Mr. Orr has been identified with this busipany D, at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana. They enlisted June 20, 1917.

News from this same camp tells of Arden C. Kochenderfer, 331 Locust street, Steelton, who is serving as operating engineer in Company B, 5th M. P. Battalion. He is the son of John B. Kochenderfer, of the same address, and in his recent letters speaks of the splendid treatment the soldiers receive in this camp and how all hands have come to be fond of Army life.

The family of Joseph E. Kaberle in Mechanicsburg have had word that he has safely arrived in France along with the rest of the first class musicians in the 68th Regimental Band. He enlisted at Harrisburg, March, 1917, after which he was sent to Fort H. G. Wright, then to Fort Terry and thence abroad. He was employed at the Pipe and Pipe Bending Works.

After a very brief furlough at his home in New Cumberland, Lieutenant J. H. R. Seitz has returned to Camp Perry, Ohio, Previous to joining the colors the lieutenant was employed by the Pennsylvania railroad.

Central Pennsylvania Is to Get More Anthracite For Homes and Industries

Harrisburg's allotment for anthranite coal for the coming winter has seen increased more than 40,000 tons by the Anthracite Committee of the inited States Fuel Administration.
There is little likelihood that with his increase in the amount of fuel or war workers there will be any erious shortage of coal in the city.
Towns and boroughs in this vicinity

for war workers there will be any serious shortage of coal in the city. Towns and boroughs in this vicinity also were granted increases over the allotment of last winter. The anthracite committee in making the distribution of coal for the state has so far given no hard coal allotment for the city of Pittsburgh, owing to its proximity to the bituminous coal fields of the state. The hard coal allotment for the entire state this winter has been increased 18 per cent. over that of last year.

The allotments as announced by the committee show that Harrisburg is to get 163,214 tons against 119,629 of last year. Other towns in this vicinity follow: Bethlehem, 151,200 against 115,419; Duncannon, 5,100 against 115,419; Duncannon, 5,100 against 115,419; Duncannon, 5,100 against 2,836; Steelton, 29,144 against 2,836; Steelton, 29,144 against 2,836; Steelton, 29,144 against 2,836; Steelton, 21,47; Berwich 15,000 against 112,050; Reading, 240,000 against 112,050; Reading, 240,000 against 209,569; York, 100,000 against 8,225.

The anthracite committee has also seen to it that every made require-against 209,509; York, 100,000 against 84,225.

The anthracite committee has also seen to it that every made requirement for hard coal within the state is recognized and supplied. From the big manufacturing plants, working on war contracts, shipyards, iron and steel plants down to chocolate making there has been increased demand for anthracite for the needs of the workmen and their families. The general state allotment this year is more than 8,000,000 tons.

Industrial Committee Begins Its War Work

With the avowed purpose of mobilizing the manufacturing resources of the section, members of the committee of Harrisburg Subregion No. 5, of the Fhiladelphia District of the Resources and Conversion Section of the War Industries Board, held their first meeting last evening at the Harrisburg Subregion, including Dauphin, Snyder, Mifflin, Juniata, Perry, Comerland, York, Adams and Lebanon county, Joseph H. Wallazz, Harrisburg, will have charge of Lower Dauphin and all of Perry counties; Warren G. Light, of Lebanon, will handle Lebanon county; Joseph H. Findley, of York, York and Adams counties; Guy Carlton Lee, Carlisle, will manage Cumberland county; S. Shunkwiler, of Lewistown, will handle Snyder and Mifflin counties, and Jacob M. Miller will take care of the affairs of Upper Dauphin and Juniata counties.

Warren R. Jacken is secretary of the committee.
