

Official War Communique Needs to Be Livened Up

London, Sept. 10.—Will not America set the example and live up to official communique, asks the Manchester Guardian.

Recent Australian success which left the Germans "still wondering just what was happening" and congratulates the writer on his information.

It is perhaps too much," the paper continues, "to hope that we shall learn of an American success in the information that our allies handed the Prussian guard a horrid jolt or that their attack was preface with guage is concerned, a dismal disappointment and have conformed to the unilluminating style of the British official.

Contact With Light Switch Leads to Death

Hazleton, Sept. 10.—Mrs. W. E. Smith, wife of a Hazleton business man, died of heart trouble believed to have been brought on by contact with an electric light switch while in the bath room at her home preparing to proceed to the railroad station to meet her mother, coming on a visit from Scranton.

Arrest Seven in Courtroom at Trial of Eugene V. Debs

Cleveland, O., Sept. 10.—The speed with which a jury was selected and the arrest of seven persons in the courtroom for applauding the peroration of the opening statement of Seymour Stedman, attorney for the defense, were features of the opening session of the trial of Eugene Victor Debs yesterday on five counts of an indictment charging violation of the espionage act.
