good results, in prolonging the life of the tire by increased toughness of the fiber of the rubber, adds many miles of life to the tire, which materially reduces the cost of the improved rubber tire. It is a valuable consideration to the owner of the automobile. It applies to the solid truck tires also with the same good results. It will preserve and keep leather, curtains and top of the automobile and can be used with good results on the body and wheels of the same.
