EXCELLENT BILL AT MAJESTIC

"In the Dark" Is Headliner Supported by Other ' Good Acts

"In the Dark," a melodramatic sketch with a comedy climax, was the headline act of an excellent bill presented at the Majestic theater last night. Music of a high order and entertainment highly appreciated by a sympathetic audience, made up a mighty good bill.

A Kitchen Hero—A motion picture comedy that would be better appreciated if the operator would know how to run his machine. The subtitles are flashed on and off before the spectator has any opportunity to read them.

Coleman's Musical Manikins—An out-of-the-ordinary act with ventriloquism predominant. Two manikins play musical instruments and sing in a way that mystifies the audience greatly.

Moore and Hicks—Tom Moore and the Hicks sisters are a delightful trio of good entertainers appearing in a skit called "The Dream Girl." Good jokes and songs are features of the act.

The Valdares—Two dashing maids and a comedian present a singing, and comedy cycling act which contains many of the usual cycling stunts. There is a dare-devil ride on a single wheel down a long chutte as the climax to the act. Many of the audience stuck to their seats to the finish.—R
